MAGIC MILLIONS

Henry Field and Newgate bid to land another top vendor title at Magic Millions

By Trevor Marshallsea

With a sparkling draft highlighted by an Extreme Choice (Not A Single Doubt)-I Am A Star (I Am Invincible) filly and the first foal out of outstanding New Zealand mare Play That Song (Showcasing), Magic Millions kings Newgate Farm have high hopes of extending their streak at what they expect to be a headline-making Gold Coast Yearling Sale.

Newgate gained emphatic affirmation when they became leading vendor by aggregate at the sale in 2022, just 12 years after the farm was founded by Henry Field.

Since then they've kept their roll going to claim four such titles in succession, last year making it a one act affair by selling 53 lots for a gross of $18.58 million - more than $3.8 million more than second-best Segenhoe. Newgate also came in seventh by average, for 12 or more lots sold, with their draft the largest in the top seven by at least 19 lots.

At present, after four withdrawals, the Hunter Valley farm has a slightly more compact 47 yearlings on offer for this year's auction, equal-fourth with Gerry Harvey's Baramul Stud behind Yulong (69), Widden (65) and Arrowfield (52).

Standish Handicap next for Hedged

The Gavin Bedggood-trained Hedged (Capitalist) will chase back-to-back stakes wins when he lines up in Saturday's Standish Handicap (Gr 3, 1200m) at Flemington. The five-year-old gelding secured the first black-type win of his career when dominating proceedings in the Christmas Stakes (Listed, 1200m) at Sandown-Lakeside on Boxing Day, and Bedggood is hopeful that form can continue in this weekend's Group 3 event. "We sent him down the beach post-Cranbourne for a week and he thrived off that," Bedggood said. "We've just tried to replicate that. Monday morning [after Sandown] he got on the float and he came home on Friday.

Yulong has produced a major surge towards this year's edition of the sale season launcher, having sold just 23 lots at the Gold Coast last year - equal to just one third of their draft this year.

Still, Field is confident Newgate will at least be among the top few grossing vendors again at the earliest auction of the year, one to which he feels his farm is particularly well suited.

"We'll be right in the mix, I can say that," Field told ANZ News before boarding a flight to the Coast on Monday.

"It's a sale we think suits us. We've got a very fast precocious mare band and it's a sale we always enjoy trying to do well at and excel at.

"We've got a really good draft this year - we're very proud of them. We've been leading vendor the last few years, and hopefully we can achieve that again this year. We'll be trying our hardest, that's for sure.

"Our draft this year is very comparable to last year. It's a very good group of horses, and we're certainly very excited about the quality of stock we've got on offer."

Last year's Gold Coast sale came in slightly softer than previous editions, with its Book 1 average of $269,000 down from 2024's $276,000, which in turn was a decline from 2023's $291,000.

That 2025 data, and soft results a couple of weeks later at Karaka, sent jitters through the breeding industry of a downbeat auction season ahead - worries that largely didn't come to fruition.

Field believes this year's Gold Coast sale may be "patchy", but with huge results expected from its many highlight lots.

These include Segenhoe Stud's full-brother to dual Group 1-winning sprinter

In Secret (I Am Invincible), Widden Stud's full-brother to triple elite winner - and now a stakes producer herself - Sunlight (Zoustar), and Newgate's own Extreme Choice-I Am A Star filly.

However, Field expects buyers to have an advantage at the lower end of the market.

"I think the sale will be strong. There'll be huge amounts of quality," he said. "But I think there'll be patches in the market. Continued on page 4 “I’d say we’d be slightly nervous about horses under the $250,000 bracket, but certainly very bullish about the market above that figure. Or put another way, we’d be a bit nervous about horses selling under the sale average, and very bullish about those selling above the sale average.

“I think under the sale average, it’ll be buyers’ advantage, but I think the top end will be off the charts.”

Time will tell if that means a threat to the sale’s record price, set only last year, of $3.2 million for Coolmore Stud’s filly by first-season sire Home Affairs (I Am Invincible) out of Sunlight. Bought by Japanese trainer Mitsumasa Nakauchida, she’s now known as Lia La La and is awaiting her first start.

A slightly condensed catalogue could also help boost the sale’s average, with 1,221 yearlings entered in total, down from 1,401 last January. That includes 980 lots in Book 1 - down from 1021 - with 241 in Book 2, compared to 380 in 2025.

Newgate is buzzing about their standout yearlings for this year’s sale, which begins next Tuesday.

Bred by Newgate partner Matthew Sandblom, Lot 362 is the aforementioned fifth foal of I Am A Star, the nine-time stakes winner including of the VRC Myer Classic (Gr 1, 1600m).

The filly’s sire, Newgate’s sub-fertile

WE’VE GOT A REALLY GOOD DRAFT THIS YEAR - WE’RE VERY PROUD OF THEM. WE’VE BEEN LEADING VENDOR THE LAST FEW YEARS, AND HOPEFULLY WE CAN ACHIEVE THAT AGAIN THIS YEAR. WE’LL BE TRYING OUR HARDEST, THAT’S FOR SURE sensation Extreme Choice, continues to post astounding results, with 17 stakes winners from just 143 runners at 11.88 per cent. His six top-tier victors range from the Melbourne Cup (Gr 1, 3200m) winner Knight’s Choice to Blue Diamond Stakes (Gr 1, 1200m) hero Devil Night, and include Michael Freedman’s filly sensation of last spring, Apocalyptic.

I Am A Star’s two winners from three runners include Lot 362’s full-sister, Kia Ora Stud’s blistering Esha, who won her first two starts by a combined 6.94 lengths before going into the Moir Stakes (Gr 1, 1000m) as a three-year-old, where she led before running a 2.59-length eighth of 14, at $6.50.

“She’s a really good filly,” Field said of Lot 362. “She’s a full-sister to Esha, who’s one of the fastest fillies in Melbourne and led them up in the Moir.

“This filly is very much the stamp of her mother. She’s fast-looking and very fast twitch, so I’m hoping she’ll be early and sharp. She’s neat, just like her mother and Esha, but she’s as good a foal as the mare’s had, so we’re hoping she’ll sell really well.”

Field also has high expectations for Lot 680, the farm’s own colt by the late, great Snitzel (Redoute’s Choice) who’s the first foal of Play That Song (Showcasing), the dual stakes winner who was New Zealand’s leading 2YO Filly on the 2019-20 International Ratings.

“He’s a beauty. He’ll be one of the absolute standouts of the sale,” Field said. “He’s by a champion sire out of a champion two-year-old filly, and a great first foal. He’s a real gun colt, and I think he’ll be one of the best on the complex.”

Newgate will sell for Ridgmont Farm Lot 938, a colt by Darley’s champion Australian first and second season sire Too Darn Hot (Dubawi). The colt is the first foal out of winning Queensland mare Utah Nash (Spirit Of Boom), who’s from the same family as Group 1 victors A Touch Of Ruby (Pins), Loire (Redoute’s Choice) and Vouvray (Zabeel), the granddam of 2023-24 Horse of the

Year Pride Of Jenni (Pride Of Dubai).

“He’s a very good type, with more size and scope than your average Too Darn Hot,” Field said. “He’s a high quality individual that I think will be very well received.”

If that colt is not your typical Too Darn Hot, Newgate’s Lot 545 is, similarly, not a standard Frankel (Galileo).

Bred by Victoria’s Morningside Stud and associates, he’s the first foal out of Miss Alacrity (Munnings), who was bought by Morningside and James Harron Bloodstock for US$350,000 at the Fasig-Tipton broodmare sale of 2022.

Miss Alacrity mirrors the American speed mares who have been so important to Newgate’s breeding model, having won twice over 1000 metres in the US including in Listed class. As such, her first foal represents an attempt to put more speed into Frankel, whose Australian stock have tended to be more 1600-metre to middle-distance performers.

“This colt is very much a fast version of a Frankel,” Field said. “He’s a real Golden Rose or Caulfield Guineas type, more than a staying type. He’s a fast looking colt out of a fast American mare, he’s a very nice individual and I’m sure he’ll be very popular.”

Hedged

RACING PHOTOS

The Gavin Bedggood-trained Hedged (Capitalist) will chase back-to-back stakes wins when he lines up in Saturday's Standish Handicap (Gr 3, 1200m) at Flemington. The five-year-old gelding secured the first black-type win of his career when dominating proceedings in the Christmas Stakes (Listed, 1200m) at Sandown-Lakeside on Boxing Day, and Bedggood is hopeful that form can continue in this weekend's Group 3 event. "We sent him down the beach post-Cranbourne for a week and he thrived off that," Bedggood said. "We've just tried to replicate that. Monday morning [after Sandown] he got on the float and he came home on Friday. He's very fit now, so we don't have to do much with him. It's just one little pipe-opener in between runs just to clean his wind up and that seems to be working well. As soon as we're not happy with him he'll go for a break - you can't keep going forever - but while he looks well and he's doing well in the stable we'll keep him going." Saturday's $200,000 contest will be Hedged's first run at Flemington since a fast-finishing sixth in the Rising Fast Stakes (Gr 3, 1200m), where he was short of room late in the race. "I wouldn't think the straight holds any concerns," Bedggood said. "I thought Harry [Coffey] executed the ride really well last start and understood the horse well and found a happy medium with him. I'm looking forward to seeing how they pair up again and hopefully we can continue the association."

Waller looking for another win in The Lakes

Champion trainer Chris Waller could have a quintet of horses tackle Saturday's The Lakes (1600m) at Wyong as he bids to go back-to-back in the $500,000 contest. Waller landed the inaugural running of the 1600-metre event with Waterford (Awtaad) last year, and could have Group 2 scorer Konasana (Dundeel), last-start Belle Of The Turf Stakes (Gr 3, 1600m) third and fourth Chica Mojito (Zacinto) and Pippie Beach (Maurice), last-start winner Mare Of Mt Buller (Dundeel) and the consistent Sun God (Fastnet Rock) in this weekend's second edition. "Konasana is working her way into some form, we missed the Gosford race because she drew wide and had a big weight," Waller told Racing NSW. "Last start she finished off better, Regan Bayliss knows her well and they were his words. Chica was very unlucky and the race looks to suit. It's a good representation, I often get worried about going to Wyong but it actually races quite well on these bigger days when there's a bit more speed on."

Unit Five takes out trial at Gold Coast

Magic Millions 2YO Classic (RL, 1200m) contender Unit Five (Supido) ($9) showcased his wellbeing ahead of Saturday week's $3 million sprint when taking out a 1000-metre trial at the Gold Coast on Monday morning. Ridden by Thomas Stockdale, as he was when blowing away his rivals on debut in the Magic Millions VIC 2YO Classic (1100m) last month, the Ciaran Maher-trained son of Supido (Sebring) went between rivals during the heat and coasted home to a 0.7 lengths success over Baciemi (Castelvecchio). Fellow Magic Millions contender Mystical (Exceed And Excel) ($15) came home for third, just over a length behind Unit Five.

Torrinzino returns to work

October's Geelong Cup (Gr 3, 2400m) hero Torranzino (Tazzino) has returned to work for trainer Paul Preusker as the stable plots more big targets for the improving stayer. The six-year-old gelding landed the Geelong Cup by a half-length over Gilded Water (Fastnet Rock) before running a huge race to be fifth in November's Melbourne Cup (Gr 1, 3200m), where he was beaten eight lengths by winner Half Yours (St Jean). Following that run, the son of Tazzino (Tavistock) was given a good spell and Preusker is now favouring a brief autumn campaign. "He'll start work Monday and then we'll just sort of plot away," Preusker said. "I was happy to just put a prep together and go nowhere and spell again, but he hasn't lost much. He's in a good paddock with a couple of mates, so I think he'll come up alright, and I suppose it's now just a matter of whether we poke away in Sydney for a little bit." Preusker did reveal that Torranzino was unlikely to head for the Sydney Cup (Gr 1, 3200m) during the autumn. "I'll probably leave that alone and maybe a Tancred or something like that, just a light staying race, and we'll see what we can do," he said.

Smith enjoying great start to riding career

Having bagged 11 winners and a pair of country features to her name after just five months of riding, apprentice jockey Jade Smith is loving her time in the saddle. Smith scored her debut win aboard Spylark (Niagara) in the Sheep Hills Cup (2015m) at Warracknabeal for her father, trainer and barrier attendant Dane Smith, back in August and has not looked back. The 18-year-old rider has also struck in the Bordertown Cup (2000m) onboard the Neil Dyer-trained Vega Magnifico (Lope De Vega) and is currently operating at 13 per cent. "It's been better than I could've ever dreamed of - I've wanted to do this forever," Smith told Racing.com. "I first tried out for the program when I was 15 and didn't get in and that was hard on me, but it just drove me to be a lot better when I came back the next year. "Thankfully I got in my second year and then it took a few months to get my trials sorted and get me race riding, but it's been better than I could've hoped for. There were different ideas floating around, but everything always came back to being a jockey. I've got vivid memories of my first morning riding trackwork - I rode Argyle Valley, a champion horse of ours. Then I rode Bless The Fleet and fell off him at just my second morning! Growing up with Mum and Dad riding at Caulfield and then when we came up here and I started riding trackwork, I just sort of knew that's what I wanted to do. I've got nine wins left on that [three-kilogram claim], so I'll just try to chip away at that. Hopefully towards winter and towards the end of the year, I can start getting into the mid-weeks, start to build my race-riding and just improve."

Rutten has sweet tooth for Karaka Millions 2YO

Sweetest Thing (outside)

RACE IMAGES

Chris Rutten has a knack for selecting Karaka Millions 2YO (RL, 1200m) contenders and he looks to have struck again, this time with the Roydon Bergerson-trained Sweetest Thing. The daughter of Hello Youmzain (Kodiac) impressed when second to Lassified (Stay Inside) in the Wellesley Stakes (Listed, 1100m) at Trentham on Saturday, with her runner-up cheque of $18,500 putting her on the cusp of qualifying for the $1 million Karaka Millions at Ellerslie on January 24. It's a race Rutten has a strong association with, having won it with Vespa (Elusive City) in 2014, and he has collected minor placings with Touche (Thorn Park) (2013), Kingsman (Darci Brahma) (2016), Yourdeel (Dundeel) (2019), Avonallo (Belardo) (2021) and Wolverine (Tivaci) (2022), while he also won the Karaka Millions 3YO (RL, 1600m) with Scott Base (Dalghar) in 2018. Bergerson trained Wolverine and the pair also teamed up last year to contest the race with last year's 11th Too Sweet (Satono Aladdin). The duo could be seeking redemption with Sweetest Thing later this month, however, Bergerson is questioning the timing of the race and said a decision will be made on her immediate future later this week. "I'm really happy with her," Bergerson said. "Wiremu [Pinn, jockey] said she just got a bit lost coming across the crossing, but she hit the line strong and has pulled up well. She has always shown a lot of ability. She is a beautiful filly and will make a lovely three-year-old. I don't know what the future plans hold but we will see how she does this week. It is up to the horse, I don't want to push her too hard at the moment, it is pretty hard going into that race second-up. Chris is really keen on the race, he has always tried to win it. We will likely just give her one or two more [starts] and then put her out and bring her back as a three-year-old. What races we go for I'll just have to talk with Chris and Ian [Farrelly, part-owner] about it and make up our mind at the end of the week."

Bradley out to secure home cup

Ruakaka trainer Michelle Bradley will line-up a trio of runners at her home track on Tuesday, including No Plan Be (Tarzino), who will attempt to secure the Northland Cup (2100m) for the local horsewoman. The six-year-old daughter of Tarzino (Tavistock) won over the same track and distance last month, giving Bradley the confidence to press on to her home cup, with Courtney Barnes retaining the ride. "She has trained on well since her win, it was good to get that result," Bradley said. "She's very well and has just been ticking over. I've put Courtney back on, she knows her and rode her perfectly last start. The barrier draw [ten] is a bit of a concern. I would have preferred to have drawn in but that's just what you have got to deal with on the day. We just need to get her out of those gates and have her handy enough. We would like to step her up to 2400 metres, but we just need to get through tomorrow first and see how we go." Bradley will also be represented by New Castle (Swiss Ace) in the Lion Red (1600m). "New Castle hasn't run since Pukekohe on the 6th of December. He was meant to be running at Ruakaka on the 16th but sustained a little injury, which he's over now," Bradley said. "He's fit and well. I think it's a nice enough field and he has got [apprentice jockey] Sam McNab on, which gets a little bit of weight off him. I think he should go a nice race tomorrow [Tuesday]."

UK: King Of Change to stand for £8,500 at Tweenhills

Queen Elizabeth II Stakes (Gr 1, 1m) winner and promising young sire King Of Change (Farhh) will stand for an introductory fee of £8,500 (approx. AU$17,120) at Tweenhills this season, the stud announced on Monday. News of the son of Farhh (Pivotal) transferring to the Gloucester stud broke on Friday and the ten-year-old's arrival has evidently proven highly popular. King Of Change has made an impact from smaller crops, siring 13.3 per cent black-type winners to runners, second only to Dubawi (Dubai Millennium) and over double that of any other third-crop stallion. His four stakes winners from his first two crops of 30 runners include triple Listed winner Lady With The Lamp and exciting prospect Shayem, alongside Miss Of Change and Onemoredance. King Of Change covered 125 mares - his biggest book to date - while at Starfield Stud in 2024. King Of Change is available to view at Tweenhills and will be paraded alongside Kameko (Kitten's Joy) for breeders at Longholes Stud during the Tattersalls February Sale.

Kiwi Chronicles

First and last

By Lloyd Jackson

New Zealand's first Group 1 of 2026 saw a continuation of the great run of stakes results by Cambridge Stud's Almanzor (Wootton Bassett).

Readers may remember Kiwi Chronicles' final report of 2025 (December 16th) which detailed that Almanzor had sired three new stakes winners during the previous four Saturdays. Making it four new stakes winners in five weeks was Lux Libertas when she took out the Manawatu Challenge Stakes (Gr 2, 1400m) the following Saturday, a 29th individual stakes winner for the stallion.

One of the four was First Five (Almanzor) who arrived at Trentham for last Saturday's Telegraph Stakes (Gr 1, 1200m) on the back of an impressive performance when scoring the December 13th J Swap Sprint (Gr 3, 1400m) at Te Rapa. That win, in a slick 1:21.61 was just the ticket for a demanding 1200m down the Trentham chute and so it proved.

Wiremu Pinn had the five-year-old beautifully placed early, two lanes out in third position. At the junction they peeled out another lane, had a bit of a wobble then set after the leader Navigator (El Roca). Levelling up at the 200m, First Five then took over. Navigator didn't give up easily but First Five stretched his lead to a length, holding on bravely in a good time of 1:07.23. Stewards advised that First Five lost a left hind plate at about the 900m, underlining a notable winning effort.

The win puts First Five among the elite sprinters in the country. The winning prize took his earnings beyond $523,000 from seven victories and now attention will no doubt be diverted to Ellerslie for the Railway Stakes (Gr 1, 1200m), set for January 24th. The calendar has undergone serious changes recently. Not that long ago the Railway was always staged on New Year's Day with the Telegraph three weeks later.

Beyond the Railway is Te Rapa's BCD Sprint (Gr 1, 1400m) on February 7th. Now that First Five has taken that next step it will be fascinating to see if he can maintain his new found form. Right-handed Ellerslie will not bother him as four of his wins have been clockwise.

Almanzor's headline act is Gezora, the Breeders' Cup Fillies & Mares (Turf) (Gr 1, 11f) winner at Del Mar just two months ago. Earlier in the year Gezora was also successful in the Prix de Diane (Gr 1, 2100m). Two of Almanzor's four Group 1 winners have raced in Australia. The northern hemisphere-bred Circle Of Fire landed the Sydney Cup (Gr, 3200m) while New Zealand-bred Manzoice won the Victoria Derby (Gr 1, 2500m).

The stallion is proving to be somewhat versatile and since the loss of his sire Wootton Bassett (Iffraaj), combined with recent stakes results, there is every reason to suggest that buyers will be attracted to the 33 lots catalogued for the upcoming NZB Karaka Yearling Sale.

Raid or sales promotion?

The last New Zealand Group 1 of 2025, the Zabeel Classic (2000m) took place at Ellerslie on Boxing Day and provided a most interesting result as well as a Cambridge Stud connection.

Melbourne raider Kingswood (Roaring Lion) stole a march and stole the show when rider Rory Hutchings caught everyone napping as the field reached the end of Ellerslie's back straight. Judging that the dawdling pace and sprint home was never going to suit his charge, Hutchings set Kingswood alight from the 800m and his sprint was devastating, to the effect that within 200m he was three lengths clear. Rounding into the home straight the lead increased and half way down the straight it was clear that nothing was going to catch him.

Almanzor

Hutchings knew it was all over and stood up in the stirrups strides before the line. This was comprehensive with all the credit going to the rider. They didn't complete the last 600m in the fastest time but that mattered little as the damage had been from the 800m. The fastest 600m belonged to the wonderful mare, fourth placed La Crique (Vadamos) who, unknown at that time, was competing for the final time, her retirement announced a few days later.

Kingswood, a grey entire, was on display. Trainer Gavin Bedggood declared pre-race that one of the main decisions in making the flight to Auckland was to "advertise" Kingswood as a possible future stallion prospect. Taking out the Zabeel Classic in such style may have assisted greatly but Bedggood's post-race comment may have done exactly the opposite when the trainer stated that in Melbourne Kingswood was a "B grader". Potential studs would have noticed.

That's not all. If a "B grader" can do that against our best middle-distance Group 1 performers, what does that tell us? Facts are facts. Not liking facts doesn't change them. Should Kingswood remain in New Zealand and take out next month's Herbie Dyke Stakes (Gr 1, 2000m), we will know for sure. Another thing we know for sure is that Hutchings will be closely monitored at Te Rapa.

Kingswood represents the first and only northern hemisphere crop of Roaring Lion (Kitten's Joy), a wonderful performer whose last four races in Britain and Ireland resulted in successive Group 1 victories. In 13 starts he won eight times, his win in Ascot's Queen Elizabeth II Stakes (Gr 1, 1m) perhaps his best in conditions he detested. A mark of his quality was that his previous three Group 1 victories were over ten furlongs.

Roaring Lion was destined to shuttle to New Zealand, to stand at Cambridge Stud but was twice struck down with a serious bout of colic and had to be euthanized before covering a mare at his southern hemisphere home. He is buried at Cambridge Stud. That sole crop comprised 55 individual winners from 90 to race including eight stakes winners (8.9%). Kingswood is one of two to land a Group 1, the other being Criterium de Saint-Cloud (Gr 1, 2000m) winner Dubai Mile. It is easy to assume that Roaring Lion would have gone on to greater success at stud. The numbers above confirm that.

As for Kingswood, he started his career in Ireland breaking his maiden over ten furlongs at his third start and managed a Group 3 third in a small field in the Gallinule Stakes (10f), one of his seven races in Ireland before his export to Australia.

At start three from Bedggood's stable he landed a Benchmark 78 at Sandown and then added the Coongy Cup (Gr 3, 2000m) in September 2024, one of six races. Five starts this season have brought a Listed win at Flemington on Melbourne Cup day and a fourth in the Ballarat Cup (Listed, 2000m) prior to the Ellerslie raid. His five wins have grossed the equivalent of A$768,000.

Discarding trainer Gavin Bedggood's remarks, does Kingswood have some appeal as a future sire? One answer might be: Why not?

Sire-line wise, his grandsire Kitten's Joy (El Prado) was declared Eclipse Champion Turf Male in 2004 and was twice successful at Group 1 level. Champion sire of USA and Canada in 2013, he consistently ranked among the top ten sires for a lengthy period, siring 120 individual stakes winners, 16 of which landed Group 1s. Interestingly, Kitten's Joy was foaled by cesarean section. His sire, El Prado (Sadlers' Wells), achieved 10.25% stakes winners to runners siring 83 stakes winners including eight Group 1 winners.

Kingswood's year older half-brother is Eldar Eldarov (Dubawi), a winner of the English St Leger (Gr 1, 14f) and Irish St Leger (Gr 1, 14f). His dam All At Sea (Sea The Stars) won a trio of Listed races in France and is one of four stakes winners from Albanova (Alzao), twice European champion older mare and a triple Group 1 winner in Germany. It looks like Kingswood's progeny may take time.

For a local connection, Kingswood represents the Bruce Lowe 9c family tracing directly to Mumtaz Mahal (The Tetrarch), as does Eight Carat (Pieces Of Eight). Albanova's great-grandam Allara (Zeddaan) is a half sister to Alama (Aureole), the dam of successful Ra Ora Stud sire Nassipour (Blushing Groom). How's that Gavin?

Welcome home

On paper, La Dorada (Super Seth) deserved to be favourite for Saturday's rich Levin Classic (Gr 2, 1400m). She was returning to the site of her outstanding win in last autumn's Manawatu Sires' Produce Stakes (Gr 1, 1400m) and subsequently named New Zealand champion two-year-old. Three runners were preferred by punters with favourite Argo (Almanzor) starting outright favourite due to the James MacDonald factor.

The question mark surrounding La Dorada was her Melbourne spring form of two starts in September. On reflection, those races were a huge ask, especially beginning her second season in the Group 1 Moir Stakes (1000m). To the stable's credit, they identified as much and quickly pulled up stumps and came home. A wise decision.

A brief rest, some home cooking and she returned in December, fronting at Te Rapa against three-year-olds in the Wentwood Grange 1200 to finish an encouraging fourth, not too far from the winner. That brought her along in good style for the Levin Classic where she began quickly to co-lead early but soon drifted, settling midfield when they reached the first corner. The pace then slackened and she continued to drift. Near the home straight she had only three runners behind her.

Not covering any extra ground, Craig Grylls was patient and drove the filly along the fence. Her turn of foot was still there and at the 200m she was equal second. At the 100m she was almost level with leader Swiss Prince (El Roca) but with 50m to run she grabbed the lead and ran out a convincing winner in a leisurely 1:24.40 for the 1400m.

The next question is: Can La Dorada equal Probabeel (Savabeel) who famously took out the 2019 Karaka Million 2YO (RL, 1200m) as well as its counterpart, the 2020 Karaka 3YO Classic (RL, 1600m), the only horse to accomplish such a double.

The way La Dorada ran out both the Manawatu Sire's Produce Stakes and the Levin Classic suggests she has the talent to match her former Te Akau stablemate and stretch out to 1600m of the Classic on January 24th. Her presence at Ellerslie will be worth the effort in attending. The question after that is whether she takes Te Akau's slot in the NZB Kiwi (Listed, 1500m) where the set weights and penalties race conditions would likely see her carrying top weight.

As for Waikato Stud's Super Seth (Dundeel) there are 47 yearlings by the sire catalogued later this month at Karaka. The stallion enjoyed a fabulous 2025-26 season and Australian trainers and buyers could not miss his successes there. One lot in particular, Milan Park's Lot 138, may well be among the leading lights as the colt is a half-brother to NZB Kiwi winner Damask Rose (Savabeel) as well as Provence (Savabeel), who has added a third Group 1 to her resume since the catalogue went to print.

Kiwi Chronicles wishes all advertisers and readers a great 2026. May all your equine hopes and dreams come true.
