Harron lands Libertini for Everest slot

Field floats Roman Consul runner Wild Ruler as another potential big-race player

BY TIM ROWE | @ANZ_NEWS

Wild Ruler (Snitzel) could make a left-field bid for the last remaining place in next week's $15 million Everest (1200m) after it was confirmed last night that the James Harron Bloodstock syndicate had won the battle for brilliant Premiere Stakes (Gr 2, 1200m) winner Libertini (I Am Invincible).

Libertini's breeder and part-owner, Magic Millions supremo Gerry Harvey, elected to align himself with the Harron partnership after considering competitive offers from the respected agent and his backers as well as one put forward by Chris Waller Racing, the last of the 12 slot holders yet to sign up a horse for the rich Randwick race on Saturday week.

The Anthony Cummings-trained four-year-old's stunning Premiere Stakes victory saw bookmakers react dramatically by promoting her onto the fourth line of betting for The Everest at $7 behind new favourite Classique Legend (Not A Single Doubt) ($4.50), Inglis representative Gytrash (Lope De Vega) ($5) and the spring's headache horse Nature Strip (Nicconi) ($6).

Feed manufacturer issues apology over contaminated batch

Gain Equine Nutrition, the feed manufacturer at the centre of the contamination incident which led to Aidan O'Brien being forced to take his four intended runners out of Sunday's Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe (Gr 1, 2400m), yesterday issued an unreserved apology to trainers impacted by the episode.

Luke McDonald, Harvey's racing and bloodstock manager, has been leading the drawn-out talks on behalf of his boss and Libertini's co-owner John Singleton and he was relieved last night to have a slot locked away for last year's Coolmore Stud Stakes (Gr 1, 1200m) placegetter.

"There's a lot of pressure off, so now we can enjoy the journey. Gerry left negotiations up to me but obviously he had the final say and basically cemented the deal. It was a great experience, but it's a lot of pressure," McDonald told ANZ Bloodstock News last night.

"She's a legitimate chance in the race. She's going to be second-up and her record second-up is two from three, so we're just praying for a dry track and that she gets there in one piece and hopefully she draws a barrier.

"She will improve off the Premiere run. Her coat is finally starting to turn and come out and she looks in tip-top order and if she can improve five or ten per cent she is going to be a force to be reckoned with."

Regan Bayliss, who recently moved to Sydney, will retain the ride in The Everest.

The finalisation of the deal between Harron and Harvey leaves the Chris Waller Racing syndicate considering its options, but the group also played a patient - and successful - waiting game last year when deciding to run three-year-old Yes Yes Yes (Rubick) before going on to win it in record time and significantly increase his stud value.

This year's scenario could lead to Waller again zeroing in on a three-year-old out of this Saturday's Roman Consul Continued on page 4>>

The pair are among six nominations for the Roman Consul, in which reigning champion Australian two-year-old of the year Farnan (Not A Single Doubt) is also expected to line-up in following his defeat as favourite in the Run To The Rose (Gr 2, 1200m) more than three weeks ago.

Aquis Farm has already committed to The Everest with Farnan, who was bought by Kia Ora Stud as a stallion prospect in August, despite his first up defeat.

Farnan had an exhibition gallop with stablemate Dawn Passage (Dawn Approach) on the Kensington track last week to convince co-trainers Gai Waterhouse and Adrian Bott that the colt was over a minor setback.

Newgate Farm managing director Henry Field yesterday threw Wild Ruler's name up as a legitimate contender to secure the Everest slot held by Waller, reasoning that the colt had shown similar traits to those shown by dual Group 1 winner Russian Revolution who was also raced by the China Horse Club colts partnership.

Field took a line through Wild Ruler's eye-catching second to Libertini in a Kensington barrier trial on September 21 to further underline his colt's credentials.

"I know trials are trials, but he trialled sensationally well, on par with Libertini, and then he came out and won a Heritage. If he won the Roman Consul, we'd definitely keep the options open about running in The Everest," Field said.

"The thing about him is, he is a horse who really reminds me of Russian Revolution. He's just really furnished and 1100 and 1200 metres is his go. The only bad run in his life was when he was over seven furlongs.

"He's a bigger, stronger and more mature horse now. He's not one of those horses who looked like he was a ready-made two-year-olds and now he has matured into the most beautiful animal.

"It definitely looks like the best is ahead of him."

An Inglis Nursery (RL, 1000m) winner last December, Wild Ruler did not run in Sydney during the autumn carnival with the Snowdens instead sending him to Brisbane for starts in the BRC Champagne Classic (Gr 2, 1200m) and the J J Atkins Plate (Gr 1, 1400m). Both races were won by Rothfire (Rothsay).

"Last preparation he didn't have it all together physically and mentally but this preparation, as we've seen in his trials and his races, he's travelling and settling like a much more complete racehorse and he's bringing that to the races," Field continued.

"Last preparation he was overracing all the time and Peter and Paul have done a great job in getting the horse to relax and hopefully he keeps producing on race day.

"The penny looks to have dropped with this horse. It's a small field in the Roman Consul, but it's a red-hot race, and if he was to win that we'd definitely keep all options on the table."

While a lot still has to fall into place for Wild Ruler to sneak into The Everest, if he was to do so it could bring an end to his spring, ruling out a shot at the Coolmore Stud Stakes on Derby Day at Flemington.

Field pointed out: "I think you have got to pick one or other and certainly Peter and Paul would be a huge influence in which way we were to go."

Glenfiddich sidelined

RACING PHOTOS

Glenfiddich (Fastnet Rock), one of the leading contenders for Saturday's Caulfield Guineas (Gr 1, 1600m) and considered as a worthy Cox Plate (Gr 1, 2040m) aspirant, has been withdrawn from both races and will undergo minor surgery. Just hours after accepting for the Guineas with Glenfiddich, trainer Peter Moody announced that the Bill Stutt Stakes (Gr 2, 1600m) winner would require an operation after being diagnosed with an epiglottic entrapment in his throat. "It's not major but it's something we need to fix up," Moody said. "It's disappointing but we will get him back for the autumn. It's been affecting his breathing." The Coolmore Stud Stakes (Gr 1, 1200m) was considered as a possibility but that appears to be remote.

Oliver gives Mo'unga thumbs up

Damien Oliver had his first look at boom Sydney three-year-old colt Mo'unga (Savabeel) at Caulfield and he liked what he saw. Oliver partnered the unbeaten colt in a trackwork hitout yesterday, ahead of riding him in the Caulfield Guineas where he has drawn barrier 11. Mo'unga, who is trained by Chris Waller, has had three starts for a win on the Gold Coast and a victory at Newcastle before taking out the Dulcify Stakes (Listed, 1500m) at Rosehill. "I was really pleased with him. He feels like a classy three-year-old," Oliver said. "He's quite mature for a three-year-old who has had limited racing. Most importantly he seemed to adapt to Caulfield quite well. He's a scopey three-year-old and he's quite fit. He carries the Waller polish and he took everything in his stride. He comes from races with strong Sydney form and that's been working well so far this spring."

'Crosshaven has speed to overcome draw'

Ben Hayes believes Crosshaven's (Smart Missile) racing style can help him overcome his outside barrier of 15 in the Caulfield Guineas. In what proved to be a horror barrier draw result for the Hayes and Tom Dabernig stable, their other runner Aysar (Deep Field) drew the second outside barrier of 14. "It wasn't an ideal barrier draw for us," Hayes said. "I think for Crosshaven, he has the speed to go forward and cross from that outside draw and just roll along which is his racing style." Hayes said the draw was a trickier one for Aysar. "He only went back last start because he missed the start. We'll have to have a look at the field and see where he might end up," Hayes continued. "I'll have to have a chat with Tom and also with (jockey) Damian Lane and work it out from there."

Pike keeps faith in Arcadia Queen

William Pike is confident Arcadia Queen (Pierro) has what it takes to turn the tables on Russian Camelot (Camelot) in Saturday's Caulfield Stakes (Gr 1, 2000m). Russian Camelot was too powerful for Arcadia Queen when the pair clashed in the Underwood Stakes (Gr 1, 1800m) on September

Arcadia Queen

SPORTPIX

26 where he scored by a length and three quarters. Arcadia Queen fought on gamely to finish third but was ultimately no match for Russian Camelot. The Caulfield Stakes will be the first time the five-year-old has stepped up to the 2000-metre trip and Pike said he was looking forward to another clash with the Cox Plate favourite. "She was great when she ran third the other day," he told TAB radio's Digby Beacham. "I don't think that was a bad result by any means, it was a Group 1 and a very good Group 1. I've got a few little things I'll try and do different with her. I might have been sucked into being one spot too close with her which took away from her finish. I'm definitely hopeful I can beat him."

Blinkers on Hungry Heart

ATC Flight Stakes (Gr 1, 1600m) runner-up Hungry Heart (Frankel) was an acceptor for the Thousand Guineas yesterday and Chris Waller has added blinkers to his galloper's gear for the Group 1 fillies race. Hugh Bowman, who is currently undertaking his compulsory five days of self-isolation to enable him to compete at the Melbourne carnival, will ride Hungry Heart after James McDonald rode her to three consecutive seconds this spring, in the Furious Stakes (Gr 2, 1200m), Tea Rose Stakes (Gr 2, 1400m) and last weekend's Flight Stakes.

Cherry Tortoni to head north

Cherry Tortoni

RACING PHOTOS

Cherry Tortoni (Night Of Thunder) will run in Saturday's Spring Champion Stakes (Gr 1, 2000m) in Sydney in preference to the Caulfield Guineas (Gr 1, 1600m) on the same day. The prospect of a wet track in Melbourne prompted trainer Patrick Payne to change plans with the three-year-old gelding, who was runner-up to Glenfiddich (Fastnet Rock) in the Bill Stutt Stakes (Gr 2, 1600m) at Moonee Valley on September 26. "It looks like it could be wet in Melbourne and I think he'll struggle to finish top five in the Caulfield Guineas, but is a realistic first three chance in the Champion Stakes," Payne told Racing.com. The trainer rode Cherry Tortoni in a Caulfield gallop early yesterday. "The testing we've done with him at home and in trials and stuff, he's much better on top of the ground. On shifting ground, he's nowhere near as effective," he said. Meanwhile, Flight Stakes winner Montefilia (Kermadec) will also run in the Spring Champion Stakes after trainer David Payne elected to back the filly up. Hugh Bowman rode the filly last week when she upset Hungry Heart but Payne has booked Jason Collett this week.

Busuttin keen to gain Spring Champion revenge

Trent Busuttin and Natalie Young came close to winning the Spring Champion Stakes with Sangster (Savabeel) and they are hoping to rectify that loss nearly a decade later. Sangster was owned by Tommy Heptinstall whose colours will be worn in this year's edition of the race by Albarado (Savabeel) and Wertheimer (Tavistock). "Sangster was the first decent horse we brought over to Australia and he ran in that race and ran an unlucky third, so it would be nice to go up there and rectify it in the same colours," Busuttin said. Busuttin has a lot of time for Wertheimer, who he said was luckless when sixth in the Victoria Derby Trial (1800m) at Flemington last start. "Wertheimer was extremely unlucky last start and he is improving all the time. He will head up there and be very hard to beat." Stablemate Albarado will head into Saturday off the back of a third-placing in the Super Impose Stakes (Listed, 1800m) at Flemington last weekend. "Albarado is still a colt with a nice enough pedigree, by Savabeel," Busuttin continued. "The Spring Champion Stakes is a Group 1 and worth a million dollars. He went well on Saturday and is a big, strong colt who will cop the back-up. I am very happy with both of them."

Clark to ride Peltzer

Peltzer

SPORTPIX

Co-trainer Gerald Ryan is confident Peltzer (So You Think) can make a return to the winner's circle when the talented colt drops from elite company back to Group 2 grade in the Stan Fox Stakes (1500m) at Randwick. Peltzer has been working well since his latest midfield finish behind Ole Kirk (Written Tycoon) in the Golden Rose (Gr 1, 1400m) where he jumped a shadow at the 1200m mark and failed to balance up until well inside the 400 metres. "The horse has been in terrific order since. He hasn't missed a beat," Ryan said. "He's been getting the job done against a very good bunch of three-year-olds." Tim Clark has been booked to ride Peltzer, replacing Kerrin McEvoy.

Laurie keeping an eye on weather for Alfa Oro

The wet weather in Melbourne could prompt a change of plans for Alfa Oro (Bachelor Duke) with Saturday's Schillaci Stakes (Gr 2, 1100m) at Caulfield now under consideration. Matt

Laurie had originally planned to run the six-time winner in the Caulfield Sprint (Gr 2, 1100m) on October 17 but the possibility of a rain-affected track this weekend has prompted him to consider his options. Three of Alfa Oro's victories have come on tracks rated either soft or heavy and the Bureau of Meteorology is forecasting between 20 millimetres and 45 millimetres of rain to fall across Melbourne this week. "We had decided to go to the Caulfield Sprint but there's a bit of rain around this week and he obviously gets through it really well so I'm going to work him on Tuesday, see how he goes and see how he pulls up," Laurie told Racing.com. The trainer said another attraction of Saturday's race is the two-week lead-up it provides to the Manikato Stakes (Gr 1, 1200m) at Moonee Valley. "If he did run in the Schillaci and he happened to win it - and obviously it's a big step for him so you can't assume he'd just win it - it would leave open the Manikato in a fortnight's time whereas if we ran in the Caulfield Stakes it basically count that out. Sometimes it's a bit of chess as well so I'll be keeping an eye on who else accepts for the race." If Alfa Oro runs on Saturday, Damian Lane will replace the suspended Ben Melham.

Egan on Dalasan

Billy Egan will become the latest rider to partner Dalasan (Dalakhani) after Leon Macdonald and Andrew Gluyas yesterday moved to secure his services for the four-year-old in the Caulfield Cup (Gr 1, 2400m) on October 17. Jamie Kah rode the Group 2 winner into fourth place in last Saturday's Turnbull Stakes (Gr 1, 2000m) at Flemington behind Verry Elleegant (Zed) but has committed to partnering international raider Prince Of Arran (Shirocco) this spring, meaning Dalasan will have his eighth different rider in what will be his 20th start. "I think Billy has only had the one ride for me before and it was when he was an apprentice," Macdonald told Racing.com. "It is hard not to be impressed by his progress as a rider and last year, with over 100 winners nationally, he sat high up on the Australian Premiership. Our bloke drops to 52.5 kilograms in the Cup and we're confident he will make the final cut. He travelled home perfectly from the weekend and it is hard to fault the way he is ticking over."

Stakes races await Willo Titto

SPORTPIX

Michael Costa is contemplating stepping Willo Titto (Pierro) up into stakes races over the summer if she is able to continue her winning streak at Ipswich today. The five-year-old mare is aiming to stretch her winning sequence to four when she steps out in a Benchmark 75 Handicap over 1609 metres following victories at the Gold Coast, the Sunshine Coast and Ipswich. Her latest win over 1800 metres at the Gold Coast was her fifth for Costa since she transferred from Sunshine Coast trainer David Vandyke in June last year. "We've placed her well and she pulled up in good order after her last win," Costa told Racingqueensland.com. "She was thrown in the deep end when she won last time and rose to the occasion." The trainer revealed Willo Titto's part owner, Tom Amey - a cattleman from Casino in northern New South Wales - is keen to target the Magic Millions at the Gold Coast in January. "She's no super star but she wants to attack the line," he continued. "Her owner is a breeder and would like to have a throw at the stumps at the Magic Millions. There's some Listed races also coming up soon and if one comes up that suits her, we'll throw in a nom and won't die wondering."

Two Illicit could provide Innes with triple crown

Leith Innes believes Two Illicit (Jimmy Choux) could be the horse to help him complete the Hawke's Bay Group 1 Triple Crown. Innes has won the first two legs of Hastings' spring attraction, taking the Tarzino Trophy (Gr 1, 1400m) on three occasions and the Windsor Park Plate (Gr 1, 1600m) four years ago, but he has had no luck in the third leg, the Livamol Classic (Gr 1, 2040m), with his best result being third aboard the Australian visitor Miss Maren (Stravinsky) in 2009. However, the South Auckland-based rider feels he could have the right ammunition in the shape of Two Illicit to give him his first Livamol Classic win at Hastings on Saturday week. "Obviously in a dream world you would want to ride Melody Belle, but apart from her there's nothing else I would want to be on than Two Illicit," Innes said. "I haven't had any luck in the Livamol and I would definitely love to knock it off. It's a Group 1 I haven't won yet. I like riding at Hastings and to win all three legs would be special."

Matchmaker provides Wigley with big thrill

It was a momentous occasion for the Wigley family of Inglewood Stud when Matchmaker (Makfi) won the Canterbury Belle Stakes (Listed, 1200m) at Riccarton on Saturday. Ever since the race was named after their champion mare they have aspired to win the race, so for Matchmaker to do so in Canterbury Belle's (Beaufort Sea) very same colours was a huge thrill. "We have had a couple of goes at winning this race so we are very pleased, especially for Nick, (Wigley, breeder, co-trainer and part-owner) he was really thrilled. He told me it was one of his most enjoyable moments in 50 years of racing," part-owner Gus Wigley said. "Mum and Dad raced Canterbury Belle and she was a cult mare back in the day, not just in the racing game but throughout Canterbury. I remember when I was growing up, people coming up to Dad and saying 'are you the Nick Wigley that raced Canterbury Belle' and what a great mare she was."

Rosie Myers in induced coma after Foxton trials incident

Senior rider Rosie Myers was airlifted to hospital where she was in an induced coma after a 'freak' accident at Foxton's trials yesterday. After winning Heat 11 of the trials, the 33-year-old was dislodged from her mount 150 metres after the winning post where it is believed a following horse struck her head. Paramedics were treating her at the scene before Myers was flown to hospital. It is believed she has suffered fractures around her face. The trials were subsequently abandoned.

HK: Exultant gears up for Vase campaign

Exultant (Teofilo) pleased connections at Sha Tin yesterday morning as he stepped up his preparations toward the Hong Kong Vase (Gr 1, 2400m) where he'll aim for a sixth victory at the top level. Hong Kong's Horse of the Year went through the motions in his first barrier trial of the season in typical fashion, travelling at the tail of the ten-runner field under Zac Purton and rolling by the winning post in ninth behind Kings Shield (Scat Daddy). "He's going to have another trial before he races but I thought he felt good, I just rolled him around the outside to keep him out of the dirt," Purton said.

HK: Ballydoyle brigade on the radar

The Hong Kong International Races welcome mat is firmly rolled out for star European horses after last weekend's Arc weekend withdrawals caused by the contaminated feed issue. Aidan O'Brien is making new plans for Galileo (Sadler's Wells) quartet Serpentine, Mogul, Japan and Sovereign after Sunday's French frustration and Bill Nader, who plays a key recruitment role as HKJC director of racing business and operations, is well aware that Sha Tin's December showpiece is a viable and valuable alternative. "The whole thing doesn't hurt our position and if you have a horse who is ready to go in a big race like the Arc and who has been taken away, there are only a few options left," he said. "We have had great conversations with the team and I am sure Coolmore will be here in a big way come December if everything is set to go."

Seven for Maxios

Coolmore's Maxios (Monsun) sired his seventh individual stakes winner when Euclidia (3 f ex Mathematicienne by Galileo) ran out a clear winner of the Prix Panacee (Listed, 2400m) at Toulouse on Monday. The Christophe Ferland-trained three-year-old was winning for the second time in six starts when beating Deia (Soldier Hollow) by three and a half lengths. Phoeene (Olympic Glory) was another length away in third. Out of the winning Galileo (Sadler's Wells) mare Mathematicienne, a sister to Listed winner Galipad, Euclidia is a half-sister to three winners, including the Group 3 victor Soustraction (Lope De Vega) and the Listed-winning Prix Marcel Boussac (Gr 1, 1600m) runner-up Matematica (Rock Of Gibraltar). Maxios stood at Castlehyde Stud for a fee of €6,000 (approx. AUD$9,900) in 2020.

IR: Arc hero Sottsass retired to stand at Coolmore

Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe (Gr 1, 2400m) hero Sottsass (Siyouni) has been retired to stud after his heroics on Sunday. The three-time top-level winner, trained by Jean-Claude Rouget, held on by a neck to defeat In Swoop (Adlerflug) in the Longchamp showpiece, having finished third in the race last year. A potential Breeders' Cup Turf (Gr 1, 12f) tilt had not been ruled out in the immediate aftermath of the race but it has now been confirmed Sottsass, owned by White Birch Farm and Coolmore, will not race again. White Birch Farm's Peter Brant said: "The horse is going to go to stud at Coolmore and I am a big believer that a horse should go to stud when they are ready, when they look fine like a shiny penny, and not beat up. The horse has done everything in the world I could have asked him for. He's won the Jockey Club, the Ganay and the Arc de Triomphe. It's just an amazing feat.

He's a beautiful horse and he is so well bred. His sister will represent us at the Breeders' Cup, Sistercharlie."

UK: Mohaather to commence stallion career at Nunnery Stud

Mohaather (Showcasing), who proved himself a miler of the highest calibre when landing a vintage running of the Sussex Stakes (Gr 1, 1m) at Goodwood in July, is to begin his stallion career on Shadwell's Nunnery Stud roster next year. Richard Lancaster, Shadwell stud director, said: "The entire team at Shadwell are delighted to be standing Mohaather at the Nunnery. He put up arguably the best performance of any miler this year when defeating a top-class field in the Sussex Stakes, backing up what was an ultra-impressive performance in the Summer Mile at Ascot. His explosive turn of foot will live long in the memory." Trained by Marcus Tregoning, Mohaather won five times during an eight-race career, a record that included Group-level victories at two, three and four.

US: Into Mischief fee set

Spendthrift Farm's reigning champion general sire Into Mischief (Harlan's Holiday), the sire of Kentucky Derby (Gr 1, 10f) winner Authentic, has had his fee raised to $225,000 (approx. AUD$314,625) for next year. "In our minds, there was only one box left to tick for Into Mischief and that was siring a Classic winner," said Ned Toffey, general manager at Spendthrift. "Authentic was able to do that pretty emphatically in the Kentucky Derby and we continue to believe the best is still to come for Into Mischief. Authentic, Gamine and these three-year-olds were bred on a $45,000 fee, and Into Mischief has continued to cover better books every year. It has been gratifying to see him thrive in the sales arena, including having the second-highest yearling average along with more seven-figure yearlings than any other North American sire in 2020."

US: Keeneland November Breeding Stock Sale catalogue released

Keeneland have catalogued a total of 3,777 horses for the November Breeding Stock sale, including the Gai Waterhouse-trained Australian Group 1 winner Con Te Partiro (Scat Daddy) and the Australian-bred Grade 1 winner Oleksandra (Animal Kingdom). The sale will comprise ten sessions, with Book 1 on Monday, November 9 and Books 2-6 from Tuesday, November 10 through to Wednesday, November 18. Click here for the full catalogue.

US: Grade 1 winner Valiance to sell at Fasig-Tipton

Valiance (Tapit), the winner of last weekend's Spinster Stakes (Gr 1, 9f) will be sold at Fasig-Tipton's upcoming November Sale in Kentucky. The four-year-old has won six of her eight career starts and is being aimed at the Breeders' Cup Distaff (Gr 1, 9f). Fasig-Tipton president Boyd Browning said: "It is always exciting to offer fillies in top current form. A daughter of Tapit with a fantastic pedigree will be highly desirable to the sport's leading buyers and owners."

IR: Shutdown fears alleviated as racing continues

Fears that racing in Ireland was on the verge of another shutdown have been alleviated after the Irish government emphatically rejected the recommendation of the National Public Health Emergency Team (NPHE) to impose Level 5 lockdown restrictions across the entire country. Instead, Level 3 restrictions will be introduced nationwide, which means that racing will be able to continue behind closed doors but once again without owners. The escalation is expected to be implemented today after the cabinet signed off on the advice on Monday evening.

Gain Equine Nutrition, the feed manufacturer at the centre of the contamination incident which led to Aidan O'Brien being forced to take his four intended runners out of Sunday's Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe (Gr 1, 2400m), yesterday issued an unreserved apology to trainers impacted by the episode.

O'Brien and his sons, Joseph and Donnacha, were among a number of European trainers, including Classic winner Roger Varian, who were forced to withdraw their runners over the weekend after it emerged that they may have been exposed to a batch of feed contaminated with the prohibited substance Zilpaterol.

Zilpaterol is classified as a Beta-agonist, a medication which relaxes a horse's airway muscles and makes it easier for them to breathe.

It is unlicensed in Europe but is used in the US and elsewhere to promote weight gain, mainly in cattle.

Issuing a statement in the aftermath of a situation which forced the O'Brien stables to withdraw ten runners from Longchamp's prestigious card on Sunday, Gain said: "We apologise sincerely to our valued customers for the inconvenience caused by this incident and we are committed to promptly keeping you fully informed.

"Intensive testing of our equine feed ranges, batches and individual ingredients has been underway around the clock since this issue first emerged in France.

"We are continuing to work closely with all appropriate agencies, including the Irish Department of Agriculture, to fully investigate the source, nature and extent of this contamination."

Gain, who added that production of their feed has now re-commenced, added that they continue to advise their customers to refrain from using any stock of their goods they are still in possession of.

O'Brien senior has sent arguably his strongest ever team to Australia this spring with 2019 Epsom Derby (Gr 1, 1m 4f) hero Anthony Van Dyck (Galileo) spearheading a squad which includes leading Melbourne Cup (Gr 1, 3200m) fancy Tiger Moth (Galileo) as well as Magic Wand (Galileo), the winner of last year's Mackinnon Stakes (Gr 1, 2000m).

The ten horses trained by Aidan and his Melbourne Cup-winning son Joseph are currently in quarantine at Werribee having arrived on an international flight on Friday.

Racing Victoria reacted immediately when they became aware of the issue in Europe and on Monday conducted out of competition testing on the horses. The results are expected to be known later this week.

RV said in a statement. "RV stewards will continue to work with the O'Brien stables regarding the situation and will make a further comment once the result of the out of competition tests are known."

TJ Comerford, travelling head groom to Aidan O'Brien, told Racing.com yesterday: "The horses have travelled well and they have come here in good shape and they have fitted in well. They're in good order and it has always been the plan for them. They have all travelled here well.

"We only found out when we got here the story with the feed. We have done a test here and we will do another test if it requires it and hopefully everything will go smooth and they can run. We are doing everything we can and that is all we can do."

Anthony Van Dyck was among the 42 possibles left in the Caulfield Cup (Gr 1, 2400m) at yesterday's second acceptance stage. Joseph O'Brien still has Buckhurst (Australia), Master Of Reality (Frankel), Pondus (Sea The Moon) and Twilight Payment (Teofilo) in the mix for the October 17 race.

Buckhurst's name also featured among the 28 left in the 100th edition of the Cox Plate (Gr 1, 2040m), a race in which O'Brien senior could be represented by Armory (Galileo) and Magic Wand.

High emotion for Floors Stud as Elarqam brother brings 1.1m gns from Godolphin

BY JAMES THOMAS | RACING POST

Frankel colt was bred by the late Duke of Roxburghe

High drama was matched by high emotion at Tattersalls yesterday as a Frankel (Galileo) brother to Elarqam bred by the late Duke of Roxburghe became the first seven-figure yearling at this year's Book 1 of the Tattersalls October Sale when knocked down to Godolphin's buying team for 1,100,000gns (approx. AUD$2 million).

Auctioneer Simon Kerins introduced the colt, listed as lot 41, who is out of the Duke's champion racemare Attraction (Efisio), as "something special, a gorgeous colt with a gorgeous page", and it was Sheikh Mohammed's chief talent scout Anthony Stroud who had to see off the attentions of Andrew Balding, who was stationed in the bidders' area while taking instructions on the phone.

The result was a poignant one for the Floors Stud team, as the colt had been bred by the Duke of Roxburghe, who died aged 64 in August last year. Attraction carried the Duke's silks to some notable victories, including an Anglo-Irish 1,000 Guineas (Gr 1, 1m) double and the Coronation Stakes (Gr 1, 1m), and has gone on to breed the likes of Elarqam, Fountain Of Youth (Oasis Dream) and the smart Maydanny (Dubawi).

The Duchess of Roxburghe, Virginia Wynn-Williams, was in Newmarket to witness the seven-figure transaction first hand. She said: "We're delighted and for us it's a massively emotional moment as it's really a recognition of the Duke's legacy and Attraction's legacy. The two are very intertwined."

The Duchess went on to explain that Floors Stud would continue breeding despite the Duke's passing, albeit in a reduced capacity and with mares boarding elsewhere rather than at the farm in the Scottish Borders.

"We're very keen, myself and my son George

Lot 41: the Frankel colt out of Attraction

LAURA GREEN

Innes-Ker, to carry on, but in a smaller, more commercial way," she said. "And it won't be remaining at Floors Stud, which is very sad but that's the way it's going to be unfortunately."

The Duchess described stud manager Chris Gillon as "a godsend" for his efforts in ensuring the smooth running of the operation since the Duke's death, and in turn Gillon paid tribute to the team on the farm who have put in the hard yards to get the draft to Tattersalls in peak condition.

"With all the interest we had beforehand we knew we had something special on our hands," he said. "Watching him sell was a bit of a blur to be honest, it was so exciting and good to see the whole team's hard work being rewarded. The two girls at home, Christina Chesser and Laura Knox, have been absolutely amazing.

"It's been a hard time for the family and it's been tough for the staff on the stud as well, but I think the best thing we could have done is make sure we got our heads down and worked hard and got these horses here at the top of their game, especially this Frankel colt.

"I'm sure the Duke will be up there smiling down on everyone for all the hard work they've put in."

Gillon continued: "The late Duke saw this colt as a foal and absolutely loved him and I think everyone was in agreement that he was the nicest foal we'd seen from Attraction. Seeing how he's developed during his prep and behaved at the sales, he certainly looks the best the mare has produced."

The Frankel colt is the third seven-figure yearling produced by Attraction, whose Book 1 receipts now total 5,645,000gns. The priciest of those is the Group 2-winning Elarqam, a 1,600,000gns buy, while Maydanny, a son of Dubawi, fetched 1,350,000gns. Both horses were purchased by Shadwell.

Gillon also offered an update on the 19-year-old Attraction, and said there should be plenty more to come from the daughter of Efisio (Formidable).

"Attraction is at home on the stud and is looking brilliant at the moment," he said. "She's in foal to Kingman and carrying a filly, which is really exciting, and she's got a Dubawi colt on the ground, he's a really exciting prospect too."

Having signed the seven-figure docket, Stroud said of the Frankel colt: "He's beautifully bred and comes from a very good farm. He's the product of a mating the Duke of Roxburghe would have planned himself and he was a fantastic breeder. It's a shame he's not here as he'd have loved to have seen that."

PAT GLENNON JOINS OUR INCOMPARABLE INDUCTEES - The man who rode the arguably incomparable Sea Bird II -

BY STEVE MORAN | @ANZ_NEWS

Thomas Patrick (Pat) Glennon - (23 August 1927 – 14 February 2004) - had limited international success, measured by numbers alone, compared to his fellow “Incomparables” (the Australian jockeys who had sustained and remarkable success in England, Ireland and France from the 1900s to 1970s) but what a mark he made.

He is the only Australian jockey to have won the Melbourne Cup (which he did twice), the (Epsom) Derby and the Prix de l'arc de Triomphe - a feat also achieved by Ryan Moore and Michael Kinane.

He is one of only four Australians to have won the Derby and the Arc and, of course, those victories came aboard Sea Bird II whom many regard as the greatest ever racehorse.

Sea Bird is second only to Frankel in Timeform's all time ratings and I daresay there'd be some jurors, perhaps even a touch older than me, who would contest that verdict.

While Frankel was commanding in several of his Group 1 wins it would, I fancy, be subject to debate to rate them as more imperious than Sea Bird's victories in the Derby and Arc in 1965 (both of which can be seen on YouTube).

In the 1999 published Century of Champions, John Randall and Tony Morris rated Sea Bird the greatest racehorse of the 20th century, one pound ahead of Secretariat and two pounds ahead of Ribot and Brigadier Gerard although Morris, post-Frankel, would write: “I witnessed Sea-Bird's Arc, and have no doubt Frankel was superior, so if Sea Bird was worth 145, I can't quarrel with a 147 assignment for last season's superstar.”

Sean Magee, in his book “Great Horses”, wrote: “The victory of Sea Bird II in the 1965 Prix de l'arc de Triomphe was a performance of such merit that it will forever stand as a benchmark of excellence in thoroughbred racing.”

Fellow racing scribe Julian Wilson, in “The Great Racehorses”, wrote in response to being asked the greatest he'd seen: “...(I) never saw the great Ribot so the answer must rest between Mill Reef, Nijinsky and Sea Bird II....the ease with which he won the Derby had to be seen to be believed.”

Both authors pointed to the quality of opposition he faced. Sea Bird II won by six lengths from Reliance II, the previously unbeaten French Derby winner, who was immediately retired to stud as was Sea Bird. Third, beaten another five lengths, was Diatome who then won the Washington DC International at his next start. Those margins have been queried but it matters not, they were decisive.

The unplaced division included the Irish

Derby and King George VI & Queen Elizabeth Stakes winner Meadow Court; the French Oaks winner Blabla; Preakness Stakes winner Tom Rolfe; Russian Derby winner Anilin; Hardwicke Stakes winner Soderini and the Coronation Cup winner Oncidium who would have such a huge impact on the New Zealand breeding industry after being syndicated - the following year - by Te Parae Stud's proprietor, Alister Williams.

Sea Bird's Arc win was, of course, the pinnacle in Glennon's career which had taken him from Victoria where he grew up in Ascot Vale and rode his first winner at Bacchus March (at just 13) to South Australia, while still an apprentice, and then to Ireland and France.

In November 1943, the Adelaide News reported that: “Tom Glennon, the former Victorian jockey who won the 1925 Great Eastern Steeplechase on Dundalk and has been training horses in Melbourne, intends to apply for a licence to train here. Glennon was at Morphettville this morning with son Pat."

Glennon quickly established himself among the leading apprentices and, later, senior riders in South Australia.

He was quaintly described, in the Weekly Times, as having "brains and personality" as that paper reported an impending move to Singapore in 1949 and Glennon duly rode seven winners during a brief stint in what was then described as Malaya.

It was more than ten years later that Glennon undertook his major international expedition; arriving in Ireland where he was promptly champion jockey, riding for Vincent O'Brien, in 1962. A title his countryman Garnet Bougoure had taken two years earlier when also in O'Brien's employ. Fellow Australian Jack Thompson was champion jockey there in 1950, riding for Paddy Pendergast.

In December 1961, Glennon told the Australian Press that "he would accept an offer from Mr. Vincent O'Brien of a three-year contract with a £2000 annual retainer." Glennon said he had been told that Mr. O'Brien had a house waiting for him at Clonmel, Co Cork.

Glennon, in that championship winning debut season, won all of Ireland's major 1962 two-year-old races; the Beresford Stakes on Pontifex, the Anglesey Stakes on Philemon, the Railway Stakes and the Birdcatcher Stakes on Turbo Jet, all for Vincent O'Brien, plus the Curragh Stakes on the Mick Connolly-trained Majority Blue.

It is not quite clear why he chose to leave Ireland - especially as he was riding for the great

Sea Bird

APRH

O'Brien who was leading trainer in Ireland 13 times between 1959 and 1989 and twice British champion under both codes; amassed 27 Irish classics, 16 English classics, 23 Cheltenham Festival winners and 25 Royal Ascot winners.

It's believed he met French trainer Etienne Pollet while riding in Ireland. Perhaps he was lured by the romance of Paris. Regardless, his meeting with Pollet was fortuitous to say the least as he was the man who prepared Sea Bird.

The Independent, in Pollet's 1999 obituary, described him as one of the greatest trainers of the 20th century. "His training career spanned only 28 seasons and yet, as well as winning nearly all of Europe's major races, he prepared several great champions including Right Royal, Scantus, Hula Dancer and Vaguely Noble, and in Sea Bird II he looked after a horse that few would dispute was the best to race in Europe this century."

Glennon was at the forefront of this glorious time for Australian jockeys. In 1963, Des Coleman followed him from Adelaide to the UK which prompted the Evening Standard to report that Coleman would become the ninth Australian jockey to secure good appointments with leading English and Irish trainers in 1963.

Glennon might have won the Epsom Derby in his first year but opted to ride Sebring rather than the winning O'Brien-trained stablemate Larkspur who was partnered by fellow Australian Neville Sellwood who was killed in a fall at Maisons-Laffitte, just five months later, on 7 November 1962 (aged 39).

However, it was the glorious Sea Bird who set the Derby right for Glennon, in 1965, at his third ride in the Classic. Alas, Sea Bird's dam Sicalade met an inglorious end as was rather brutally described in the Canberra Times - "Before Sea Bird made his racecourse debut, Sicalade was sold to a Paris butcher for £100. The butcher was able to chop 630lb of meat from the carcass. It has been estimated that if Sicalade was still alive today she would be worth close to £50,000 sterling."

It ran the story as an adjunct to a report, in 1966, on a mare named Inflamm who was purchased from the Botany Pound for $56 (after she'd been found wandering the streets of Randwick) and then on-sold for $820 before producing a yearling who was sold to trainer Dick Roden for $3500.

Roden had, of course, provided Glennon with his second Melbourne Cup winner.

Glennon's first Cup win was in 1950, aboard Comic Court who was trained by Jim Cummings and strapped by his son Bart who would train 12 Melbourne Cup winners. A young Bart, then 22, it is rumoured might have been sent to find Glennon - just a couple of months his senior - on Cup eve and took him home on a milk cart after the jockey had reportedly had a "few too many".

Comic Court remarkably started at 25-1 despite having won the Mackinnon Stakes, with Jack Purtell aboard, on the Saturday. Purtell opted to ride the unplaced Cup favourite Alister which saw Glennon called up, after the Saturday race, and he duly cruised to a three lengths win in then record time - with three of his fellow Incomparables in Bill Williamson, Ron Hutchinson and Neville Sellwood finishing immediately behind him.

HE WAS QUAINLY DESCRIBED, IN THE WEEKLY TIMES, AS HAVING "BRAINS AND PERSONALITY" AS THAT PAPER REPORTED AN IMPENDING MOVE TO SINGAPORE IN 1949 AND GLENNON DULY RODE SEVEN WINNERS DURING A BRIEF STINT IN WHAT WAS THEN DESCRIBED AS MALAYA.

It could have been the second of a record-equalling (with Bobby Lewis and Harry White) four Melbourne Cup wins for Purtell.

Then 23-year-old Glennon said after the race that "it was worth living a whole lifetime for the win and the reception."

"Glennon comes from a family that has been associated with racing for more than 50 years in Australia," the Press reported at the time, "his father was a noted rider and seven uncles were horsemen. Two of them were killed in race falls. His father Tom was the most excited man on the course after the race and tears streamed down his face. 'This is the greatest moment of my life,' he said, 'I'd sooner have it than be young again and ride a thousand winners.'"

Glennon's fiancée, Miss Terry Conlon said she did not have a bet but happily announced that they were to be married in three weeks' time.

Vincent O'Brien gives a few pre-race tips to Pat Glennon

INDEPENDENT.IE

Glennon won the Cup again, in 1959, on Macdougall and again it was with a mount he secured at the eleventh hour and again the margin was three lengths. Ron Hutchinson was booked for Macdougall but switched to Trellos when the eventual winner was injured leading into the Cox Plate which he missed.

Hutchinson won the Mackinnon on Trellos on Derby Day and finished second, on a recovered Macdougall, in the Hotham Handicap. "I am convinced that Macdougall's run was a better Cup trial than the win by Trellos," he said at the time. Glennon then secured the mount after Bill Williamson reportedly knocked it back.

Glennon won all the Australian classics and partnered great sprinter Matrice, sire of Manihi and grand-sire of Manikato, in 27 wins. He rode five winners from as many mounts at Broken Hill early in 1950.

On retirement, he followed the lead of Jack Purtell and became a racing steward with the South Australian Jockey Club. He died in Adelaide, after a short illness, in 2004, and despite reportedly battling a number of personal and family issues, he was widely respected for the counselling he gave young riders.

POSTSCRIPT: The Incomparables are Frank Wootton, Frank Bullock, Bernard Carslake, Rae Johnstone, Scobie Breasley, George Moore, Edgar Britt, Ron Hutchinson, Bill Pyers, Neville Sellwood, Bill Williamson, Garnet Bougoure, Wally Sibbritt and Glennon.

They won 104 of the 117 Classic races in England, Ireland and France (including 53 in England alone) claimed by Australian jockeys and won 315 Group 1 races in those countries. In all, I have 38 individual Australian jockeys winning 363 races of current Group 1 status in England, Ireland and France.

LLOYD JACKSON UNWRAPS RACING'S STARS

BY LLOYD JACKSON | @ANZ_NEWS

Chittick foresight rewarded with top mare Probabeel

A combination of one man's determination and one stallion's brilliant but all-too-short career, is firmly behind the success of last week's Epsom Handicap (Gr 1, 1600m) victress Probabeel (Savabeel).

The man is Garry Chittick, founder of Thornton Park Stud which later morphed into Waikato Stud when that fabulous facility became available to purchase.

The stallion is Pakistan II (Palestine), whose influence during the sixties and seventies was profound.

It is no secret that buyers who come to New Zealand need patience due to the stout blood that is the foundation of the New Zealand Stud Book. When interviewed by ANZ Bloodstock News at last year's NZB Ready to Run Sale, top Victorian trainer Mick Price stated: "We know what we are getting when we come here. You have to wait, but even that is changing."

That change began to take place when Pakistan II found his way to Fairdale Stud in Longburn, just out of Palmerston North in the Manawatu region.

Because it was usually all they could afford, most New Zealand Stud Masters were attracted to siblings to Derby winners or well related yet average performed and stoutly-bred stayers.

Pakistan II was like a bolt out of the blue. He too was well related being by Palestine (Fair Trial) who was bred and raced by The Aga Khan and who made a huge impression at two and three. From 13 starts Palestine won 11 (including six races as a two-year-old), his premier performances being the 2,000 Guineas,

Probabeel

SPORTPIX

(Gr 1, 1m) and the Sussex Stakes, (Gr 1, 1m) at Goodwood as a three-year-old.

Tambara (Nasrullah), his dam, scored the Royal Ascot Coronation Stakes, (Gr 2, 1m) and dead-heated for second in the 1,000 Guineas, (Gr 1, 1m). Her half-brother and leading sire Turkhan (Bahram) took out the Irish Derby (Gr 1, 1m 4f) while her dam, Theresina (Diophon) was an Irish Oaks (Gr 1, 1m 4f) winning half-sister to the leading US sire Alibhai (Hyperion).

However, Pakistan II's race record could, at best, be described as slightly above average: Stakes-placed at two and three in France before winning handicaps at Aintree and Leicester as a four-year-old.

Consequently, he was purchased for a very modest sum and in 1963 found himself at Arthur Fell's Fairdale Stud, ready to start a sparkling stud career.

Through his two grandsires (Fair Trial and Nasrullah), Pakistan II's bloodlines featured a double up to Lady Josephine (Sundridge), dam of the brilliant Mumtaz Mahal (The Tetrarch), which might explain his ability to add the much needed zip to the bloodlines of his mates. It certainly didn't seem to matter how they were bred. His prepotency became all too evident and rejuvenated many families.

The toughness and soundness for which New Zealand-breds are known was fully maintained however.

Pakistan II's second crop (1965) included Count Kereru who raced on until he was 13, winning 25 times. Sharda won 21 times, Ayu Khan won 20, Sharif 13 times and Honda, 17 wins – all raced as ten-year-olds.

The standout of that golden class of 1965 was five-time Group 1 winner Rajah Sahib. A Group 1 winner at Ellerslie at two, Rajah Sahib took Melbourne by storm at three with a rare Caulfield Guineas (Gr 1, 1m) - WS Cox Plate (Gr 1, 10f) double. At five he added another double – the Doncaster Handicap (Gr 1, 1m) and Stradbroke Handicap (Gr 1, 7f).

Dual Group 1 winners Triton, Zambari and Purple Patch would follow.

Pakistan II sired 43 stakes winners in nine crops which also included the outstanding fillies Wood Court Inn, Prepak and the brilliant Ajasco. Fewer than 175 fillies were foaled and they would become gems as well as highly desirable.

Garry Chittick realised very early that the strength in any stud was in the quality of its mares and that a stallion's true worth was his stakes winners to runners ratio.

According to his research, a stallion with a ratio of ten per cent stakes winners to runners is exceptional. Pakistan's 43 stake winners from 326 runners puts him at an amazing 13.2 per cent, which is why Chittick went to great pains to acquire one of his daughters.

He succeeded in finding one but she was in California. At home in New Zealand, Georgina Belle was one of the better two-year-olds of her crop finishing second and third in two of the early Listed races that season. She was a little unlucky not to be a stakes winner, not due to her ability, but due to the fact that the Hastings Stakes, one her three wins, lost its stakes status that very year, 1971-72.

Exported to the USA she had two foals (both winners) to Gladwin (First Landing), a Hawthorne Gold Cup (Gr 3, 10f) winner and was carrying her third foal to that stallion when Chittick made the purchase. From California she was sent to England, the resulting foal (Raad) would go on to win 13 races in Denmark and Sweden. Covered by Habat (Habitat) she produced Habania then came back home to New Zealand.

Georgina Belle would produce four fillies. Her sole stakes winner, Giorgio (Centaine) took out a Listed race at Mornington but never made it to stud. Celia Leigh (Sound Reason) was successful at Caulfield and became the granddam of AJC Doncaster Handicap (Gr 1, 1600m) victor Vision And Power (Carnegie), VRC Salinger Stakes (Gr 1, 1400m) winner Glamour Puss (Tale Of The Cat) and great-granddam of Coolmore Classic (Gr 1, 1600m) winner Steps In Time (Danehill Dancer).

Probabeel descends from Georgina Belle's first filly Habania who was successful seven times including four wins in Melbourne where she also achieved a Group 3 placing at Caulfield. Habania would produce two Listed winners and from the first crop of O'Reilly (Last Tycoon) the unraced Hyades, Probabeel's third dam.

Hyades would also produce the unraced Eudora (Pins), dam of New Zealand Oaks (Gr 1, 2400m) and Livamol Stakes (Gr 1, 2000m) victress Savvy Coup (Savabeel). Eudora and Probabeel's dam Far Fetched (Pins) are three-quarter sisters. Therefore, Probabeel and Savvy Coup are virtually sisters-in-blood.

The entrance of O'Reilly is significant. When Chittick moved his operation from Manawatu to Matamata, one of the mares he found among his new acquisition was Hunza, the stakes winning daughter of Pakistan II. Hunza would produce Golden Slipper Stakes (Gr 1, 1200m) winner Courtza (Pompeii Court) and she, in turn, would foal Waikato Stud's super sire O'Reilly.

The two families were destined to meet and Pakistan II was central to both.

BETTING FORECAST: 5-2 La Bomba, 7-2 Gouten Of Garo, 6 Aurora Steed, Chungthwa Jingshen, 8 Apollos Bow, 12 Flying Monkey, 14 Corre Rapido, 16 Jimson The Dragon, 20 Yee Cheong Lucky, 25 Fairy Floss, 33 Roman Odyssey, 50 Wonder Brahma.

VERDICT Gouten Of Garo ran well in defeat over C&D four weeks ago and Jerry Chau's useful 10lb claim makes him of significant interest today but LA Bomba has benefited from a significant change of luck on the draw front and is taken to capitalise upon some help from the handicapper. Chungthwa Jingshen and Aurora Steed are others to consider.

BETTING FORECAST: 3 Faithful Trinity, 9-2 Daily Beauty, 6 Lady First, 7 Incanto Prepared, 8 All You Know, Anonyma, Thunder Stomp, 14 Bulb Elite, Jade Theatre, 25 Even Keel, 66 Tiger Glare.

VERDICT Cases can be made for a few of these but top of the list is five-time C&D winner THUNDER STOMP. An aggressive, mid-race move backfired when he finished only sixth here on his seasonal debut but the 8yo is now 6lb below his last winning mark. Faithful Trinity has made a very good start to the new campaign and is feared most, ahead of Thunder Stomp and Lady First.

BETTING FORECAST: 5-2 Jolly Honour, 4 Flying Sword, Smiling City, 8 Blastoise, Naboo Star, Sacred Ibis, 14 Magnetism, 25 Bar.

VERDICT Tony Cruz's 8yo FLYING SWORD was second over C&D when upped to 1m for his seasonal debut and could still have untapped potential over this trip. He gets the nod. Zac Purton is booked again for Jolly Honour, who also finished second over C&D on his seasonal debut in September. Strong-finishers Smiling City and Sacred Ibis will be dangerous if this race is run at a good pace.

VERDICT Low-mileage 4yo Ares probably has more to offer this season but his double-digit draw tips the scales in favour of JAZZ STEED, who has won two of his last four and might still be improving. Namjong Sings has performed better than his finishing position suggests on both his outings this season and is next on the list.

VERDICT Interesting that Zac Purton stays loyal to Amazing Luck as he showed very little towards the end of last season but is now 6lb below his last winning mark; a danger to all. The vote goes to PLAY WISE who made a solid return over C&D last month when beaten a neck. Off this mark, he should have more to offer. Regency Master moves to Happy Valley for the first time and should be competitive if taking to the sharper track.

VERDICT Having gone close in three of his four starts in Hong Kong, Sell My Sole should once again play a part. Preference is for KINDA COOL after he came good over C&D in his final start of last season. He looks capable of defying the latest 6lb rise. Happy Good Guys put up a career-best effort over C&D last month and has claims if he can build on that.

VERDICT Plenty of respect for Mig Energy who put in yet another solid performance on his seasonal return, but the wide draw means he will have to be ridden for luck. Preference is for HARDLY SWEARS who seems to have taken his form to a new level judged on his recent comeback. First Responder should have a role to play after showing up well in last month's return.

VERDICT If the recent break has revitalised Classic Unicorn, he can continue his rise up the ranks having won three from seven already. A better prospect might be HONG KONG WIN who is expected to strip fitter for his recent return to action and defy this current mark. Allied Agility put up a sound effort on seasonal return last month and is a player if building on that.
