Coeur Volante

NZB

Breeding barn beckons as in-form mare prepares for one last dance

By Paul Symes

A head of her proposed spring date with Zoustar (Northern Meteor), in-form mare Coeur Volante (Proisir) will bid to embellish her pedigree page further with stakes success in the P.B. Lawrence Stakes (Gr 2, 1400m) next month.

A $500,000 joint acquisition between Bangaloe Stud's Julia Ritchie and Widden Stud, Coeur Volante has already recouped more than half her $500,000 purchase price thanks chiefly to a hat-trick of city victories and, should she continue her winning ways at Caulfield in mid-

August, her partners would very nearly recover their entire outlay from just five starts.

With Coeur Volante bought primarily as a broodmare prospect, Ritchie freely admits that the five-year-old's recent racetrack returns have been a very welcome bonus and, provided the daughter of Rich Hill Stud's resident Proisir (Choisir) retains her appetite for racing, connections are keen to press on with her prosperous preparation for at least one more outing.

"We already knew we'd bought a very nice broodmare, but her recent wins have really been the icing on the cake," Ritchie told ANZ News.

Snowden chasing a record Ramornie success

Peter Snowden will be bidding to land a record-extending seventh win in the Ramornie Handicap (Listed, 1200m) on Saturday, but his chances have been dealt a blow after Fire Star (Deep Field) drew barrier 14 of 16 in the handicap contest. Snowden has a remarkable record in the Ramornie with six wins in 16 years from Ka Bling (Capitalist) (2024), Ranges (Shooting To Win) (2022), Signore Fox (Exceed And Excel) (2020), Calanda (Snitzel) (2017), Jerezana (Lonhro) (2011) and Pinwheel (Lonhro) (2010). Michael Beattie, the CRJC chief executive, said he was "extremely pleased" with the quality of fields for the Ramornie Handicap and Grafton Cup.

Continued from page 2 “We gave her a long break, and when she returned to the stables at Lindsay Park she showed the [Hayes] boys that she still had the ticker for racing. The stable is obviously loving how she’s been going, as are we, so until she tells us otherwise then we’ll keep going and hopefully she can keep winning.

“At this stage the P.B. Lawrence will be her grand final, then she’ll need some time to let down in a paddock before heading to the breeding barn. She’s thriving and when mares are in form then you’d be mad not to keep running them, although in the past she’s let the boys know once she’s had enough so we’ll be guided by them. But at this stage, it’s all systems go for the P.B. Lawrence.”

Should she add a fourth black type triumph to an already impressive CV, the door remains ajar for Coeur Volante to continue racing throughout her six-year-old campaign but in all likelihood she will be retired next month to prepare for her first date with Zoustar, who has mounted a sterling defence of his Australian Sires’ Premiership crown but will ultimately cede his title to Snitzel (Redoute’s Choice).

Given that Zoustar stands at the ‘Valley of Champions’ and Ritchie is a part-owner of the Widden wonder, having paid $1.3 million for a share through the Inglis Digital Sale in 2024, the identity of Coeur Volante’s first suitor wasn’t exactly a mystery. Under her Bangaloe Stud banner, over the past few years Ritchie has set about acquiring shares in several of the country’s most sought-after – not to mention expensive – stallions.

At this year’s Magic Millions National Broodmare Sale, before successfully bidding on both Thalassophile (Not A Single Doubt) and Complicit (Blame), Ritchie shelled out $735,000 for a piece of Extreme Choice (Not A Single Doubt) – largely as it was the only way of gaining access to one of the world’s most prolific producers of equine gold.

In light of Extreme Choice’s well-documented fertility challenges, it was perhaps a risky strategy but Ritchie felt the rewards far outweigh any potential pitfalls as she seeks to upgrade a broodmare band which currently numbers “around 25 that I’ll publicly admit to”.

“It’s really the only way to guarantee getting your foot in the door, especially with a stallion like Extreme Choice,” she told ANZ News.

“As the market changes its configuration, a lot of breeders are realising that you really need to send your mares to quality stallions to keep your returns high at the yearling sales. We’ll be sending Complicit back to Extreme Choice once she has foaled down, so hopefully we can get another positive result there. And Thalassophile will be going to I Am Invincible before we bring her back to the farm.

“I’ll also be sending a couple of mares to Delacroix at Coolmore, because I really like the look of him, and I’ll be supporting Storm Boy not just because I’m a shareholder in him, but also because I really believe he will make a big impact at stud. It’s a pity he didn’t quite realise his potential on the track, but I do think he’ll definitely make it as a stallion.”

While undoubtedly excited by what may come of her expanding association with some of the breeding industry’s hottest properties, it is a filly sired by Extreme Choice’s former Newgate neighbour that is currently occupying Ritchie’s thoughts as Pacific Palisades (North Pacific) prepares to make an unlikely debut at Kembla Grange on Thursday.

While her two trials to date have only been steady rather than spectacular, the fact that the filly is heading to the races at all is nothing short of miraculous, given the bleak prognosis delivered by vets when she the foal born with severe neural damage and was unable to walk for the first few weeks of her life.

Merely keeping her alive was Ritchie’s primary aim at that point, but fast forward a little under four years and Pacific Palisades is set to step out for a first start which, whether she wins or runs last, is likely to bring a tear to her owner’s eye.

“We were actually advised to put the filly

Pacific Palisades as a foal

down for her own sake, but we decided to do everything we could for her and now I’m so glad that we did,” Ritchie told ANZ News.

“She had such severe nerve damage that she couldn’t stand up, and after about a week the vets said that her quality of life would be pretty poor. But when you looked at her, she was really willing her legs to move so we really thought we at least owed her a chance at life. At that point we never thought she’d become a racehorse one day, I just wanted her to be self-sufficient and able to look after herself.

“So it was amazing what the team at Coolmore and the vets and farriers at Oakridge did for her. They made contraptions for her legs out of drainage pipes, and when she was still learning how to walk we used to have to carry her around like a teapot so that she could drink some milk from her mum.

“For a long time she was walking around like Jake The Peg, but slowly she made steady improvements and then when all the gear came off her legs, she was cantering round the paddock like nothing had ever happened. It was amazing to see, and to get to where she is now from such a low bar warms your heart.

“It shows that the breeding industry has a horse’s welfare as the priority, whatever some people from outside the industry will have you believe. It also shows that if you’re prepared to be patient, you can get the results.”

We already knew we’d bought a very nice broodmare, but her recent wins have really been the icing on the cake

Snowden chasing a record Ramornie success

Fire Star

SPORTPIX

Peter Snowden will be bidding to land a record-extending seventh win in the Ramornie Handicap (Listed, 1200m) on Saturday, but his chances have been dealt a blow after Fire Star (Deep Field) drew barrier 14 of 16 in the handicap contest. Snowden has a remarkable record in the Ramornie with six wins in 16 years from Ka Bling (Capitalist) (2024), Ranges (Shooting To Win) (2022), Signore Fox (Exceed And Excel) (2020), Calanda (Snitzel) (2017), Jerezana (Lonhro) (2011) and Pinwheel (Lonhro) (2010). Michael Beattie, the CRJC chief executive, said he was "extremely pleased" with the quality of fields for the Ramornie Handicap and Grafton Cup. "The Ramornie is a bit of a stand-alone for the genuine 1200-metre horse, it's like we are the only show in town at this time of year," Beattie said. "But that is not the case for the Grafton Cup so I am especially pleased with the field we have for Thursday's race. The handicappers have come up with a good weight scale for the Cup and that has virtually 'invited' all the better horses to come for the race."

Stern Idol chasing special win

Champion steeplechaser Stern Idol (Raven's Pass) is among 21 entries for this Saturday's $150,000 Deane Lester Flemington Cup (2800m). The 2800-metre race is named after the late form analyst and media man who was also racing advisor to Stern Idol's managing owner Gerry Ryan. The nine-year-old was set to race in the Mosstrooper Steeplechase on Sunday, but that race was deleted after he was the only acceptor, and trainer Ciaron Maher is eager to get a run into him before the Crisp Steeplechase (4200m) at Sandown on August 2. "I had a chat with Ciaron over in London and it's something that we are considering," Maher's assistant Jack Turnbull said. "I've spoken to Gerry and he's happy to do so. He needs a hitout. Whether or not that's Flemington or at the trials, he'll receive that. He doesn't need to jump, he doesn't need the practice. It's more about just having him go into the race as well as we can have him. I don't think the actual lack of the race will affect his prep, because he is fit."

Spring target for Brown after HK stint

Jockey Ethan Brown now has his sights set on the Australia spring carnival after a successful stint riding in Hong Kong. Brown wrapped up his short-term contract with the Hong Kong Jockey Club on Sunday night at Sha Tin and rode nine winners in the jurisdiction, including a treble at Sha Tin on June 13. "My next focus is the Spring Carnival," Brown told Racing.com. "That'll be my first and foremost focus at the moment, get through that and then what happens after that, I'm not too sure. I'm looking forward to getting back and getting stuck into Melbourne racing. It's been great, I've loved every moment of being here. When I first got here, it was a bit like a deer in headlights, new horses, a new style of racing. It took a couple of meetings to adapt, and I really feel the last month I've picked it up and things are starting to clear up. I came here with not many expectations, I would've been happy to get five winners or so, but to get almost double that, it's been a great trip. I really feel it's sharpened me up as a rider."

Middlebrook Valley Lodge with two additions to team

Scott Williamson

MVL

Middlebrook Valley Lodge has announced two additions to their team heading into the 2026 breeding season. Scott Williamson will come on board as stud manager and comes with vast experience in all aspects of the industry. Starting his career in his native UK, Williamson initially worked at Coolmore and on the stallions at Darley before heading to the US where he worked with the stallions at the famous Lane's End Farm in Kentucky. It was here that his interest in equine biomechanics started, and to this day it is an area of the industry he has great interest in. Coming to Australia in 2008 and joining the team at Widden Stud, Williamson went on to manage Twin Palms Stud in the Lower Hunter, before a four-year stint at Edinglassie Stud under the management of Mick Talty, set him up for the management position at Musk Creek Farm in Victoria, which he held for eight years. Williamson starts on Monday, July 20. Meanwhile, Stephen McNamara has also joined in a client relations/sales role and will be taking on most of the client communications along with the added task of generating new business to the farm. Having spent three years with the Ciaran Maher stable in Sydney, McNamara has built a network of connections that will serve him well as he grows and develops the role.

Cyril Small suffers stroke

Cyril Small, famous as the rider of the great front-runner Vo Rogue (Ivor Prince), has been hospitalised after suffering a massive stroke. The 67-year-old became seriously ill on Saturday and was rushed to Gold Coast University Hospital, the Queensland Jockeys' Association confirmed via a media statement yesterday. The former jockey's breathing is being assisted by a ventilator, the inflammation in his brain has reduced and he is starting to show signs of improvement. "Cyril has a long journey ahead of him and will need all the fighting spirit he is famous for to get through this," the QJA statement said. "Braidon and Daniel [sons] rushed from Victoria [Saturday night] to be at his bedside along with his wife Lynlea, daughter Jessica as well as family friends Jeff Perry and his daughter Cymone. The Small family want to thank the expert care of the paramedics and the doctors and nurses at Gold Coast University hospital but have requested privacy at this time and thank everyone for their thoughts and prayers and will provide updates to the Queensland Jockeys' Association through Glen Prentice in due course."

Hassman has day to remember at Ruakaka

Apprentice jockey Hayley Hassman had a day to remember at Ruakaka on Saturday, where she rode a winning treble, the second of her career. "It was great to get those three wins and to do it for three small trainers was pretty sweet," Hassman said. The Matamata rider kicked off the day riding home Cowboy (Reliable Man) to record the first win for Cambridge trainers Maija Vance and Josh King, before striking again in the following race for Maija's parents, Bob and Jenny Vance, aboard Nicconi County (Nicconi), and later on the day she took out the meeting's feature, the Whangarei Gold Cup (2100m), aboard the Wayne Hillis and Reece Cole-trained Drop Of Something (Telperion). "That was a really dominant performance by Cowboy," Hassman said. "He has always been there or thereabouts, he just hasn't had the best of luck, but he put things together really nicely and he should go on with it. Nicconi County has always been up to that grade but he just over raced quite a bit in his past. The drop back to 65 grade got his confidence up and then he put away a 75 field quite nicely. He is a beautiful ride now and put things together well. It was so cool to ride Drop Of Something. Wayne is actually my landlord and he is always trying to book me and he finally got me, so it was really cool to get a win for him. I am going to ride him in the Taumarunui Cup, so it is great that I get to stick with him. He is another game horse." The treble brought Hassman's season tally to 51 wins, drawing level with Sam McNab in third place on the apprentice jockey's premiership, with Amber Riddell sitting at the top of the standings on 76 wins, with Elen Nicholas in second place with 59 wins.

Late bookings?

By Lloyd Jackson

The foaling season is only weeks away and the breeding season kicks off merely four weeks after that, beginning September 1st. Consequently, stallion advertising in New Zealand has suddenly ramped up and metropolitan results from Melbourne and Sydney in particular this past weekend will have buoyed some studs and stud masters.

Four winners on Saturday's Caulfield card were bred and foaled in New Zealand. In Sydney there were three more while in Adelaide there was one. As is often the case, wins by Prince Eric (Time Test), First Chorus (Ghibellines) and Prickly Poppy (Belardo) are sidenotes since both Time Test (Dubawi) and Belardo (Lope De Vega) have been banished whereas Ghibellines (Shamardal) has been lost to the ranks due to his recent passing.

That meant Rich Hill Stud's Proisir (Choisir), Cambridge Stud's Hello Youmzain (Kodiac) as well as Westbury Stud's Tarzino (Tavistock) and El Roca (Fastnet Rock) flew the flag for the Kiwis. Proisir also had a notable impressive debut winner at Ruakaka, discussed later in the column.

Caulfield's Jockey Watch Handicap (1400m) winner Cruiserweight (Hello Youmzain) looks something out of the ordinary, maybe a future star, based not only on his unbeaten record, but also the way he has dealt to his opponents. Hello Youmzain's Drops Of God was given a big rap by this column after her Cambridge Breeders' Stakes (Gr 3, 1200m) back in April, suggesting she might be the one to set the Hello Youmzain story alight.

Cruiserweight is another with the potential

First Chorus

to push Hello Youmzain to the fore among New Zealand stallions, assisted by post-win comments from his co-trainer JD Hayes: "He's raw and has plenty of upside. This was only a three-year-old race in July, but the way he did it, and with so much improvement still to come, hopefully he can end up where we think he can."

Taranaki trainer Allan Sharrock found him at Karaka in Book 2 of NZB's 2024 Karaka Yearling Sale, securing him for $40,000 but waited until late May the following year to see what he had. Named Opetiaia, the youngster led his 800m Foxton trial from barrier rise and was doing it comfortably at the line, his only test at two.

A second trial, at three, last October over 1000m at Awapuni, he sat back, circled the field to lead at the top of the straight and was held together to the line for another comfortable win.

Two trials, two wins. What would raceday reveal? Raceday revealed that the gelding was ready. He sat second at the 600m, took over at the top of the straight then powered away to win by almost six lengths, doing it easily at the post.

Goodbye Opetiaia, hello Cruiserweight

In no surprise, head-hunting agents with deep-pocketed Australian clients could not resist and the renamed Cruiserweight was transported to Victoria where he made his Australian debut at the May 22nd Flemington trials (second) followed by a trial win at the same course a week later. At Swan Hill over 1200m on June 7th he picked up his race record where he left off, taking over at the 200m and under hands and heels went to the line a clear winner.

A step up in class for Saturday's win didn't go smoothly when rider Craig Williams tracked a tiring runner at a crucial stage of the race, forcing him to go back then wide around the last corner. Sharing last into line he produced a strong run to lead at the 100m before coming away. "Once I got him into his rhythm, he won quite easily. He's still very raw but has really good ability, and it's going to be exciting to see what path they take with him," said Williams.

Cruiserweight's sire Hello Youmzain has three crops racing in the northern hemisphere with his oldest south of the equator rising four-year-olds. To date he has sired 133 individual winners, among them 13 stakes winners (five at Group level) and further 17 stakes-placed performers.

Cruiserweight is the first foal from Medal O'Rose (Medaglia D'Oro), a placed half-sister to Riccarton Listed 2YO stakes winner Al Hasa (Exceed And Excel). Their dam, Oasis Rose (Oasis Dream) possessed sufficient class to run second in the New Zealand 2,000 Guineas (Gr 1, 1600m), behind Sacred Falls (O'Reilly). Far and away the best runner in the family is international three-times Group 1 winner Doctor Dino (Muhtathir) whose half-sister is Cruiserweight's great grandam. Oasis Rose had just three foals and Medal O'Rose is her only filly.

Proisir's double double

The 2025-26 Grosvenor Award (Leading New Zealand Sire) winner looks to be Proisir (Choisir) whose first title took place two seasons ago. The season almost ended, his lead of some $330,000 appears to be sufficiently large enough to hold off the late Savabeel (Zabeel).

Saturday was a very good day for Rich Hill Stud's star attraction. In Melbourne his Coeur Volante continued on her winning way, forging win seven from 20 starts including her last three in succession, banking more than $840,000.

The $90,000 NZB 2022 Karaka Yearling sale graduate and subsequent three-times Group winner was sold last year as a breeding prospect. She returned to the track in May to record a Listed third placing in the Bel Esprit Stakes (1100m) prior to her current treble of Sandown and Caulfield open class wins. Purchased for $500,000 on-line, her new owners have recouped more than $260,000. The mare is rising six and who is to say she can't add to her record this coming season? Her current form suggests it would be a most worthwhile opportunity.

In Sydney Leovanni (Proisir) took her record to two wins and eight placings from 13 starts, her win on Saturday at Randwick on the back of her breakthrough maiden success at Tamworth at the beginning of this month.

Proisir

RICH HILL STUD

It has taken the four-year-old mare a while to figure out this racing business as she arrived at Tamworth with five runner-up finishes and three third placings.

The TAB Highweight Plate (1600m) was clearly a different class from a Tamworth maiden but she didn't know that and ran down the hot favourite to score nicely. Her consistency is to be admired and judging from this effort there is more in store.

Not unlike Coeur Volante, she has been through three auctions. She made $22,000 as a yearling on Gavelhouse and the following year went through the 2023 NZB Ready To Run Sale, fetching $210,000. Placed in four of her six races at three she was again sold (on-line) for $40,000. Saturday's win has brought her career earnings to $114,850. Her new owners have banked $92,350.

Proisir's third winner for the day was at Ruakaka where Latoya made a big impression when taking out the ITM/GIB 2YO (1200m). The two-year-old's debut was much anticipated as a trial winner but more importantly, she is a sister to $3 million earner and five-times Group 1 champion Legarto (Proisir), sold recently at the Magic Millions National Broodmare Sale for $2.8 million.

From barrier ten (of ten), Latoya was forced to sit three wide throughout, made her run before they straightened and formed a line of three at the 300m. Rider Jasmine Fawcett sat quietly until the 50m before asking the filly to let down, which she did, drawing out by a length at the line. "She relaxed beautifully there and she had the ability to get the job done," said Fawcett.

Latoya has big shoes to fill but this effort showed she has plenty of potential to live up to big sis's stellar reputation. Geordie Girl (Towkay), their dam, has been retired from the breeding barn and Latoya is the last of her five live foals.

Proisir's fourth winner, Prioress, scored the open handicap over 1200m at Hawera, the 7YO mare's sixth career win for earnings in excess of $230,000.

Another little sis

Similar to Latoya, another younger sister, this time to the top-class Gypsy Goddess (Tarzino), also won at her first attempt, in Saturday's Elite Sand and Soil Handicap (1400m) for two-year-olds.

Proxima Dea (Tarzino) was first into stride and did all the donkey work to the 300m where she was hotly challenged. At the 100m she was finally headed but she wasn't about to give in and fought back to be level before thrusting her head out at the post. This was one gutsy effort and she fully deserved the win.

Older sister Gypsy Goddess was a fabulous performer who raced just ten times for six wins and four placings, winning her first five starts including the Grand Prix Stakes (Gr 3, 2100m). In the autumn of her 3YO season she returned to finish third in Vinery Stud Stakes (Gr 1, 1850m) at Newcastle, then second in the Australian Oaks (Gr 1, 2400m) and was too strong when landing the Queensland Oaks (Gr 1, 2200m).

Her sole run at four was a cracker, a rousing third from an awkward rails position to I Wish I Win (Savabeel) and Fangirl (Sebring) in the

WESTBURY STUD

2022 running of The Golden Eagle (1500m) which drew a superb field. Just ten races, close to $2 million in earnings and it was all over. Gypsy Goddess was sold to Japanese interests and has since foaled a filly by Japanese Champion Kitanasan Black (Black Tide). Proxima Dea was the sole lot by Tarzino at the 2025 Wm Inglis Easter Yearling Sale and was secured by Ciaran Maher Bloodstock for $300,000.

Nicely related

Yet another nicely related filly scored her maiden win this past Saturday. Ebony Bassett (Wootton Bassett) won at her second attempt, impressively bagging the Betavet NZ Maiden (1200m) at Hawera for her breeder and owner, Novara Park's Luigi Muollo.

Sitting second, just back and outside the leader, the 3YO filly ranged up and took over soon after straightening. The closer she got to the line the further she went in front and was full of running at the post by three and a half lengths. She is one for your Black Book.

Her dam is Signora Nera (Sweynessee), not only a Sydney winner who ran third in the Queensland Oaks (Gr 1, 2200m), but also a sister to Hong Kong star sprinter Lucky Sweynessee (Sweynessee). Muollo bred them both under his Explosive Breeding banner. Ebony Bassett is Signora Nera's first foal.

Muollo is busy promoting his stallions Sweynessee (Lonhro), Staphanos (Deep Impact). King Of Comedy (Kingman) and his latest acquisition, The Foxes (Churchill) in advance of the upcoming breeding season.

The NZTBA has just released the 2026 New Zealand Stallion Register. Each stallion is assigned a double page spread and each is treated identically from a promotion point of view. In The Foxes case, the register has its limitations, especially regarding a stallion's female line. For his television and on-line advertising, Muollo has done a super job of outlining the incredible family that The Foxes represents. Look out for it when next viewing New Zealand Tracksides.
