Derby destroyer Road To Paris takes a trip to Sydney

By Paul Symes

After Belle Cheval (Savabeel) broke a mini drought for New Zealand-trained horses in Australian Group 1 races last week, Roger James and Robert Wellwood are hoping to capitalise on that success with Road To Paris (Circus Maximus), who bids for a quickfire Derby double on the opening day of The Championships.

Belle Cheval's dramatic win in the Vinery Stud Stakes (Gr 1, 2000m) was the first topline triumph by a Kiwi raider since Orchestral (Savabeel) claimed the same race in 2024 - thereby delivering back-to-back victories for James and Wellwood after Prowess (Proisir) had taken out the Vinery the year before.

With the duo's last-start New Zealand Derby (Gr 1, 2400m) hero Road To Paris bringing some seriously strong staying credentials across the Tasman Sea, 'the land of the long white cloud' may have another moment in the sun at Randwick this Saturday when the Australian Derby (Gr 1, 2400m) ably plays a support act role on Doncaster Mile Day.

New Zealand trainers boast a formidable record in the Australian Derby - Murray Baker and Andrew Forsman won four of the eight editions between 2013 and 2020 - and, provided Road To Paris takes his first overseas venture in his stride, there is a strong possibility that the recent trend will continue.

Archer arrows in on some grand prizes with Belle Cheval

The Belle Cheval (Savabeel) story already has many twists and turns and after the filly's breakthrough success in last Saturday's Vinery Stud Stakes (Gr 1, 2000m), her owner-breeders David Archer and Diane Wright are eagerly anticipating the next chapter with some lofty spring ambitions in the pipeline.

On Tuesday afternoon Road To Paris, who carries the blue tartan silks of Queensland owner-breeders Ron and Judi Wanless, boarded a flight to Sydney where he will take up residence at John Thompson's Randwick stables, his temporary home ahead of Saturday's hit-and-run $2 million assignment.

The lightly-raced three-year-old was accompanied on his maiden Australian voyage by a far more experienced campaigner in James, with the frequent flier happy to defer interview duties to his younger training partner.

Wellwood is naturally respectful of the leading claims of the Godolphin pair Observer (Ghaiyyath) and Green Spaces (Street Boss), who chased home Autumn Boy (The Autumn Sun) in the Rosehill Guineas (Gr 1, 2000m) and are vying for favouritism in the early Derby markets.

Barrier ten is also less than ideal but provided Road To Paris - generally rated a $10 shot - can take up a handy enough position in the run, Wellwood is of the opinion that the gelding's late turn of foot can leave even the most well-credentialed of rivals floundering in his wake.

"We wouldn't be taking him over to Australia if we didn't think he had a very good chance of winning the Derby," Wellwood told ANZ News.

"We'll put the blinkers on for the Derby to keep him nice and focused, and I expect him to run a big race. It was obviously a pretty tough effort in the NZ Derby but he bounced through the run well. It's always a big ask to get your horses to peak twice, especially with a month between runs, but we've been really happy with his work at home and his final hitout last Saturday was very pleasing.

"The standard of competition goes up on Saturday when you're taking on the likes of Observer, who is obviously a quality horse and will stay the trip, but we wouldn't swap our runner for any other. We could probably have done with a softer draw, but barriers aren't the end of the world in a staying race.

"It's a fairly small field so even if we're towards the rear, we'll probably only be five or six lengths off the leader. He always settles well in his races and conserves his energy for the finish, so as long as he's within striking distance I do think we're in with a very good chance."

Road To Paris' prospects have been further bolstered by the booking of Zac Purton, who also rides Lindsay Park's Kiwi-bred miler Evaporate (Per Incanto) in the Doncaster Mile (Gr 1, 1600m) and Clayton Douglas' evergreen sprinter Giga Kick (Scissor Kick) in the T J Smith Stakes (Gr 1, 1200m) on the program.

Purton doesn't leave Hong Kong for his former homeland unless he thinks there is a good chance of adding another Group 1 to his already bulging trophy cabinet, giving credence to the suggestion that Road To Paris can be a major player.

Indeed, Purton's Australian manager Paul Webster was quick to make contact with the James-Wellwood stable to offer his client's services in the aftermath of Road To Paris' stirring breakthrough in Group 1 grade.

Continued from page 2 “Zac’s team approached us after his win in the Derby and we were only too happy to put him on,” said Wellwood.

“When you have a jockey of that calibre wanting to ride your horse, you don’t have to think too long or hard and it obviously gives you a bit more confidence in the horse’s ability. He hasn’t ridden for us since I joined the ticket and I don’t know if he’s ridden for Roger before, so it may well be a first. But he has a good association with Ron and Judi, he’s ridden plenty of times for them before so they’re delighted to have him on board and hopefully he can get the job done for us.”

The pre-race instructions imparted to Purton may simply be to “hold on tight”, given Road To Paris’ previous propensity for dumping his riders

WE’LL PUT THE BLINKERS ON FOR THE DERBY TO KEEP HIM NICE AND FOCUSED, AND I EXPECT HIM TO RUN A BIG RACE. IT WAS OBVIOUSLY A PRETTY TOUGH EFFORT IN THE NZ DERBY BUT HE BOUNCED THROUGH THE RUN WELL. IT’S ALWAYS A BIG ASK TO GET YOUR HORSES TO PEAK TWICE, ESPECIALLY WITH A MONTH BETWEEN RUNS, BUT WE’VE BEEN REALLY HAPPY WITH HIS WORK AT HOME AND HIS FINAL HITOUT LAST SATURDAY WAS VERY PLEASING

ROBERT WELLWOOD

- most notably when on the verge of victory in last year’s Wellington Stakes (Gr 3, 1600m).

According to Wellwood, however, Road To Paris is a fairly cool, calm customer around the stables and his quirky habits on the racetrack do not detract from his durability.

The gallant gelding is now something of a reformed character and he has already created history by becoming his sire’s first Group 1 winner when snatching his homeland Derby from his former stablemate Autumn Glory (Ocean Park), who was subsequently purchased by Yulong and sent to the stables of Mick Price and Michael Kent Jnr.

To have won one of New Zealand’s most prestigious contests with his first crop is no mean feat, and should Road To Paris seal the Derby double on Saturday, many of Australia’s leading stables and owners are likely to sit up and take notice of Circus Maximus (Galileo).

Prominent owner Ozzie Kheir and his preferred trainer Ciaran Maher are already admirers of Windsor Park Stud’s shuttler, who was a champion miler in his racing heyday for trainer Aidan O’Brien. The duo moved early to purchase Circus Maximus’ unbeaten filly Paltrow Miss, who subsequently hit the ground running in Australia when winning on her stable debut in impressive fashion at Sandown recently.

Having sired three stakes winners from his first crop, Circus Maximus is already making waves in his adopted homeland and Wellwood believes that, together with Sword Of State (Snitzel), he could be the next big thing in New Zealand’s stallion ranks - particularly following the recent defection of Super Seth (Dundeel) to Coolmore.

“We really like the breed,” said Wellwood, who also revealed that the stable’s last-start stakes winner Sweynesday (Sweynesse) could be targeted towards the Stradbroke Handicap (Gr 1, 1400m), and he may be joined on the plane to Australia by their NZ Thoroughbred Breeders Stakes (Gr 1, 1600m) heroine She’s a Dealer (Ace High).

“It was very rewarding for us to get the first Group 1 win on the board for Circus Maximus, and the Schick family at Windsor Park do such a wonderful job with their stallions. They’ve brought a number of shuttle stallions over to New Zealand from Coolmore for many years now, dating back to the likes of High Chaparral and Montjeu, which has been great for our breeding industry,” Wellwood said.

“We’ve got a few of Circus Maximus’ progeny in the stables and we’ve been impressed with their attitudes. They’re all showing a bit of early promise, but obviously not as much as Road To Paris has. We’ve really liked him from the start, but with his breeding we always knew he was going to take time to mature so he was never going to be racing as two-year-old. Roger identified him as a Derby type from a long way out, and it was very satisfying to see those plans come to fruition.

“A lot of hard work goes into your horses to educate them as yearlings and two-year-olds, and we always knew it was going to be a long-term project with him. The whole team at home have taken their time with him, and we’re now getting the rewards so the patient approach has definitely been worthwhile. I think he’ll be even better next season as a four-year-old, because he’s still got a fair bit to learn, but hopefully he can end his three-year-old campaign on a high note on Saturday.”

RACING PHOTOS

Blue Diamond Stakes (Gr 1, 1200m) winner Streisand (Magnus) will race in Yulong's colours in Saturday's ATC Sires' Produce Stakes (Gr 1, 1400m) at Randwick following a deal struck this week. Trainer Clinton McDonald confirmed the sale on Tuesday, with the filly to remain in his care. She has pleased connections since her Golden Slipper (Gr 1, 1200m) runner-up performance behind Guest House (Home Affairs), and will step up to 1400 metres for the first time this weekend. "She's come through the run extremely well and continues to please us," McDonald told Racing.com. Ben Melham partnered the filly in a piece of work at Randwick on Tuesday morning, with connections satisfied

A letter from the editor

As today is my final edition as ANZ editor, I wanted to express my gratitude to the readers and many members of the industry who have made working here such a pleasure. The publication has been such an important part of my professional life for such a long time it will feel strange to move forward without it.

When I first took the job under its founders, Stuart and Alice Boman, they really took a chance on me. My knowledge of the sport in Australasia was non-existent, but I threw myself into it and quickly realised just how exciting and innovative the jurisdiction is. It's a place where people are open, generous with their time, and full of insight. As a young journalist who knew almost nothing, this made the job so much easier.

During my time at ANZ I've met so many incredible people who've supported me both professionally and personally. My trips to both Australia and New Zealand have been unforgettable, and I've made lifelong friends in the process. I'll always be grateful for the opportunities I was afforded during my time at the publication.

It's always felt like a close-knit family and when I think about all the people I've worked with, both in the UK and across the southern hemisphere, I feel incredibly lucky. The publication has been built on the hard work and talent of so many, and that's what's allowed it to thrive both editorially and reputationally. I'm really proud of the work we've done and what we've achieved.

I'll continue to take a keen interest in southern hemisphere racing and bloodstock as a fan, a journalist - and an ANZ reader.

Thank you to everyone for making this the most amazing job - I'll miss it (but not the early mornings).

with her condition heading into the assignment. Yulong has also secured Paradoxium (Extreme Choice), who will join Streisand in the Sires' Produce. The Bjorn Baker-trained Todman Stakes (Gr 2, 1200m) winner finished down the field in the Slipper but is set to head for Saturday's Group 1 contest.

Observer bidding for Derby double

Ciaran Maher is chasing a rare staying double with Observer (Ghaiyyath), who will attempt to add the Australian Derby (Gr 1, 2400m) at Randwick to his Victoria Derby (Gr 1, 2500m) success on Saturday. The feat has only been achieved twice in recent seasons, with Hitotsu (Maurice) completing the double for Maher in 2021-22 and Riff Rocket (American Pharoah) following suit for Chris Waller in 2023-24. Maher acknowledged the challenge but said Observer had continued to progress through his preparation and was well placed stepping back up in trip following his third placing in the Rosehill Guineas (Gr 1, 2000m) to Autumn Boy (The Autumn Sun). "It's hard to get them to peak for two Derbies, but we've done it before," Maher said. "He came through his last run really well and he's ticking over nicely. Back up to the trip, that's what he's bred for." Like Hitotsu, Observer also claimed the Australian Guineas (Gr 1, 1600m) at Flemington earlier in his preparation, though Maher opted to give the colt an additional run at 2000 metres rather than go straight to the Derby. Maher felt the Rosehill Guineas effort was better than it may have appeared on paper, suggesting the tempo did not fully suit. "He rallied well and was strong through the line. I wouldn't read too much into that run," he said. James McDonald takes over in the saddle on Saturday, replacing Craig Williams, with Observer to jump from barrier 12 in the 13-horse field.

Cumani hoping for Derby upset with Deal Done Fast

Matt Cumani believes lightly raced colt Deal Done Fast (Dundeel) has the profile to defy history and break his maiden in Saturday's Australian Derby at Randwick. A maiden has not claimed the race since Ethiopia (Helenus) in 2012, but Cumani said his three-year-old has continued to mature since finishing third in last spring's Victoria Derby and is ready to peak at the trip. "He's a very up-and-about colt, very boisterous, but manageable like a lot of Dundeels," Cumani told Racing NSW. "He's improving and growing up, and hopefully it's all coming together at the right time." The son of Dundeel (High Chaparral) will be having his seventh start in the $2 million feature and lines up following a midfield finish in the Rosehill Guineas, where Cumani felt circumstances

Inglis Australian Weanling Sale catalogue now online

Weanlings by more than 100 stallions headline a deep and diverse catalogue for this year's Inglis Australian Weanling Sale, which will take place at Riverside on May 5-6.

A total of 500 lots have been catalogued for the sale, which opens the Inglis Breeding Stock Sales Series ahead of The Chairman's Sale on May 7.

The vendor bench is again a major feature, with 48 operations set to offer stock, including many of Australia's leading breeders such as Coolmore, Newgate, Widden, Segenhoe, Yarraman, Vinery, Kia Ora, Lime Country and Cressfield.

The catalogue is complemented by a wide spread of established and emerging stallions, with progeny of I Am Invincible (Invincible Spirit), Snitzel (Redoute's Choice), Zoustar (Northern Meteor), Frankel (Galileo), Home Affairs (I Am Invincible), Anamoe (Street Boss), Street Boss (Street Cry), Wootton Bassett (Ifraaj), Sword Of State (Snitzel) and Ole Kirk (Written Tycoon) among those on offer.

First-crop representation also provides a key point of interest, with weanlings by recent retirees including Shinzo (Snitzel), Mo'unga (Savabeel), Native Trail (Oasis Dream), Cylinder (Exceed And Excel), Ozzmosis (Zoustar) and Don Corleone (Extreme Choice) featuring.

Inglis Bloodstock chief executive Sebastian Hutch said the sale continues to build momentum across multiple sectors of the market.

"The Inglis Weanling Sales Series has been a fruitful market for buyers at all levels for a number of years, whether they are hobbyists, traders or end users," Hutch said.

"We have worked to upgrade both the quantity and quality of stock in recent years and that has been reflected in improved results."

Recent graduates of the sale include Group 1 winners Hayasugi (Royal Meeting) and Kimochi (Brave Smash), as well as stakes performers such as Straight Charge (Written By), Shiki (Too Darn Hot), Hard Kick (All Too Hard) and Field Of Play (Deep Field).

Among the catalogue highlights are a Shinzo three quarter-sibling to Group 2 scorer Splintex (Snitzel) (Lot 145), a Snitzel filly out of Listed winner Chassis (Al Maher) (Lot 201), a Harry Angel (Dark Angel) half-brother to Hayasugi (Lot 203) and a Wootton Bassett half-brother to Classic winner Captured By Love (Written Tycoon) (Lot 398).

All lots offered are eligible for the Inglis Race Series, which includes the $2 million Inglis Millennium and the $5 million Xtra Bonus Series. To view the Australian Weanling Sale catalogue click here.

worked against him. "He was stuck on the rails and had to check at a crucial stage when they increased the tempo," he said. "Through the line he was strong and closing quickly, which bodes well stepping up in distance." Cumani was pleased with barrier eight for Saturday's assignment, believing it will allow jockey Damian Lane to keep the colt in clear running - a key factor given his racing style. "I think it's a perfect draw for him because he wants a bit of room," he said. "Being on the outside of horses will help him."

Sheza Alibi still well fancied in market despite wide draw

Sheza Alibi (Saxon Warrior) remains the $2.10 favourite for Saturday's Doncaster Mile (Gr 1, 1600m) at Randwick following Tuesday's barrier draw, despite easing slightly in the market. The Peter Moody and Katherine Coleman-trained filly drew gate 13, while key rival Autumn Boy firmed from $6 into $5 after coming up with the inside barrier, a factor TAB spokesman Tim Ryan said had influenced the shift. "I've eased Sheza Alibi slightly to $2.10, not because of her draw, but because Autumn Boy has the rails," Ryan said. "He's likely to settle in front of her, but Sheza Alibi remains very popular with punters." More than 70 per cent of all-in betting has been on Sheza Alibi, who is chasing a rare win for a three-year-old filly in the handicap feature. No filly has started shorter in the modern era than Sunline (Desert Sun), who won as a $2.10 chance in 1999, while the last odds-on filly winner was Valicare (Valais) in 1926. History suggests wider draws are no disadvantage given 16 of the past 30 winners have jumped from barrier ten or wider. Moody downplayed concerns, confident the Randwick Guineas (Gr 1, 1600m) winner can settle comfortably in running. "She can land midfield, three-deep with cover," he said. "She's done really well since her last run and we're very pleased with her." A field of 16 has been assembled, with fellow three-year-olds Sixties (Flying Artie) ($13) and Attica (Lonhro) ($15) also prominent in betting.

T J Smith for fresh Overpass

Bjorn Baker is confident evergreen sprinter Overpass (Vancouver) is ready to fire fresh when he lines up in Saturday's T J Smith Stakes (Gr 1, 1200m) at Randwick. The seven-year-old will bypass a return to Perth's The Quokka (1200m), instead having a third crack at the $3 million feature after finishing fifth behind Nature Strip (Nicconi) in 2022 and runner-up to Briasa (Smart Missile) last year. Overpass boasts a strong first-up profile, with four wins and four placings from ten attempts and Baker has tailored his preparation accordingly, ensuring the gelding is forward enough for the assignment. "He's in really good order. As we know, he's great first-up," Baker said. The son of Vancouver (Medaglia D'Oro) has been given two solid trials, including a recent 1050-metre hit-out where he was ridden out to build fitness, with Baker mindful the veteran now requires a more searching preparation. "As he gets older, stronger and bigger every preparation, we've got to make sure he's that little bit fitter and we do that touch more," he said. Overpass, who has earned over $12 million, prefers a firmer surface, though the gelding has shown he can handle some give. "The firmer the track, probably the better, but he can get through a soft track as well," Baker said.

Zahra expects big efforts from Tentyris and Jimmysstar

Mark Zahra is backing three-year-old Tentyris (Street Boss) to return to form in Saturday's T J Smith Stakes at Randwick. Zahra partners the Godolphin colt from barrier one after he finished fifth under 57.5 kilograms in the Newmarket Handicap (Gr 1, 1200m) at Flemington last start, and believes Sydney presents a test that the colt is capable of meeting. "He's beaten older horses before [in the Black Caviar Lightning Stakes], but going to Sydney to take on the best is a challenge," Zahra told Racing.com. "I reckon he's up to it." The Freedman-trained colt typically settles off the speed and Zahra indicated his early positioning will be key. "All his wins have come from back, so we just need to make sure we're not giving them too big a start," he said. "If we can land in a spot, he'll be finishing off." Tentyris has had a recent trial in Sydney to familiarise with conditions, pleasing Zahra in his work. "He cornered fine and was motoring through the line nicely," he said. Zahra was also forgiving of Jimmysstar's (Per Incanto) unplaced effort in the William Reid Stakes (Gr 1, 1200m), where he endured a difficult run from the inside. "It was a forgive run. The set-up was against him and I think any horse would have struggled in that position," he said. "My gut feel is he'll bounce back." Jimmysstar again draws low in barrier two, while Tentyris will jump from the inside gate in the nine-horse field. Track conditions remain a query for Tentyris, though Zahra said the colt handled softer ground adequately in a recent trial. "A horse with his turn of foot would prefer it drier, but I wouldn't rule him out either way," he said.

Benagil to have Easter Cup task

Flemington trainer Glen Thompson is expecting improvement from Benagil (Manhattan Rain) as she steps back up to 2000 metres in Saturday's Easter Cup (Gr 3, 2000m) at Caulfield. The mare will be having her fourth run this preparation and, while yet to place this campaign, Thompson believes her recent performances have been encouraging, particularly her closing effort when eighth in the Sunline Stakes (Gr 2, 1600m) at Caulfield last start. "I thought her run the other day was great," Thompson said. "She was back last and her sectionals were among the best of the race." A Group 1 winner over 2000 metres as a three-year-old in the Australasian Oaks (Gr 1, 2000m), Benagil has also been placed at the elite level at up to 2200 metres, giving Thompson confidence that a return to a staying trip will suit. "We should see an improved run," he said. Looking beyond Saturday, Thompson outlined a clear path through the autumn, with the Mornington Cup (Listed, 2400m) on April 18 a likely next target. Victory there would secure a ballot exemption into the Caulfield Cup (Gr 1, 2400m) later in the year. "At this stage she'll go Easter Cup, then Mornington Cup," Thompson said. "If she can win that, she can go to the paddock and be set for the spring."

Group 1 winner Baraqiel retired

Group 1-winning sprinter Baraqiel (Snitzel) has been retired after sustaining a sesamoid injury in the William Reid Stakes at Caulfield on March 21. The decision was confirmed by Bennett Racing, with connections opting against surgery in favour of safeguarding the seven-year-old's long-term wellbeing. "We thought the best option was to avoid surgery and give him a good quality of life," connections told Racing.com. "He's been a warhorse for us and deserves that." Trained by Troy Corstens and Will Larkin, Baraqiel was a standout performer despite a stop-start career, winning eight of his 15 starts. His career highlight came with victory in the Moir Stakes (Gr 1, 1000m) last spring. Corstens described the decision as an emotional one, with multiple veterinary opinions sought before retiring the gelding. "He's been such a special horse for the stable and connections," Corstens said. "I would never put the horse at risk. If something went wrong, I'd never forgive myself." Baraqiel overcame a series of setbacks throughout his career, only making his debut as a five-year-old, but quickly established himself as a high-class sprinter with a strong will to compete. "He was tough. I wish every horse in our stable had his will to try," Corstens added.

TBA welcomes RA's Foal Ownership Declarations decision

Thoroughbred Breeders Australia (TBA) has welcomed Racing Australia's (RA) decision to introduce an amnesty on outstanding Foal Ownership Declarations (FODs) for the 2024 and 2025 foal crops. The amnesty provides breeders with a two-week window to lodge overdue declarations, with a deadline of 5.30pm AEST on April 14, ensuring affected horses remain eligible to race. The measure applies to all outstanding FODs, including those currently under appeal, those yet to be appealed and those where appeals have been unsuccessful. Horses will not be subject to embargo provided declarations are submitted within the timeframe. TBA chief executive Andrew Hore-Lacy said the decision reflects a more practical approach to resolving what have largely been administrative issues. "This is a positive step from Racing Australia and we welcome the sensible decision to resolve these cases," he said. The amnesty is expected to provide relief for breeders facing uncertainty over the racing futures of affected horses, many of which represent significant investment and long-term planning. TBA has urged breeders to review their records and ensure all outstanding declarations are completed before the deadline, with the industry body now focused on achieving full compliance within the window. Hore-Lacy added that TBA would continue working with Racing Australia on longer-term improvements to the FOD system, including enhancements to the underlying technology ahead of the upcoming breeding season.

Hayley all set for Southern Guineas challenge

Hello Hayley

MONICA TORETTO

Star southern filly Hello Hayley (Hello Youmzain) is on target to become the first horse in two decades to complete the Southern 3YO Guineas Triple Crown in the rescheduled Gore Guineas (Listed, 1200m) at Riverton on Saturday. Hello Hayley was the winner of one of her five starts ahead of the originally scheduled Gore Guineas on February 1, only for the meeting to be abandoned when a horse slipped in the opening race. The daughter of Hello Youmzain (Kodiac) has made massive strides in her two starts since, winning the Southland Guineas (Listed, 1400m) at Ascot Park in mid-February and completing a stakes double two weeks later in the Dunedin Guineas (Listed, 1600m) at Wingatui. With the reduction in distance from 1335 metres to 1200 metres for the rescheduled Gore Guineas, Hallo Hayley's Winton-based trainer Sophie Price made the logical decision to freshen her in the intervening five weeks. "Everything has gone to plan, she's freshened up well, although looking at the entries it won't be easy, there are some decent horses in against her and plenty of them," Price said. "The track is rated Heavy 8, but I'm hoping it improves on that ahead of the weekend. All her wins have been on slow-rated ground, but I suppose if it does stay in that heavy range it will make it more of a test and that shouldn't worry her."

Kneebone kicking goals early in training career

Nick Kneebone has hit the ground running in his first full season of training, highlighted by his first Group 1 result last weekend when Speed Demon (Yes Yes Yes) ran home well to finish third in the Manawatu Sires' Produce Stakes (Gr 1, 1400m) at Trentham. The son of Yes Yes Yes (Rubick) had won one of his previous four starts, and while confident of a bold showing in Saturday's juvenile feature, Kneebone was rapt to see Speed Demon belie the racing pattern of the day when roaring home from the rear of the pack to capture black-type. "I am absolutely thrilled," Kneebone said. "I was quite confident, I thought he would run top five and he went a bit better than that, so I was really happy. I didn't even expect to have a runner in a Group 1 let alone place in one, it is massive. We are only a small team, so I must be doing something right." Kneebone said the day was made even more special by his Sydney-based parents, Mike and Adele, being trackside. "Mum and Dad were there, they flew over from Sydney and they were just as thrilled as I was," Kneebone said. "It was awesome to have them there." Kneebone, the son of New Zealand Bloodstock's director of business development Mike Kneebone, established a 20-box barn in Cambridge last year and is enjoying being back in his homeland after spending the majority of his life in Singapore and Australia. "I was born here, so it has always been home," he said. "I spent a lot of time in Singapore, where I went to school, and then I moved to Australia when I was 18 and I was with John Sargent for about seven or eight years, and with Jim and Greg Lee at Randwick. I have been away from home for a little while, but it is really good to be back"

HK: Frankie Lor loads up as apprentice Nichola Yuen debuts at Sha Tin

Frankie Lor led last season's dirt course standings with ten wins and, on Wednesday night at Sha Tin, the trainer is represented by a formidable outfit in seven of the nine races as apprentice Nichola Yuen makes her debut in Hong Kong with five rides. Lor has only one dirt track win this campaign but will aim to rectify that at the mid-week all-dirt programme when the lightly raced One Man Show (Showtime) tackles the first section of the Class 4 Ma Tau Wai Handicap (1200m). "I put Zac Purton on last start, but then he drew barrier 12. But I do think he can win a race in Class 4," Lor said. "He goes to Conghua regularly because he can be a bit nervous in Hong Kong, so it relaxes him." One Man Show is to be ridden by Purton again in search of a first win from barrier two. Lor and the championship-leading jockey also team with four-time dirt winner Never Peter Out (Grunt), who steps from gate one in the Class 4 Nam Shan Handicap (1650m). "Last start he went to the lead, and maybe that was not suitable for him. I'll ask the jockey to sit midfield this time or at least with some cover, which should be better. I think he can win another race at this level," Lor said. Two wins last Sunday lifted Lor's tally this term to 31. Meanwhile, Yuen, who will experience Hong Kong racing for the first time after overseas training, rides Fun N Fun Together (Charm Spirit) for Lor in the third section of the Class 4 Ma Tau Wai Handicap (1200m). Yuen said: "I'm really excited to have the opportunity to ride on the biggest stage in the world. It's really huge for me to be riding with all of the best jockeys in the world. There's got to be some pressure, but I've just got to learn to deal with it."

By Paul Symes

The Belle Cheval (Savabeel) story already has many twists and turns and after the filly's breakthrough success in last Saturday's Vinery Stud Stakes (Gr 1, 2000m), her owner-breeders David Archer and Diane Wright are eagerly anticipating the next chapter with some lofty spring ambitions in the pipeline.

Belle Cheval became the third stakes winner produced by her dam Keepa Cheval (Keeper) when she survived the persistent challenge – and subsequent protest – laid down by Dom

Sutton's filly After Summer (The Autumn Sun), in the process taking Archer and Wright's joint Group 1 tally to a very sweet 16.

Ten of the best were provided by their magnificent sprinter-miler Mufhasa (Pentire), who raced as King Mufhasa in Australia where he collected the Toorak Handicap (Gr 1, 1600m) and the Futurity Stakes (Gr 1, 1400m) – knocking off the reigning Cox Plate (Gr 1, 2040m) champion Pinker Pinker (Reset) – during a prolific patch of form on both sides of the Tasman Sea.

Mufhasa was prepared in his native New Zealand by the father-and-son training team of Trevor and Stephen McKee, best known for their expert handling of 13-time Group 1 heroine Sunline (Desert Sun).

It was on the advice of McKee Jnr that Archer and Wright purchased Keepa Cheval, and while the mare's moderate racing career only produced one win – in a lowly maiden at Pukekohe – her time in the breeding barn has been nothing less than a stratospheric success.

Her third foal was The Bostonian (Jimmy Choux), who carried Archer's grey and dark blue colours to seven stakes wins headlined by a trio of elite-level triumphs in Australia: the Doomben 10,000 (Gr 1, 1200m), Kingsford-Smith Cup (Gr 1, 1300m) and Canterbury Stakes (Gr 1, 1300m).

Once the Tony Pike-trained gelding had retired from racing with ten wins and prize-money earnings in excess of $1.8 million, his half-sister Cheval D'Or (Almanzor) promptly picked up the mantle and showcased the family's versatility by winning the 2023 Trelawney Stud Stakes (Gr 3, 2100m).

At that time, Belle Cheval was approximately six months old and the initial intention had been to put the filly up for public auction in the hope that she might make even more than Cheval D'Or, who was purchased for $420,000 by Pike and The Oaks Stud – where the broodmare now resides.

However, as Archer explains, a phone call from his good friend Mark Chittick at Waikato Stud soon altered those plans.

"We do sell the majority of horses that we breed but from early on, Mark's advice was that this filly was a keeper," Archer told ANZ News from the Inglis Easter Yearling Sale where, despite landing a windfall on Saturday, the spritely 79-year-old was keeping his hands firmly in his pockets.

"A few years back Mark had told us that our mare was the perfect match for Savabeel, he was fully booked but we've known Mark for a long time now so he offered to find us a space for Keepa Cheval. Unfortunately she missed that year, but the next year he called me again with the same offer. Luckily this time she conceived, and the resulting foal was Belle Cheval.

"Mark loved the filly from the very start and he's such a good judge that he convinced us to keep her – although when he told me she'd make at least $800,000 if we took her to the sale, I did have to take a very deep breath. That's a lot of money to anyone but we'd already made up our minds that we were going to race her ourselves, and now I'm obviously very glad that we did."

Given that prior to Saturday's success she was only very narrowly denied victory in New Zealand's richest race, the $4 million NZB Kiwi (Listed, 1500m), by one of Australasia's most exciting fillies in Well Written (Written Tycoon), there is every reason for Archer and his breeding – and life – partner Wright to dream big this coming spring.

The lure of the $10 million prize pool on offer might persuade the pair to target the Golden Eagle (1500m) over a tilt at the Cox Plate, particularly now that she has already ticked the all-important Group 1 box and set herself up for a bright future career at stud.

Those provisional plans will be firmed up in consultation with trainer Mark Walker over the coming months, but in the more immediate future the filly will be briefly integrated into her new home at Cranbourne before spending some time resting and recuperating on the Monington Peninsula.

"She's come a long way in a short space of time, her progress at home and in her races has been very fast but she deserves a nice break now," said Archer.

"It was always the plan to only bring her over for one race, and she'll stay in Australia for now. I had originally wanted to take her back to New Zealand with us and have her spell back home, but Mark's the expert and he persuaded us to keep her over there, so she's now officially a Melburnian.

"She'll spend a week or so in the Cranbourne stables to get used to the environment, then head for a spell in the paddock. She's got a lovely shape about her but I do think there's still some improvement to come, so we're already very excited about her next campaign as a four-year-old mare.

"We get the chance to dream with her now, she's won a Group 1 in Australia pretty early on in her career so the sky's the limit."

Regardless of whether or not she can add to her Group 1 haul in the future, Belle Cheval will always hold a special place in the hearts of her co-breeders, who race the filly in partnership with Archer's son Simon and daughter Natalie.

The quartet were trackside for Saturday's nail-biting victory and once the dust had settled and the celebrations had died down, Archer made his way to the stalls area where he shared a touching moment with the heroine of the hour.

"We love all our horses, and this filly is already very special to us," said Archer.

"After every race I always go and spend a bit of time with our horses, whether they win, lose or draw. I had five minutes with the filly in her box after her win, and it was a beautiful moment. She was so calm and we had a lovely kiss and a cuddle. Then once her feed had arrived she bared her teeth to tell me, in the nicest possible way, that it was time for her dinner."

That same love and affection certainly extends to Keepa Cheval, who is currently in foal to Chaldean (Frankel) having previously produced a colt by another Cambridge Stud resident in Almanzor (Wootton Bassett), which was sold for $170,000 to Pike Racing at Karaka earlier this year.

While it may be tempting to plan another date with Savabeel (Zabeel) once she has given birth to her Chaldean foal, Archer and Wright are mindful that the mare is closing in on her 20th birthday and so retirement is inevitably beckoning.

"We would love to send her back to Savabeel, but as always the horse's health comes first and we're very conscious of her age," said Archer.

"She's been such a wonderful producer and has been so good to us, so we don't want to push our luck and she'll have a home for life on our property at Karaka. She's a beautiful mare and we love her dearly, so she deserves to live a long and happy life in one of our paddocks."

Once she has been pensioned, Keepa Cheval will have both The Bostonian and Mufhasa for company on the farm, with the duo treated as family pets now that they have long since lost their competitive edge.

"The Bostonian and Mufhasa share a paddock together and they're the best of friends," Archer told ANZ News.

"They occasionally lead out some of the big races in New Zealand, and when they're not doing that we let the young kids take them out for rides. They've both got a beautiful nature, Mufhasa was the bravest racehorse you would ever meet but away from the track, he's always been an absolute gentleman.

"The Bostonian was a bit different, he was always such a competitive beast and I got more than one bite from him, but now that he's retired he's just so relaxed and never gives us any problems. They're like my pet dogs and I really enjoy spending time with them, as I do with all our horses."

BETTING FORECAST: 4 Night Purosangue, 5 Never Peter Out, 6 Bull Attitude, 10 Good Luck Babe, Leslie, 12 Blossomy, Fashion Legend, Foremost Teddy, 14 Hinokami Kagura, Lakeshore Hero, Supreme Agility, 16 Colourful Gan, Daily Trophy, Nova Knight.

VERDICT This can go to NEVER PETER OUT who finished just behind Night Purosangue (second choice) and Bull Attitude over C&D 17 days ago. The selection has now slipped to 9th lower than for the latest of his four C&D wins, has the services of Zac Purton this time and is much better drawn than his two old rivals. Good Luck Babe, another who has become attractively handicapped, and the unexposed Blossomy complete the shortlist. BETTING FORECAST: 7-2 Speedy Smartie, 5 No Other Choice, 7 Day Day Victory, Flowing Riches, Swagger Bro, 10 Pi Legend, 12 Fortune Whiskey, King Oberon, Lucky Together, 16 Starry Show, Tactical Victory, 20 Rising Elite.

VERDICT No Other Choice (second choice) is much better drawn than when twice running fine races in defeat from the outside stall over C&D within the past six months, while Flowing Riches, Day Day Victory and Swagger Bro can also be given a chance on the pick of their form. However, it's hard to oppose the ultra-consistent SPEEDY SMARTIE who showed this sort of inflated mark may not be beyond him when beaten a neck from the widest draw over C&D last time. BETTING FORECAST: 11-4 One Man Show, 7-2 Tourbillon Goller, 5 Ace Power, 8 Fun Elite, Juicy Dragon, Never Too Soon, 14 Natural High, 16 Justifying, 25 Kol, Savvy Warrior, 33 Yee Cheong Spirit, 50 Happy Alliance.

VERDICT Class-dropper Tourbillon Goller is very well drawn for this dirt debut and looks interesting but ONE MAN SHOW has taken well to this surface in recent months and, from stall 2, is taken to open his local account at the eighth attempt. ACE POWER is also likely to feature. [Chris Wilson]

BETTING FORECAST: 7-2 Good Chap, 9-2 Conrad The Great, Igor Stravinsky, 7 Malpensa, Notthesillyone, Wolf Coming, 12 Fun N Fun Together, 14 Light Years Glory, 16 Jolly Companion, 25 Shinyu Kokoro, 33 Blasted Talent, 100 Leaping Star.

VERDICT This is competitive for the grade. Conrad The Great has a much better draw than when second to Good Chap over C&D last month and can win that rematch but the suggestion is IGOR STRAVINSKY, who has been very competitive in higher-grade turf races in recent weeks and has the inside stall for his dirt debut. Notthesillyone and Wolf Coming are also considered. [Chris Wilson]

BETTING FORECAST: 15-8 Victory Sky, 11-4 Romantic Son, 7 Aurora Patch, Blazing Wind, 10 Must Go, 12 Mr Energia, 16 Capital Delight, 25 Giant Spirit, Superb Capitalist, Young Arrow, 66 E Ho Ho.

VERDICT Victory Sky seems sure to play another major role but slight preference is for ROMANTIC SON, who has been in excellent form on turf this year. This will be the selection's official dirt debut but it was second to Hong Kong's superstar sprinter Ka Yung Pising in a C&D trial in January. Must Go is drawn on the outside but lurks on a dangerous mark and is next on the list. [Chris Wilson]

VERDICT The returning blinkers could be significant for three-time C&D winner TALENTS AMBITION, who spaced as though his turn might be near again when fourth here last month. Furthermore, Dragon Air Force to have selected him ahead of Romantic Thor, who has some very solid recent form. Dragon Air Force is second choice. [Chris Wilson]
