Talented juveniles set to make three-year-old debut

Autumn stars to step out in the Rosebud as spring aspirations lie ahead

Ole Kirk, Angers and Prime Star

BY GEORGIE DENNIS | @ANZ_NEWS

Some of the autumn's star juveniles will seek to take the next step in their careers on Saturday as they step out for the first time since turning three in the Rosebud (Listed, 1100m) at Rosehill.

Inglis Millennium (RL, 1200m) winner Prime Star (Starspangledbanner), Talindert Stakes victor (Listed, 1100m) Ole Kirk (Written Tycoon), progressive metropolitan scorer Anders (Not A Single Doubt), as well as two Group performed colts from the Gerald Ryan stable, have all accepted for the first three-year-old stakes race of the season.

Richard Freedman, who trains Prime Star in partnership with his brother Michael, said the son of Starspangledbanner (Choisir) is not a guaranteed starter in the race as they wait to assess the track conditions.

"It's a little bit up in the air at the moment depending on what happens in the rest of the week but he's come back in what appears to be great shape. I think he's going a lot better than he was when he won the Millennium, which he'll need to be because everybody else has improved as well, but at this stage we're pretty happy with him."

"He's grown a little bit taller, not a lot taller, but he's about 40 kilos heavier than he was, so he's thickened out and muscled up. He's not an overly tall horse but he's a very strong horse."

Freedman said the stable hasn't got a particular grand final race set for Prime Star, but they will let him work his way into the big feature races and choose where to send him based on his form.

Given the current restrictions preventing horses from travelling out of

“WE’LL PUT THEM ON A PROGRAM THAT WILL ALLOW THEM TO REACH ONE OF THOSE TOP QUALITY RACES IF THEIR FORM WARRANTS IT

- RICHARD FREEDMAN

Victoria, it's also difficult for all trainers to plan spring programs with no set date on when the state borders will reopen.

"We don't target a particular race with these sorts of horses," Freedman said. "We'll put them on a program that will allow them to reach one of those top quality races if their form warrants it."

"We don't select a Randwick Guineas and say 'we want to run him in that,' we'll let him find his way there but we'll make sure he gets his opportunity to get there if he's good enough."

"We're also not sure how far he will run."

"He may be best up to 1200 metres, he may reach 1600 (metres), so we're not completely sure how far he will run and we're still finding that out about him. Given that he's only had four starts in his life, it's hard to know exactly."

"Certainly interstate travel at the moment to Victoria is problematic because while horses can travel to Victoria, they can't come back to New South Wales at this stage, so that makes it difficult for us to take horses there."

Ole Kirk, the nephew of champion mare Black Caviar (Bel Esprit), is coming off the back of a 900-metre trial at Rosehill on Tuesday, where he finished sixth under a hard hold from Tommy Berry after settling at the tail of the field before running on well.

Berry was pleased with the colt's performance in the trial and said he was looking forward to seeing what kind of heights he can reach this spring.

"He wasn't there to do a heap," Berry told Racing NSW. "He's about the same height but he's definitely stronger than he was."

"I think he was unlucky not to win a couple more last preparation and I think he can match up against a nice crop of three-year-olds."

The Ciaran Maher and David Eustace-trained son of Not A Single Doubt (Redoute's Choice), who at the time of writing was the $4.60 second favourite behind Ryan's Paga Paga Stakes (Gr 3, 1200m) runner-up Kumasi (Snitzel), is likely to stick to the sprint trips this spring and assistant trainer Annabel Neasham believes the colt has developed into a very nice three-year-old.

"He's going very well," Neasham told ANZ Bloodstock News. "He had a three week break and he's matured.

"He's quite forward coming into this and he's really developed physically from two to three.

"His win at Rosehill was very good. They went quick and he quickened off that hot tempo in a race that was set up for the back markers, which made the win more impressive.

"Certainly the way that tracks are playing in Sydney at the moment it may well be in our favour to have a horse on speed and he's drawn beautifully in three. The main thing with him is just to have him where he's comfortable, he's got to relax.

"I think he's relaxed in his last two races which has enabled him to finish off."

Eduardo ready for Missile test

It has been almost two years since Eduardo (Host) burst onto the scene as one of the most exciting up and coming horses among the sprinting ranks, but a few issues caused the now seven-year-old to spend some time on the sidelines and we are yet to see him reach his full potential.

However, it took just one run for new trainer Joe Pride, who is a proven handler of mature aged sprinters with the likes of Terravista (Captain Rio) and Ball Of Muscle (Dubawi), to get Eduardo back into the winner's stall and this weekend he will look to add the Missile Stakes (Gr 2, 1200m) to his CV.

Formerly trained by Sarah Zschoke at Cranbourne, the son of Host (Hussonet) was narrowly beaten by subsequent Group 1 winner I Am Excited (Snitzel) in the Gilgai Stakes (Gr 2, 1200m) at just his fourth ever race start back in October 2018.

Eduardo

SPORTPIX

He then comfortably took out the Caulfield Sprint (Gr 2, 1000m) at his next start before heading for a break and returning to finish third behind Booker (Written Tycoon) and Encryption (Lonhro) in the 2019 Oakleigh Plate (Gr 1, 1100m).

Following that career-best performance, Eduardo placed in the Bel Esprit Stakes (Listed, 1100m) and the McEwen Stakes (Gr 2, 1000m) but has failed to fire since.

Since moving to Pride's stable at Warwick Farm, the gelding appears to be as close to being back to his best as we have seen him in the last 12 months and the trainer is confident he can put up a bold showing at Rosehill this weekend.

"Obviously he's new to my stable but he's adapted well to the change of environment and the change in training regime and he's in really good order," Pride told ANZ Bloodstock News.

"We are meeting some very good horses, in particular Melody Belle, she's a multiple Group 1 winner, but we're up against her at the right time. She's first-up at a sprint trip and we've got the advantage of having had that first-up run already.

"He lines up alright against these horses and he's going to have to improve a bit out of his first up run but I feel like there was improvement in him and he's made that."

Pride said there are no specific target races in place for Eduardo and that the stable will wait and see how he measures up on Saturday before laying out a plan for the rest of the spring.

"We will feel our way through it," Pride said. "If he went really well on Saturday then there would be some genuine interest in this horse in some of the bigger sprints and in which case we might just give him a little bit fresher up.

"It's all really dependent on what we see from him on Saturday."

Rich Enuff ready for second crop

Rich Enuff

WOODSIDE PARK STUD

Woodside Park Stud's young sire Rich Enuff (Written Tycoon) proved top of the ranks among active first season Victorian stallions last season and anticipation is building for his second group of two-year-olds to race in the coming months. Rich Enuff had seven individual winners, headlined by Plutocrat, his first winner who later went on to win the Tattersall's Club Stakes (Listed, 1400m). Also of note is that he managed to better the achievements of his own sire Written Tycoon (Iglesia) with his first crop. Giving her full backing to Rich Enuff is respected pedigree analyst Kristen Manning. "I have been happy to recommend Rich Enuff to my clients," stated Manning. "I am impressed not only by the horse, but also by the depth of his pedigree. He is an easy stallion to match up and I am delighted with my own colt by him, so much so that my mare is paying a return visit this spring." Rich Enuff served 127 mares last season and stands for $8,800 (inc GST) in 2020.

Veteran among two Missile runners for Lees

Kris Lees will have his bases covered for the first Group race of the Sydney season, regardless of whether the forecast rain arrives. The Newcastle horseman, who finished last term as the leading trainer in NSW with 193 winners, has stable mainstay Le Romain (Hard Spun) and the emerging Special Reward (Demerit) in the Missile Stakes (Gr 2, 1200m) at Rosehill on Saturday. Showers are predicted in Sydney later this week and while a heavy track will pose no problems for Le Romain, Lees is not so sure about Special Reward. "He has terrific form on soft, although from his trials I would say he's not going to be good on heavy ground," Lees said. "I scratched him the other day with that testing track. It looks like that could come back in (play) with the forecast. But he's had another trial since and this is a more suitable journey."

Ambitious spring sprint plans for Trope

Trope (More Than Ready) will have his first start for Julius Sandhu in Saturday's Aurie's Star Stakes (Gr 3, 1200m) at Flemington with the trainer hoping his new recruit can confirm his belief that he is a genuine Group 1 sprinter. Sandhu has two future targets in mind for the former Team Hawkes galloper after the weekend, the Manikato Stakes (Gr 1, 1200m) and the VRC Sprint Classic (Gr 1, 1200m), which is run over the same course and distance as Saturday's contest. "I'll learn something about the horse, I'll find out whether he can handle the straight and the class. Hopefully he'll tick both boxes," Sandhu said. "I'm very pleased where he's at. He's had a relatively uninterrupted campaign. He's had two jump-outs and he's travelled each time on wet tracks. Flemington is a Soft 6 but with the weather predicted it should be a Soft 7 at best which I think will suit him."

Aurie return for Widgee Turf

Patrick Payne is another hoping the rain falls at Flemington this week before Widgee Turf

(Turffontein) makes his belated reappearance in the Aurie's Star. The now seven-year-old, who has not been seen in action since December last year, has been nominated a number of times over the past few weeks but looks set to finally be given his chance. "It's no secret he likes getting his toe in the ground, so we've just been waiting for a bit more give in the ground and with the rain forecast this week he'll get that at Flemington," Payne told Racing.com. "He's definitely forward, he's been up for a while, so it wouldn't shock me if he ran a race, he's forward enough to be in with a chance for sure. He's better suited 1400-1600 metres so I'm not expecting we'll see his best first-up over 1200 metres though particularly down the straight."

Cummings praises Brave's straight record

James Cummings will give Home Of The Brave (Starspangledbanner) a chance to make amends for his last-gasp defeat in the 2018 running of the Aurie's Star when he lines up on Saturday. Godolphin's well-travelled nine-year-old was chinned on the line when making his Australian debut in the race two years ago and although he is without a win in Melbourne, Cummings has ear-marked this race as a target. "In my entire arsenal, this horse is probably my best straight-track performer," the trainer told Racing.com. "We are sending him to Melbourne to take advantage of that. He's fresh and fiery after an honest winter campaign and will be sharp going into a race in which he made his Australian debut two years ago. We're looking at this race as an opportunity to make amends for the one that got away. If he shows the form I expect to see here, we will try to pick the eyes out of the straight-track races at Flemington over the spring."

Savvy Lad primed for Flemington target

Co-trainer Trent Busuttin is hoping Savvy Lad (Savabeel) can break through for his first Australian win when the four-year-old contests Saturday's Rubaroc Handicap (1410m) at Flemington. The New Zealand import finished third behind Mystery Shot (Shooting To Win) and Wicklow Town (Canford Cliffs) over 1400 metres at Caulfield last month, an effort which pleased connections. "Savvy Lad was unlucky first-up, he got beaten by a couple of smart horses, but he ran third after coping a severe check at the 600 metres and was only beaten by a length and a bit," Busuttin, who trains in partnership with Natalie Young, told RSN927. "They were good horses that finished in front of him. He is dropping back to a (Benchmark) 70 (on Saturday) so I would say he will be very hard to beat on a big Flemington track."

Options open for Rascal

Archie Alexander is yet to lock in a kick-off point for Young Rascal's (Intello) spring campaign, however the Caulfield Cup (Gr 1, 2400m) remains as the gelding's number one target. "William Haggas, who knows the horse better than me because he trained him for the past two or three years, says that I would be wasting my time running him over 1400 to 1600 metres - he's not sharp enough," Alexander told Racing.com. "When he won the N.E. Manion Cup over 2400 metres in March he hadn't run since the Hong Kong Vase at Sha Tin in December. He's very clean winded, he had four weeks off when he came to us and he acts and looks like a horse that didn't need a lot of time off. From there he will race second-up in either the JRA Cup, Turnbull Stakes or Bart Cummings and then contest the Caulfield Cup, third-up as his main aim."

Nonconformist eyeing Caulfield Cup

Group 2 winner Nonconformist (Rebel Raider) took his first step on a path which his trainer Grahame Begg hopes will lead to the Caulfield Cup when the four-year-old lined up in an 800-metre jump-out at Sandown yesterday. "It was just a comfortable jump-out as it's the first time that he's been able to work on grass since his last start," Begg told Racing.com. "He'll follow up again with a barrier trial at Caulfield in two weeks before his first-up run on Memsie Stakes Day at Caulfield." While Nonconformist will be nominated for the Memsie Stakes (Gr 1, 1400m) at Caulfield on August 29, Begg said the gelding is likely to contest another race on the card. "We'll probably kick him off in the handicap over 1400 metres and let him build into his preparation. He'll be nominated for all the big races with the ideal grand final being the Caulfield Cup."

Derby the goal for Wertheimer

A tilt at the Victoria Derby (Gr 1, 2500m) could be on the agenda of Wertheimer (Tavistock) after the New Zealand import made a successful Australian debut yesterday. Now trained by Trent Busuttin and Natalie Young, Wertheimer landed a Cranbourne maiden over 1300 metres as the well supported $3 favourite. "We'll try and bring him through, maybe get him to Sandown in a couple of weeks in a (Benchmark) 64, 1400 (metres) and see if he can make that grade," Young told Racing.com. "But we'll always have the Derby in the back of our mind. He's out of a Lonhro mare that we used to have in the stable back in New Zealand a few years ago, so we'll definitely go that path with him."

Williams' Irish team in doubt for carnival

The tightening of Covid-19 restrictions in Victoria could prevent the Lloyd Williams-owned horses trained in Ireland by Joseph O'Brien from travelling to this year's carnival. Five horses which carry the Williams silks and are trained by O'Brien featured in the nominations for the Cox Plate (Gr 1, 2040m) when they were published yesterday, but the six-time Melbourne Cup (Gr 1, 3200m) winning owner yesterday cast doubt over their participation. "Travelling now is a greater consideration than it was 72 hours ago," Williams told Racing.com. "Melbourne next few weeks will have a bearing on the future. If there was any concern for staff travelling, I would not allow my group of horses to come."

Inglis Ready2Race entries closing soon

With over 200 entries already confirmed, the 2020 renewal of the Inglis Ready2Race Sale looks certain to be the strongest yet - in terms of quality of both horses and vendors. Stallions represented amongst an exciting group of first season sires include the likes of American Pharoah (Pioneer of The Nile), Capitalist (Written Tycoon), Flying Artie (Artie Schiller), Star Turn (Star Witness) and Winning Rupert (Written Tycoon). There is also plenty of strength to the group of proven sires set to be featured in the catalogue, including Fastnet Rock (Daneshill), Not A Single Doubt (Redoute's Choice), Pierro (Lonhro), Savabeel (Zabeel) and Zoustar (Northern Meteor). "We are on track to offer a catalogue of incredible strength for the sale, particularly in terms of the stallion power," Inglis general manager of bloodstock sales and marketing Sebastian Hutch said, ahead of Friday's 5pm deadline for entries to be made. Record year for QTIS bonuses

Racing Queensland's breeding incentive schemes have enjoyed record-breaking years with more than $13.7 million paid through QTIS and QBRED during 2019/20. Having introduced a range of enhancements over the past year, including QTISx and QBRED For Life, RQ set new benchmarks. With QTISx providing bonuses on black-type and feature races for Queensland thoroughbreds for the first time, Outback Barbie (Spirit Of Boom) saluted in the inaugural race by securing victory in the Keith Noud Handicap (Listed, 1200m). More than ten individual QTISx winners were crowned throughout 2019/20 including Rothfire (Rothsay) and Tyzone (Written Tycoon). Not surprisingly, Rothfire was the leading two-year-old QTIS earner, collecting $133,500 in bonuses including a $100,000 QTIS yearling sale voucher for his victory in the J J Atkins Stakes (Gr 1, 1400m). "I think people are starting to realise just how good a scheme QTIS really is," Thoroughbred Breeders Queensland Association president Basil Nolan said. "The introduction of QTISx provides further opportunities at Group and Listed level including breeders' bonuses which are very important."

First winner for team Keys

Ken Keys bagged his first winner in partnership with his daughter Kasey when Clean Acheeva (Anacheeva) struck at Cranbourne yesterday. The six-year-old did just enough under Mark Zahra to hold on from the fast-finishing Lunar Flare (Fiorente) and take out the De Bortoli Wines Fillies and Mares BM70 Handicap (2046m) as a $13 chance. "He (Zahra) made the 62 kilograms not a big a problem. Full credit to the horse, she's been going well, things just haven't panned out," the veteran trainer told Racing.com. "We will keep pushing on (with her) somewhere, she will be around the 78-rating horse now so we will find something." Of training with his daughter, Keys added: "It puts the energy back into it, the enthusiasm, which is great."

Neindorf to remain in Victoria

South Australian apprentice Lachlan Neindorf has set himself a lofty goal after deciding to remain in Victoria. Neindorf finished fifth in the South Australian Jockeys' Premiership last season, an achievement which resulted in his switch to the stable of Anthony Freedman.

"I was really happy with how I went last season, I got a lot of support, even from Victorian trainers that were sending their horses to South Australia," Neindorf told Racing.com. "Obviously I was the benefit of circumstances with a lot of the really good Victorian jockeys unable to come across for the Adelaide Carnival, but I was proud of what I achieved and I feel I made the most of my opportunities. My goal this season is to finish in the top five for the Victorian apprentices. I want to knuckle down, travel as much as I can and build a bigger network with the trainers over here and hopefully that leads to plenty of winners."

Queensland adopts whip penalty template

New penalty guidelines for excessive use of the whip are to be introduced in Queensland. The Queensland Racing Integrity Commission yesterday announced that from Saturday stewards would have a template to impose fines and suspensions for whip breaches, along the same lines as in Victoria, where stewards have worked off a template since the new season began. "These new guidelines will provide clear penalties for breaches of the whip rules," QRIC chief steward Peter Chadwick told Racing.com. "This will assist in providing greater consistency to the penalties applied and it'll also ensure that riders are well aware of the potential penalties for any breaches of the whip rules."

VRC maintains hope for carnival crowds

Victoria Racing Club chairman Neil Wilson is still hoping minimal crowds can attend the Melbourne spring carnival and the club is making plans around this scenario. Wilson said the VRC had been working on a number of contingencies in response to the Covid-19 situation but they had the advantage of Flemington being a huge package of land to accommodate large numbers of people. "In terms of the members, the public and the corporates it's less likely, but we are being as receptive as we can to accommodate whatever we are allowed to in terms of regulations of that time," Wilson said on Melbourne's RSN radio on Tuesday. "Four weeks ago we were planning for small numbers of people back to the track. Stage four has come into play, we are very grateful we can continue racing and things have changed. There's been an enormous amount of configurations which are possible for us from zero crowds to 50,000. With stage four, that's less likely, but we're working on the basis things can change and we could have crowds at the smaller end."

NEW ZEALAND

Vaughan duo kick-off spring preparations

Lisa Vaughan is on the hunt this season to secure an elusive stakes victory with seven-year-old Shirley Maude (Fully Fledged). Having placed in the Champagne Stakes (Listed, 1200m) at just her second career start and finished runner-up in the White Robe Lodge Weight For Age (Gr 3, 1600m) in February, Vaughan is hoping the mare can go one better this season. "Each year she has just gone from strength-to-strength, we have been really lucky with her," Vaughan said. "Hopefully this season she will be in form too." Vaughan is looking forward to kicking off Shirley Maude's preparation at Wingatui on Friday in the Busy Bee Cleaning Services (1200m). "She is going well, her training has been good. It is first-up so she will probably need it as she is a wee bit older now." Vaughan will also line-up Southland Guineas (Listed, 1600m) placegetter Asathought (So You Think) on Friday in the Busy Bee Cleaning Services Maiden (1600m). "She is stronger again," the trainer continued. "She has done well over the Covid lockdown. She has strengthened up and time is going to be her best friend."

Oaks winner pleases in Ruakaka

Shaune Ritchie was beaming after Jennifer Eccles' (Rip Van Winkle) 1050-metre trial at Ruakaka on Tuesday. He was delighted to see last season's New Zealand Oaks (Gr 1, 2400m) winner relax in her heat and run on well to finish fourth against a quality line-up. "We are delighted with her," said Ritchie, who trains in partnership with Colm Murray. "Jason (Waddell, jockey) is at his getting ready weight, so the mare was probably giving a little weight away to some key horses. The Bostonian is a genuine Group 1 sprinter in Australia and Dawn Patrol is probably one of the quickest horses at Cambridge, so for her to trial as nicely as she did in that quality of field was very good to see. Jason's comments right after the trial were that 'she is right back where we need her to be.'"

Wyndspelle on parade

Group 1 winner Wyndspelle (Iffraaj) will be on parade at the Hawera racecourse on Saturday ahead of his debut season at stud. The son of Iffraaj (Zafonic) will be on show to the public between races two and three, with breeders encouraged to speak with Grangewilliam Stud principal Marc Corcoran on the day about the discounted fee on offer and the limited number of lifetime breeding rights available. Breeders will also get a chance to view Wyndspelle in the Waikato as part of the gavelhouse.com stallion parades when he is presented at Seaton Park on August 22. Wyndspelle will stand at Grangewilliam Stud in 2020 in partnership with Jen Campin Bloodstock for NZ$7,500 (plus GST).

INTERNATIONAL

Five for Shalaa

The good week for Shalaa (Invincible Spirit) continued when King Shalaa (2 c ex Baki by Turtle Bowl) made a winning debut in a maiden over a mile at La Teste de Buch in France yesterday. The Fancois Rohaut-trained colt scored by a length and a half as the 5-2 favourite to provide Shalaa with his fifth individual winner, a day after the filly Cream Of The Crop got off the mark. Shalaa stands at Arrowfield for a fee of $33,000 (inc. GST) in 2020.

Ventura Tormenta among four added to all-star Phoenix line-up

Prix Robert Papin (Gr 2, 1200m) winner Ventura Tormenta (Acclamation) is one of four juveniles to have been supplemented for Sunday's Keeneland Phoenix Stakes (Gr 1, 6f) at a cost of €20,000. A total of 14 entries were made for the Curragh contest where Ventura

Tormenta is in line to once again face Norfolk Stakes (Gr 2, 5f) winner The Lir Jet (Prince Of Lir), who he narrowly beat at Chantilly last time. Last week's Molecomb Stakes (Gr 3, 5f) winner Steel Bull (Clodovil) was also supplemented for the top-level contest and is set to carry the colours of new owner Chantal Regalado-Gonzalez. Aidan O'Brien has five potential runners at this stage, with Giorgio Vasari (Air Force Blue) a notable entrant, having also been added following his victory at Naas on Monday.

Group 1 stallion Hat Trick dies at stud in Brazil

Champion Japanese miler Hat Trick (Sunday Silence) has died aged 19 at Haras Springfield in Brazil, the publication Turf Diario has reported. Bred by Oiwake Farm, Hat Trick was at his very best in 2005 when claiming both the Mile Championship (Gr 1, 1600m) at Kyoto and the Hong Kong Mile (Gr 1, 1600m). Hat Trick was to spend nearly a decade in
