Everest-winning colt Yes Yes Yes' career cut short after tendon injury

Royal Ascot campaign abandoned as son of Rubick retired to Coolmore Stud

BY TIM ROWE | @ANZ_NEWS

The Coolmore hierarchy is disappointed that The Everest (1200m) winner Yes Yes Yes (Rubick) did not get the chance to race on the international stage nor add a Group 1 to his CV, but they believe the three-year-old has done more than enough to warrant a spot on their stallion roster.

There were plans for the Chris Waller-trained colt to resume in the Black Caviar

Lightning Stakes (Gr 1, 1000m) at Flemington on Saturday week in a campaign that was directed towards the Diamond Jubilee Stakes (Gr 1, 6f) at Royal Ascot in June.

But the racing career of the Todman Stakes (Gr 2, 1200m)-winning juvenile, who cemented his stallion credentials with a victory in last year's $14 million Everest, came to an immediate halt with confirmation that the colt had sustained a tendon injury to his nearside foreleg.

Coolmore's Tom Magnier yesterday said that while a "wonderful journey has ended" for Waller and his team "another was just beginning".

"Like all at Chris Waller Racing and anyone else ever involved with this son of Rubick, we are certain that Yes Yes Yes takes to his new career at stud with credentials that will see him succeed in transmitting to his progeny the same qualities of speed and precocity, allied with a wonderful temperament, that took him to the pinnacle of achievement on the track," Magnier said.

Coolmore bought a 50 per cent stake in Yes Yes Yes after he won last season's Todman Stakes. He would subsequently come from last to finish seventh in the Golden Slipper Stakes (Gr 1, 1200m) two weeks later on a Heavy 8 surface.

He returned in the spring to finish second twice to Bivouac (Exceed And Excel) in the Run To The Rose (Gr 2, 1200m) and Golden Rose (Gr 1, 1400m) before the gamble to run him in The Everest paid significant dividends.

Yes Yes Yes' introductory service fee has already been discussed by Coolmore decision-makers, but a firm price and public release will not be made until later in the autumn, most likely around Inglis Australian Easter Yearling Sale time in April.

With competition from potential first season stallions this year, including Group 1-winning three-year-olds Bivouac (Exceed And Excel), Exceedance (Exceed And Excel) as well as Microphone (Exceed And Excel), Super Seth (Dundeel) and Castelvechio (Dundeel), how Yes Yes

Yes' service fee is priced will be one of the key talking points.

Randwick Bloodstock Agency's Brett Howard believes the fact that Yes Yes Yes does not have a Group 1 victory on his record is more than counteracted by his track record-breaking Everest win where he defeated ten individual elite level winners.

"I think The Everest is the

Yes Yes Yes pictured as a yearling premier 1200-metre sprint in Australia," Howard told ANZ Bloodstock News.

"It's run at weight for age and it attracts the best possible field, so if anything, it's the equivalent to a 'super Group 1' without actually having the Group 1 tag next to its name."

Howard predicted a game of cat and mouse between studmasters as they attempt to set competitive service fees for the 2020 breeding season.

"There's a lot of water to flow under the bridge before they announce the fee (for Yes Yes Yes)," he said.

"What Rubick does in the next month or two might have a bearing on the service fee as well.

"It will also depend on what some of the other horses going to stud stand for. Traditionally, Coolmore tends to be near the end in terms of farms announcing their fees."

How emerging stallions such as Rubick (Encosta De Lago), who stood for an increased fee of $38,500 (inc GST) in 2019, Deep Field (Northern Meteor) and first crop two-year-old sires including Vancouver (Medaglia d'Oro), Pride Of Dubai (Street Cry), Headwater (Exceed And Excel) and Press Statement (Hinchinbrook) perform in the coming months could also determine the price bracket the new brigade fit into.

"It just gets down to how some of the stallions with now two-year-olds, three-year-olds and even four-year-olds - the first, second and third crop stallions - fare over the next three or four months. They will have an influence on how the first season stallions are received (by breeders)," Howard said.

"If some of those horses really fire up, it draws breeders' focus to those horses. People are then happy to support those stallions and likewise the proven horses as well.

"Ideally, breeders can't send all their mares to unproven stallions. Given the choice, I think every breeder in Australia would love for there to be more proven stallions in the market.

"But the fact is, that's not the case, so you have to mix it around with the unproven and proven stallions."

Yes Yes Yes was set to participate in an exhibition gallop at Randwick's Expressway Stakes (Gr 2, 1200m) meeting on Saturday, but Waller called that off after heat in a leg was detected in the morning. Scans subsequently confirmed the tendon injury, which forced connections to retire the valuable colt.

Waller announced Yes Yes Yes' retirement in a statement early yesterday after revealing that the "very special colt" would need nine to 12 months' recuperation if he was to race again.

"Yes Yes Yes does not present as lame or sore," Waller said.

"However, despite it being at the minor end of the scale of a tendon injury, the vet does assure me that if we were to push on with his campaign, it could quickly become a more significant problem and, as with any horse, this cannot be contemplated.

"It has been a brief but amazing ride with a wonderful colt and I am sure will make a great stallion in the future given the talent and ability he possessed as a racehorse."

A $200,000 Magic Millions Gold Coast Yearling Sale graduate bought by John Foote and the colt's former trainer Darren Weir, Yes Yes Yes was bred by Wagga-based Brett Bradley who raced his mother Sin Sin Sin (Fantastic Light) before retaining her as a broodmare.

A half-sister to the stakes winners Hot As Hell (County), Flaming Hot (County) and Craig's Dragon (Catbird), Sin Sin Sin is also a half-sister to juvenile winner Hell It's Hot (Zeditave), the dam of dual Group 1-winning sprinter In Her Time (Time Thief).

Sin Sin Sin's three foals to race are all winners headed, of course, by Yes Yes Yes and the stakes-placed mare Dee Nine Elle (Duporth).

Sin Sin Sin's yearling colt by Sebring (More Than Ready) was purchased for $700,000 at the recent Magic Millions Gold Coast Yearling Sale by trainer Lloyd Kennewell and Group 1 Bloodstock while the mare is in foal to Zoustar (Northern Meteor) after missing to Not A Single Doubt (Redoute's Choice) the previous year.

Fierce Impact heads south for Orr

After winning two Group 1 handicaps in the spring, Fierce Impact (Deep Impact) is back to take on weight-for-age company in Saturday's C.F Orr Stakes (Gr 1, 1400m) at Caulfield. Matthew Smith said it had been hard to gauge the six-year-old's progress this campaign but a gallop at Canterbury between races last Friday night gave him confidence ahead of his return. "He's such a lazy worker," Smith said. "But his work at Canterbury last Friday night was as good as he does work and I think taking him to the races woke him. Nash (Rawiller) got off him and was very pleased with him, so that probably gives us a good indication that he's come back in pretty good order. A weight-for-age win at 1400 metres would be good for his future as a stallion and I think on his wins in Melbourne during the spring, he can run well, for sure."

Diamond Prelude for Muntaseera

Despite being nominated for Saturday's Inglis Millennium (RL, 1100m) at Warwick Farm, Ciaran Maher and David Eustace have opted to run Muntaseera (I Am Invincible) in the Blue Diamond Prelude (F) (Gr 2, 1100m) at Caulfield. The promising filly finished second in the Ottawa Stakes (Gr 3, 1000m) on debut before winning impressively at Rosehill at her last start. Maher and Eustace hold the current favourite for the $2 million Inglis Millennium in Cellsabeel (Hinchinbrook).

Melbourne likely for Time To Reign

Gary Portelli has indicated that his Group 2-winning colt Time To Reign (Time For War) is likely to make the trip to Melbourne for the Rubiton Stakes (Gr 2, 1100m) on Saturday. Portelli has also entered the three-year-old in the Eskimo Prince Stakes (Gr 3, 1200m) at Warwick Farm but with heavy rain predicted for Sydney during the week, he believes the track might be too wet. "We will make the final decision after he gallops on Tuesday morning," Portelli said. "But I am 99.9 per cent sure he will go to Melbourne. Looking at the weather forecast it is going to be very wet in Sydney. It was a heavy track for the trials here this morning (Monday) and while he likes a soft track, I'm not so sure about really heavy." Time To Reign will be ridden by Deal Yendall if he is to run at Caulfield.

Kevin Hayes test for How Womantic

Ciaran Maher and David Eustace's unbeaten filly How Womantic (The Wow Signal) is likely to take the next step in her career in Saturday's Kevin Hayes Stakes (Gr 3, 1200m) after working on the Moonee Valley course proper yesterday. "She just worked over half a mile and just strode up the last 600 metres," Maher said. "She's just in a real god vein of form at the moment. Her work was sharp. She's gone through the grades. Three-year-olds, they can make that step up. It's not a big step up as what it is when they're an older horse. She's in good form and I think it's the right time to do it." A comfortable winner of the $150,000 VOBIS Gold Carat (1200m) at Moonee Valley last month, How Womantic could be set for the Surround Stakes (Gr 1, 1400m) at Randwick on February 29.

Futurity possible for Super Seth

First-up Manfred Stakes (Gr 3, 1200m) winner Super Seth (Dundeel) could bypass the C S Hayes Stakes (Gr 3, 1400m) in preference for the Futurity Stakes (Gr 1, 1400m) as the three-year-old's lead-up to the Australian Guineas (Gr 1, 1600m). The Anthony Freedman-trained Caulfield Guineas (Gr 1, 1600m) winner ran down Free Of Debt (Unencumbered) on a wet track at Caulfield on Saturday to reaffirm his stallion credentials. Sam Freedman, the assistant to his father Anthony, yesterday suggested that the Futurity Stakes on February 22 could suit the colt and be a way of adding to his value being a weight for age Group 1 race. New Zealand breeders Waikato Stud, Lib Petagna, Nearco Stud, Sir Peter Vela, Milan Park's Tony Rider and Barneswood Farm bought into Super Seth for stud duties after his Group 1 win last October.

Century in sight for Gollan

Premier trainer Tony Gollan believes he has a genuine chance to become the first to reach 100 metropolitan winners in a Brisbane season. Gollan has his seventh metropolitan premiership at his mercy with 61.5 winners after six months of the season. He already holds the Brisbane metropolitan record with 90 winners set in 2017-18. "I would love to train 100 metropolitan winners for the season," Gollan said. "It is something I have aspired to and you have to set yourself targets. I won't be crying if we don't do it this season. But I have some nice horses, loyal owners and excellent staff. It is a good combination and we have had a strong start to the season. So all in all I think we have a shot at it."

Mystic Journey out of All-Star Mile

Star mare Mystic Journey (Needs Further) will not defend her All-Star Mile (1600m) title after set-backs have forced Adam Trinder to pull the pin on her Melbourne autumn campaign. "We felt we were behind the eight-ball for the All-Star Mile," Trinder said in a video update on Mystic Journey. "We don't want to do Mystic Journey any disrespect or the race any disrespect by running her when only three-quarters of the way ready. We're still open minded whether we'll have targets through the autumn period. We'll keep her in the stables for the moment and in light training with the options of Queensland, Sydney and Adelaide. But I'm quite open to the idea of a nice long spell and coming back for the spring."

Cranbourne trial for Vow And Declare

Danny O'Brien's Melbourne Cup (Gr 1, 3200m) Vow And Declare (Declaration Of War) will take another step towards a race return when he contests a 1190-metre barrier trial at Cranbourne this morning. "We'll get a good measure where his fitness is at with this trial," assistant trainer Ben Gleeson said. "He is a pretty naturally fit horse anyway. We'll decide after Tuesday whether he needs a second trial and then that will tell us where we go first-up, whether it's straight up to Sydney or whether it's the Australian Cup."

Nature Strip wins trial

Multiple Group 1-winning sprinter Nature Strip (Nicconi) is on track to return in Saturday week's Black Caviar Lightning Stakes (Gr 1, 1000m) after comfortably winning a 900-metre trial at Warwick Farm yesterday. The five-year-old was ridden by Hugh Bowman filling in for regular jockey James McDonald. "I was really pleased with him," Bowman said. "I haven't ridden him before so it was good to get a feel of him. He was really relaxed."

Ball Of Muscle takes out heat

Later in the morning at Warwick Farm, Joe Pride's veteran sprinter Ball Of Muscle (Dubawi) comfortably took out a heat over 900 metres under Glyn Schofield. The nine-year-old defeated Mark Newnham's Shadow Bridge (War) by a length and a quarter. Last month Pride said Ball Of Muscle was on a path towards the Oakleigh Plate (Gr 1, 1100m) at Caulfield on February 22 in a bid to earn the Group 2 winner an elusive Group 1 victory.

Sears after Kilcoy QTIS cash

Tony and Maddy Sears are hoping to win another QTIS bonus race tomorrow when Magic Trick (Top Echelon) runs in the Great Northern QTIS Three-Year-Old Handicap (1060m) at Kilcoy. "He was a little disappointing at Caloundra last start as he had trialled well before it," Sears said. "He's never been to Kilcoy but it doesn't worry me as he went to Gatton the first time and won. The barrier (10) is a bit of a problem but it doesn't worry me too much as it's not an overly strong field."

Baster rejects All-Star comeback call

Retired jockey Stephen Baster says he has fielded countless messages of support but will not be making a comeback to ride Logan McGill's Gold Fields (Churchill Downs) in the All-Star Mile. Baster partnered the seven-year-old in his most recent victories at Sale and Sandown and while he said he would love to ride the gelding, he believes the challenge is beyond him. "I have a great relationship with Logan and I love the horse and would love to ride him, but realistically I don't think I could do the horse justice," Baster said. "The amount of support I have received from people wanting to see me back riding has been tremendous, but I don't think I can do it."

Date set for Laming's cobalt hearing

Richard Laming is set to appear before Victorian Racing Tribunal from Monday May 18 in relation to a horse in his care testing positive to cobalt almost double the permitted threshold. The test came from a pre-race swab of Iam Ekstraordinary (Ekkaar) at Ballarat on May 23, 2018 where the gelding finished fifth of seven runners in a 1200-metre maiden. RV stewards laid charges against Laming in October 2019.

No action taken over Manuel fall

Jockeys have escaped sanction after an inquiry into a fall in the Australia Stakes (Gr 2, 1200m) at Moonee Valley that claimed the life of Group 1 winner Manuel (Commands) and left jockey Barend Vorster with a fractured collarbone. Stewards took evidence yesterday from Vorster, winning rider Dean Yendall (Scales Of Justice) along with Daniel Stackhouse (Ashlor) and James

Winks (Begood Toya Mother). They said there were three aspects to the fall which could not be attributed to any one rider. "Ashlor shifted out and away from Scales Of Justice, there was a little shift from the outside by Begood Toya Mother and Barend Vorster attempted a run where there was a questionable amount of room," chair Corrie Waller said. "In the circumstances there was so much going on, so we took no action."

Jockey banned for using modified spurs

Queensland country jockey Joshua King has been suspended for a month and fined $500 after being found to have used modified spurs on Smarty Jack (Real Saga) who won the second race at Dalby on Saturday. Stewards opened an inquiry into the post-race condition of Smarty Jack which heard a post-race veterinary examination showed the gelding had lacerations to the near and off-side lateral thorax. In the opinion of the on-course veterinarian, the wounds were consistent with the use of spurs. Stewards searched jockey Joshua King's race gear, and seized spurs that, in their opinion, appeared to be modified and therefore were not suitable for use.

NEW ZEALAND

Bosson back on True Enough

Opie Bosson holds the key to feature success at Te Rapa on Saturday for leading Cambridge trainers Murray Baker and Andrew Forsman. Bosson has picked up the mount on the stable's latest Group 1 winner True Enough (Nom Du Jeu) in the Herbie Dyke Stakes (Gr 1, 2000m) and will again be aboard Showbeel (Savabeel) in the David and Karyn Ellis Fillies Classic (Gr 2, 2000m). True Enough has not raced since winning the Zabeel Classic (Gr 1, 2000m) on Boxing Day. "I know it's been a fair time between races, but he did have that Matamata trial," Baker said. "I thought about giving him a gallop between races at Matamata (on Sunday), but he doesn't need it. He's done well."

Waikato Guineas for Travelling Light

Ben Foote is keen to stick to the plan with his top filly Travelling Light (El Roca) and resist the temptation of another Group 1 mission this weekend. Foote and Travelling Light's part-owner and co-breeder Col MacRury threw the Herbie Dyke Stakes at Te Rapa into the mix for the filly along with the Waikato Guineas (Gr 2, 2000m) and the David and Karyn Ellis Fillies Classic, but Foote believes the Waikato Guineas against the colts and geldings is the best option on Saturday. "She could end up running third or fourth in the Herbie Dyke against the older horses and we'd be left wondering if the first couple were just too good or she didn't stay," Foote said. "I know they (three-year-olds) haven't got a bad record in it and it's a Group 1 and worth $400,000, but the New Zealand Derby is worth more and it's the main goal. She's definitely going for the Derby over the New Zealand Oaks against the fillies."

Etah James set for Auckland Cup

Pakenham Cup (Listed, 2500m) winner Etah James (Raise The Flag) has re-joined the stables of part-owner Mark Lupton in New Zealand and is set for a tilt at the Auckland Cup (Gr 1, 3200m) on March 7. "We were going to keep her in Australia and have a crack at the Adelaide Cup (Gr2, 3200m), but she's got some sarcoids on her face and they need treating," Lupton said. "The vets over there wanted a small fortune, so with all things being equal we decided to bring her home and treat her here. We had her nominated for the Auckland Cup and it's worth more than the Adelaide Cup. Maybe our stayers are not as strong as Australia so we talked to our two mates in the horse and decided to bring her home and give her a go and start her treatment, which we've done."

Ghibellines - White Robe Lodge stallion Ghibellines (Shamardal) sired his first stakes winner when El Gladiador (3 g ex Querella by Haafiz) landed Saturday's Dunedin Guineas

Lauda Sion, who has now won three of his five starts, is a half-brother to Ambrosio (Rose Kingdom) who finished second in the Crocus Stakes two years ago.
