Cautious optimism ahead of Magic Millions National Yearling Sale

Trainers and agents do homework in the hope of striking gold in buyers' market

The National Yearling Sale starts today at 10am

MAGIC MILLIONS

BY TIM ROWE | @ANZ_NEWS

Vendors, left without “many more throws of the dice”, are hoping that the dramatic surge in betting turnover on racing and renewed interest in the sport in recent months can help fuel end-user demand for racing stock at the Magic Millions National Yearling Sale.

The two-day sale, bringing an end to the jam-packed national broodmare, weanling and now yearling and racehorse auction on the Gold Coast, could provide further illumination about the overall appetite for ownership investment, particularly by those playing below the top-end of the market.

The buying bench at the National Yearling Sale has taken a hit with Victorians unable to attend due to the out-of-control nature of the coronavirus in their home state and some Sydneysiders have also been locked out of Queensland.

Despite that, stakeholders were somewhat surprised by those potential buyers who were on the Gold Coast yesterday, with a number of agents either staying on or arriving for the sale while interstate and local trainers have also made an effort to attend.

Wattle Bloodstock's Peter Twomey, Neil Jenkinson and Olly Koolman as well as Sheamus Mills, Bevan Smith and Paul Willetts were among those agents finalising their short lists under blue skies yesterday.

Brisbane trainer Kelly Schweida and a host of syndicators including Dynamic, Prime Thoroughbreds, Flying Start and Darby Racing were also on the ground conducting inspections.

Koolman is attending the National yearling sale for the first time and compiled lists of potential candidates for various clients and entities who could not be on the Gold Coast themselves.

The agent was upbeat about the outlook for the industry which had survived and prospered since equine influenza and the GFC.

"I just think the way prize-money is, there's still an opportunity. You don't need to spend $300,000-$400,000 on a horse to get a winner. You are racing on Saturday for pretty good money," Koolman told ANZ Bloodstock News.

"If we can keep racing going, we're the winner. Racing's survived everything. We didn't fall over in the war, EI didn't knock us down and I don't think the pandemic will either. We're too resilient; we're too much fun, we're a sport that everyone can get involved in and I'll back it all the way."

Magic Millions bloodstock manager Clint Donovan took heart from what was achieved at last week's broodmare and weanling sales but believes that if there was a segment of the market to take a hit, it could be the yearlings.

"There's no doubt that it will be challenging from a sales company and vendor point of view, but I think there will be some really nice horses who will be well found by the buying bench but that might be one in every 15 or so," Donovan said.

"There's going to be some big opportunities on horses that in previous years might have been $40,000 and $50,000 that will be making $15,000 and $20,000.

"This sale is different (to last week's) as we are dealing with the complete end-user scenario with these yearlings, barring a few people looking to trade into the two-year-old sale.

"There is confidence with the racing keeping on going, touch wood, and the fact that betting turnover is up through this period then we're certainly cautiously optimistic that we can have some sort of success over the next two days."

Given that vendors have been prepared to bring their yearlings - or new season two-year-olds as they are now - to the Gold Coast, Donovan says buyers can be confident that sellers will be prepared to put their horses on the market in order to move them on.

He said: "They are here to sell and there Continued on page 5>>

Raheen Stud's Basil Nolan, who is also president of Thoroughbred Breeders Australia and has four lots to go through the ring, reaffirmed Donovan's view.

"I think people realise that we have continued to race and to continue to race we need horses for that, so I think a lot of trainers have surprised me really that they are here," Nolan said yesterday.

"Leading trainers from Sydney have made the effort to get here and hopefully they go home with a nice horse.

"As for vendors, we haven't got many more throws of the dice, so we have got to lower our sights and move on."

The progeny of stallions such as American Pharoah (Pioneer of The Nile), Brazen Beau (I Am Invincible), Capitalist (Written Tycoon), Deep Field (Northern Meteor), Dundee (High Chaparral), Pierro (Lonhro) and the recently crowned leading first season sire Pride Of Dubai (Street Cry) are all represented in the National sale.

Four-time champion sire Snitzel (Redoute's Choice) also has four lots catalogued, while stock by So You Think (High Chaparral), Written Tycoon (Iglesia) and Zoustar (Northern Meteor) are also on offer.

MORNING BRIEFING

AUSTRALIA

Optimism that Vic racing can continue

Victorian racing authorities are confident that strict biosecurity protocols will allow racing to continue in the state, despite Melbourne shifting to tougher Covid-19 restrictions as of last night. Victorian premier Daniel Andrews yesterday announced that metropolitan Melbourne would be subject to a curfew between 8pm and 5am, with strict travel restrictions also in place. Yesterday's announcement dealt with day-to-day living, with a further statement expected today as to the effect on workplaces, with racing's continuation expected to be addressed by the government. Racing Victoria said: "Until otherwise advised, racing and training is continuing under the strict biosecurity protocols that have safely guided the Victorian racing industry throughout the past four-and-a-half months without a Covid-19 case."

Baker happy with Kiss The Bride

Bjorn Baker began the season strongly at Randwick on Saturday with a double thanks to Kiss The Bride (Savabeel) and Off Shaw (Tobique). The well-bred Kiss The Bride, the first foal out of Group 1 winner I Do (No Excuse Needed), relished the 1800-metre slog on a heavy track to score by a neck in what was a gutsy performance. "He didn't show a whole heap early on but he has continued to improve," Baker said. "I do think he is better on top of the ground and I think it was mainly guts, a good ride from James McDonald and a never-give-in attitude that got him home. There's not a whole heap of races for him at present so I'm going to have to give it some thought on where we go to with him. I'd like to think we will be looking at some of the staying stakes races but that might still be a preparation away. It was great to kick off the season on a positive note, to get two on the first day of the new year is a real boost."

Four in a row for Tigre Royale

The promising Tigre Royale (Redwood) made it four in a row as he continued his rise through the grades with a length and three-quarter win over 2400 metres at Sandown yesterday. Purchased for NZ$8,000 at the 2017 South Island Yearling Sale, Tigre Royale has now won $191,825 in prize-money. "It's incredible, and full credit to all of my staff, and Cheryl Weller who we use down at the beach, and everyone that has something to do with this horse," trainer Archie Alexander said. "I think he's been in work for ten months and to win four-in-a-row, you can't see a rib on him, he's in great form. He's not at all tired and we've kept him ticking along. The horse is going from strength-to-strength. Twelve months ago, we didn't have a huge opinion of him and he's kept on improving. We thought he was a nice enough stayer and he's proving us wrong now and he could be better than we thought."

Wrong horse brought to Sandown

Trainer John McArdle was left red-faced after presenting the wrong horse to race at Sandown yesterday. McArdle was set to saddle up Drone Strike (Smart Missile) for her first run since February, but the three-year-old filly was withdrawn when it was discovered the stable had instead brought four-year-old mare Wandjinapine (Wandjina) to the course. McArdle was fined $1,000 by stewards and said it was just a simple mistake. "The horses were in the paddock together and the girl who got her out of the yard simply got the wrong horse," McArdle said. "It was just a case of human error."

Vic apprentices cleared of wrongdoing

Teo Nugent and Lachlan King were cleared yesterday after stewards brought a three-week inquiry into a Caulfield race last month to a close. Nugent aboard the John Hickmott-trained France's Boy (Equiano) and King on Surreal Image (Akeed Mofeed) for Kevin Corstens went toe-to-toe on the speed in the middle of a 1700-metre handicap on July 11, with the pair going 10 lengths clear of their rivals. Both weakened out to miss the placings. While stewards, having taken evidence into account, believed that both riders misjudged the pace, they did not believe they could make a running and handling case. Consequently, both riders were handed a severe reprimand.

Murphy appointed SA jockey coach

Former rider Darryn Murphy has begun a new role as a coach and mentor for emerging jockeys coming through Thoroughbred Racing South Australia's (TRSA) South Australian Apprentice Academy. Murphy, who has held a similar role in Turkey, is excited for the opportunity to work with promising riders like Sophie Logan, Lachie Neindorf, Teagan Voorham and Maggie Collett, among others. "This is a dream job for me and something I am very passionate about," Murphy told Racing.com. "I am looking forward to assisting our young riding brigade in their career development and not just with their skill sets. Confidence and belief is such a big part of race riding and I will be trying to bring that to the group as well. I will be working at as many race meetings as possible around the state and supplying feedback on not only techniques and styles but also providing support on things such as preparation and post-race analysis."

Bred To Win returns

Tomorrow night will see the return of Bred To Win, Caroline Searcy's breeding-focused programme on Sky Thoroughbred Central. Searcy will visit some of this season's new stallions, including Castelveccio (Dundeel) at Arrowfield Stud and Vinery's Exceedance (Exceed And Excel), while she also discusses the fourth Arrowfield Stud champion sire title for Snitzel (Redoute's Choice) with Arrowfield principal John Messara. Bred To Win will be screened at 8:30pm tomorrow night on Sky Thoroughbred Central and will also be live-streamed on the Racing NSW homepage.

NEW ZEALAND

Vale Rip Van Winkle

Windsor Park Stud announced the death of Rip Van Winkle (Galileo) yesterday at the age of 14 after a short illness. Rip Van Winkle, a three-time Group 1 winner who was twice named world champion miler when trained by Aidan O'Brien, had shuttled from Ireland to New Zealand from 2011 until 2016; he remained at Windsor Park permanently after the 2016 season. While Rip Van Winkle was a consistent sire of winners, he was entering the upcoming breeding season off his best year to date, having produced his first two New Zealand Group 1 winners: trans-Tasman superstar Te Akau Shark and dominant filly Jennifer Eccles. "It's a devastating blow for us and the industry losing a successful sire, especially one who has just enjoyed a great season on the racetrack," Windsor Park Stud's Rodney Schick said. "We can only look forward to the remaining crops he has to come and to the impact his daughters are sure to make at stud."

Bosson not far from return

Big-race rider Opie Bosson is preparing for another season as Te Akau Racing's stable jockey with his return to the races slated for the August 12 meeting at Taupo. Bosson, who turned 40 on July 24, rode 18 horses at the Te Rapa trials on July 28 as he geared up for his return. "My fitness is pretty good," Bosson said. "I'm still working out in the gym at Te Akau and I'm much lighter than I was at the same time last season. I've been riding a lot of nice horses for the last few seasons and while it's not for me to say how well I'm riding, I'm always trying to limit mistakes. I go out there with a plan: A, B, and C, and see how the race unfolds. But I do get disappointed with myself if I make a mistake." Bosson is excited for his spring battalion, including Need I Say More (No Nay Never), who caught the eye at Te Rapa: "Need I Say More could be one to follow after trialling so well at Te Rapa, and he's already won a Group 3 in two starts. He's got such a big stride and I think he'll handle better footing."

Judy causes Te Aroha surprise

Trainer David Greene received a pleasant surprise at Te Aroha yesterday when debutant Judy's Song (Niagara) raced away in the closing stages of a 1200-metre maiden to score an unexpected victory. Greene had earmarked the four-year-old as a potential stayer that would need more ground before showing her best, but she produced a stunning performance in the hands of apprentice Tegan Newman as she came from near last on the home bend to win decisively by three and a half lengths. "She had only had the one trial over 900 metres and was outpaced most of the way so we weren't expecting too much today," Greene said. "In saying that her last 100 metres that day and then past the post was very good but I did think 1200 metres would be too short for her. I was actually going to give her another trial and maybe then line her up over a mile so it's great to get a win on raceday here instead. The heavy track certainly helped but she was very impressive in the final furlong and very strong at the finish."

INTERNATIONAL

15 for Bated Breath

Cairn Gorm (2 c ex In Your Time by Dalakhani) retained his unbeaten record and provided jet-setting jockey Tom Marquand with another international stakes race victory when taking the Prix de Cabourg (Gr 3, 1200m) yesterday at Deauville in France. The British raider defeated compatriot Jubilation (Acclamation) by a length with Prince Lancelot (Sir Prancealot) back in third. The winner became the fifteenth stakes winner for his sire, Bated Breath (Dansili) who stands at Juddmonte Farms in Great Britain for £12,500 (approx AUD$22,900).

Watch Me victorious

Watch Me (Olympic Glory) landed the second Group 1 victory of her career yesterday at Deauville when narrowly taking the Prix Rothschild (Gr 1, 1600m) by defeating Half Light (Shamardal) and Know It All (Lord Kanaloa) in a tight finish. Watch Me travelled well for most of the race, and moved readily to the front when asked by French champion Pierre-Charles Boudot, but she had to fight hard to repel the sustained challenges of the second and third placed fillies, both of whom ran with great credit. A shock winner at Royal Ascot when taking the Coronation Stakes (Gr 1, 1m) at 20/1 as a three-year-old, Watch Me was a short priced favourite for this contest. The daughter of Olympic Glory (Choisir) is a half-sister to dual British winner The Emperor Within (Holy Roman Emperor).

Wisdom wins Well

Well Of Wisdom (Oasis Dream) gained a deserved win in the Prix de Tourgeville (Listed, 1600m) at Deauville, having acted as companion and pacemaker for Pinatubo (Dubawi) at Group 1 level last time out in France. He was perhaps fortunate to win, with the runner up Kenway (Galiway) enduring a horror passage throughout the final stages of the race, and just failing to real in the winner. Charlesquint (Showcasing) was close up in third. Well Of Wisdom is a half-brother to three stakes race winners, including multiple Group 1 winner in Australia, Avilius (Pivotal). Oasis Dream (Green Desert) stands at Juddmonte's Banstead Manor Stud in Great Britain for £25,000 (approx AUD$45,800).

Dettori and Gosden take German Oaks

Frankie Dettori

GETTY IMAGES

The powerful combination of John Gosden and Frankie Dettori teamed up to win the Henkel-Preis der Diana (German Oaks, Gr 1, 2200m) with Miss Yoda (Sea The Stars) at Dusseldorf yesterday. The winner made the most of a good draw in stall one to defeat Zamrud (Samum) and Virginia Joy (Soldier Hollow). The daughter of Sea The Stars added a valuable bit of Group 1 black type to her record and became her sire's 14th individual Group 1 winner. Miss Yoda was a €280,000 purchase from the 2018 Baden Baden Yearling Sales; her dam Monami (Sholakhov) won a German Group 2 while Sea The Stars stands at Gilltown Stud in Ireland for €150,000 (approx AUD$247,000) in 2020.

Six for Belardo

Titan Rock provided Belardo (Lope De Vega) with his sixth winner when taking out the EBF Maiden Stakes (7f) at Goodwood on Saturday for trainer John Quinn and jockey Daniel Tudhope. Despite ducking to his right on leaving the stalls and racing keenly, the colt stayed on well to defeat Raging Rascal (Coulsty) and Longlai (Shalaa) by half a length. Quinn was full of praise for his galloper after the race, saying: "He's a fine, big animal and I said to the owner we're getting a good bit back on what you paid for him so it's worth it. He's a grand colt." The winner is a half-brother to Listed winner Argentero (Zoffany) and his dam, the Pivotal mare Frabjous, is a half-sister to French Group 1 winner May Ball (Cadeaux Genereux). Belardo stands at Haunui Farm in New Zealand for NZ$10,000.

Belardo

Entries open for 2021 Inglis yearling sale series

BY TIM ROWE

Inglis has unveiled its 2021 sale dates with the company's Classic, Premier and Australian Easter yearling sales maintaining their traditional places on the calendar but the auction house yesterday confirmed that two smaller auctions would be altered next year.

The HTBA Scone Yearling Sale, held at Riverside Stables last month, will now be permanently staged in Sydney after a number of high-profile metropolitan trainers bolstered the buying bench at the auction, which is normally conducted at White Park.

The Melbourne Gold Yearling Sale has also been pushed back from a planned April date to mid-May to avoid a probable clash with the New Zealand Bloodstock Karaka Yearling Sale.

NZB is expected to announce on August 31 that its 2021 Karaka sale, normally held in the last week in January, will take place from April 19 in the hope that a trans-Tasman travel bubble will be implemented by the respective Australian and New Zealand governments by then to allow international buyers to attend.

"There is no disguising that the year to date has generated a huge number of challenges, but we have worked very hard as a team to help vendors achieve optimum outcomes in as many instances as possible," Inglis general manager of bloodstock sales and marketing Sebastian Hutch said.

"It has been hugely rewarding to see the growth in key metrics across sales like Classic and Premier in particular and while it was disappointing to have circumstances conspire against what was on-track to be the best ever Easter Yearling Sale, our experiences this year have made us even more determined to leave no stone unturned in pursuit of the best results for our patrons.

"Each of the Highway Session at Classic, the Showcase Session at Premier, the Gold Yearling Sale and the Scone Yearling Sale posted remarkable figures under the circumstances and in the case of the latter sale, this year's results have prompted a further expansion of it.

Inglis has revealed its 2021 sales calendar

"Our sales offer a depth and variety of buyers that is unparalleled and this is something we work extremely hard on, right throughout the year."

The Classic sale is scheduled for February 7 to 9, the Melbourne Premier for Feb 28 to Mar 2 and the flagship Easter auction for April 6 and 7. The rebranded HTBA May Yearling Sale will be expanded to two days and be conducted on May 2 and 3.

The Melbourne Gold Yearling Sale will then follow at Oaklands Junction on Sunday, May 16.

"Whether attending a sale in person, working with members of our bloodstock team or bidding through our online platform – which recorded over 3600 individual bids through our yearling sales series this year – we are in a position to offer a standard of service to our buyers which is unmatched and this is something our vendors can have huge confidence in," Hutch said.

"As a team we have demonstrated the capacity to work effectively with vendors through any number of challenges this year and it will stand us in good stead over the next 12 months and beyond.

"The very simple fact is buyers want to spend their money on horses that will help them to win the best races and Inglis offers more of those than anyone else – our sales have produced double the number of Group 1 winners of any other Australasian auction house over the past three years."

The most controversial part of Inglis' announcement is likely to be the fact that the company will no longer hold the HTBA sale in Scone.

Last month, after holding the Scone sale in Sydney due to Covid-19 restrictions, Inglis managing director Mark Webster said: "It's the first time we've held a Scone sale in Sydney and I think the results were really encouraging. There were buyers who don't normally attend the Scone sale.

"They were here for the Easter sale and they found Scone yearlings in the catalogue that they wouldn't normally have purchased and John Hawkes is the classic example of that buying the top lot for $180,000 and another couple for around $70,000.

"That is something for us to think about with the Scone sale in terms of the format and the timing and possibly even the location. We shouldn't just carry on as normal, we should stop and think about it."

Entries for the 2021 Inglis sales close on August 21.
