Dashing a huge chance in Caulfield Cup

Andrew Balding-trained raider, now part-owned by Sir Owen Glenn's Go Bloodstock, shapes as a major player in today's feature

Nobody is paying him any regard. He continues to drift in the betting and even his trainer says he's more a Melbourne Cup (Gr 1, 3200m) horse.

However, to quote the late and great Fred Dagg (John Clarke) you would be a "fool to yourself and a burden to others" if you didn't have a couple of dollars on the grossly underestimated Dashing Willoughby (Nathaniel) in today's Caulfield Cup (Gr 1, 2400m).

The Andrew Balding-trained gelding is the best value runner in the race, albeit one in which prognostications may be complicated by the forecast of up to 10 millimetres of rain today.

Save for the possibility that the 2019 (Epsom) Derby winner Anthony Van Dyck (Galileo) may be simply superior - a prospect diminished by the anticipated rain if indeed it's a deluge - it looks a wide-open Caulfield Cup which may mimic last year when just a length and three quarters separated the first six to finish.

Nonetheless, racing is all about having an opinion and Dashing Willoughby is the horse over the odds, trading at as much as $30 on the eve of the race. Toffee Tongue (Tavistock), Warning (Declaration Of War) and Chapada (Bullet Train) look the other value runners albeit with Verry Elleegant (Zed) a justifiable favourite if it's wet.

Dashing Willoughby is not without early speed and can take advantage of barrier one. An in-form Michael Walker (who opted for this horse ahead of Prince Of Arran on whom he's had great success) rides and there is no jockey with a better record of taking advantage of inside barriers - riding for luck and finding it when necessary - in major races. Plus there's enough evidence to say he'll handle Australian soft ground.

But the key is that his form is simply great in three runs this year after being gelded. He led throughout first-up in the Buckhounds Stakes (Listed, 1m 4f) at this distance. Second and third have not raced since; fourth was Trueshan (Planteur), who's since won twice and had little luck in the Ebor.

He then won the Henry II Stakes at Sandown beating Spanish Mission (Noble Mission) who, interestingly, thereafter joined Balding's team and has since won twice. Note that Spanish Mission and Trueshan are among those taking on Stradivarius (Sea The Stars) in tonight's Qipco Champions Long Distance Cup (Gr 2, 2m) at Ascot.

Then on the worst (inside) part of the track he was a more than sound fourth in the Lonsdale Cup (Gr 2, 2m) at York, finishing just behind Nayef Road (Galileo) who'd previously, on his preferred good ground, run Stradivarius to a length so the form ties in with Anthony Van Dyck. Dashing Willoughby profiles very similarly to Trip To Paris (Champs Elysees) who stretched Mongolian Khan (Holy Roman Emperor) in 2015.

While Balding told Racenet his stayer's main aim is the Melbourne Cup, he did note that "Dashing Willoughby's European form would be quite a bit stronger than Duretto's so I'd hope he could be very competitive." Balding's Duretto (Manduro) ran fourth to Best Solution (Kodiac) in the 2018 Caulfield Cup. The Kingsclere trainer, interestingly, also originally prepared Cup entrants Master Of Wine (Maxios) and Le Don De Vie (Leroidesanimaux).

It is more likely than not that at least one of the visitors will feature in the finish. We've had five northern hemisphere-trained winners since All The Good (Diesis) rejuvenated international interest in the race with his win in 2008. In the past eight years there's been no fewer than 11 northern hemisphere newcomers (either trained there or here) finish top three and they've provided two of the top three on three occasions in the past four years.

The key local form constant in that time has been the Turnbull Stakes (Gr 1, 2000m) and, in terms of winners, that's been the four-year-old mares running well in the Flemington race and dropping significantly in weight for the Cup. That plainly makes the case for Toffee Tongue while Warning arguably turned in the best performance in the Turnbull.

Perhaps Toffee Tongue was a touch flattered by a rails run in the Turnbull but I'd say it was the run you had to see to suggest she'd peak for this as you would expect a four-year-old mare (with classic form last season) to do.

Trainer Chris Waller concurred on Radio RSN: "She's done what you'd hope she'd have done. We know she gets the distance, she's been set for the race and she's reasonably weighted."

I have absolutely no knock on the Turnbull winner Verry Elleegant who would relish soft ground but she will start favourite and continue to shorten. Good luck to you if you backed her early. She is a last-start winner unbeaten at the distance and boasts four wins and two seconds - both behind Addeybb (Pivotal) - on rain affected ground at 2000 metres and beyond.

Addeybb's form is arguably superior to any of the visitors here. He runs tonight in the Qipco Champions Stakes (Gr 1, 1m 2f). While no mare older than four has won since Mannerism (Amyntor) in 1992; no high class older mare has competed since Makybe Diva (Desert King) was beaten a nose by Elvstroem (Danahill) in 2004.

"She's met very good horses over the past six months and produced her best form in terms of consistency. Her form has been franked by Addeybb and she's unbeaten at 2400 metres, winning the Oaks and the Tancred convincingly," said Waller, who is also represented by Finche (Frankel), fifth last year and sound in The Turnbull.

About once in every ten years - on average - the Herbert Power (Gr 2, 2400m) throws up a good odds winner of the Caulfield Cup and this year's obvious candidate is Chapada, who is one of just four last start winners in the race (assuming Le Don De Vie doesn't get a run).

Trainer Mike Moroney told ANZ Bloodstock News his only reservation would be the forecast rain: "He's going well and I think he's the only horse who's beaten the handicapper, apart from Anthony Van Dyck who should probably have 62 (kilograms), but ideally we'd want good ground.

"The internationals look a strong group but often you never know, until after the race, which ones have travelled and which ones haven't.

<< Continued from page 3 They're training on a different surface here and some will adjust and some will go sore. You just don't know," said the Melbourne Cup winning trainer, who added that he expected Tofane (Ocean Park) to run "extremely well" in The Everest (1200m) in Sydney.

The visitors and the return of last year's placegetters certainly make this an intriguing Caulfield Cup from top to bottom. Only a mug would risk Aidan O'Brien's Anthony Van Dyck and son Joseph's Buckhurst (Australia) but I'll happily wear that tag as I believe both are over-bet.

O'Brien senior's travelling man T J Comerford says the Derby winner will handle "our" soft ground but the only glitches on his form card are on rain-affected tracks so it has to be a concern.

Obviously he's a very good horse but the weight and wide draw are also risk factors. And it might be that his form is just a touch overhyped. The Derby win on his CV has seduced most commentators but how much relevance does that have 17 months later?

His second in the Coronation Cup (Gr 1, 1m 4f) is solid enough but he was second, he didn't beat Ghaiyyath (Dubawi). A generally out of form bunch straggled in behind - bar Stradivarius, of course, whom he then beat in the Prix Foy (Gr 2, 2400m) but Stradivarius is a 4000 metres, not 2400 metres, performer.

There's every chance young Joseph and Mr Williams will be too clever for all us, as they were with Rekindling (High Chaparral) in the 2017 Melbourne Cup, but the reality is that Buckhurst has not won at the distance; arguably, he has too much weight on Irish Group 3 form and his three wins of note are all 2000 metres right-handed at The Curragh.

Vow And Declare (Declaration Of War) and Mirage Dancer (Frankel) return after running second and third respectively in 2019 but not since Columnist, in 1947, has a previous year's placegetter won the Caulfield Cup.

The argument for Vow And Declare is that he looks the type of horse who could emulate Dunaden (Nicobar) and Viewed (Scenic) by winning the year after a Melbourne Cup victory. I'd like to have seen more from him in the Turnbull but that was an odd race and Descarado (High Chaparral) did win this, albeit on a heavy track, off a 14th in the Turnbull.

Mirage Dancer was sound enough in The Metropolitan (Gr 1, 2400m) where, despite a very minor baulk in the straight, he had a charmed run. The Metropolitan form had a brief honeymoon with Railings (Zabeel) in 2005 and Tawqeet (Kingmambo) in 2006 but since then not one Metropolitan winner has been placed next start, including four who tackled this race.

The evergreen Prince Of Arran (Shirocco), True Self (Oscar) and emergencies San Huberto (Speightstown) and Le Don De Vie complete the international line-up. The Charlie Fellowes-trained Prince Of Arran has the excellent Australian form of two wins and four placings from six starts. He comes through the same lead-up race as last year and while beaten further this time around, he ran virtually the same time. Just think the Melbourne Cup is more his race. Likewise, True Self.

Strip 'still the one' to scale Everest

BY ANDREW HAWKINS | @ANZ_NEWS

For three decades from 1978, the Nine Network used the slogan "Still The One" to promote both its perceived and genuine dominance in the Australian broadcast market, especially after the emergence of cable television in the mid 1990s.

The ads continued even for a short period after they had ceded ground to the Seven Network in the mid-2000s, the campaign still evoking memories of the channel at its best even when it had lost some of that lustre.

Perhaps the same can be said of Nature Strip (Nicconi), the reigning Australian Horse of the Year who enters the world's richest race on turf, today's $15 million The Everest (1200m), as the horse to beat - if the Nature Strip that won that title shows up.

The Chris Waller-trained sprinter enters his grand final having had a far-from-ideal preparation, although when putting all the puzzle pieces together, it may not have been as bad as it seems.

Beaten first-up in the Concorde Stakes (Gr 3, 1000m)? He didn't win at either of his first-up runs during his Horse of the Year season. No problem.

Throwing rider James McDonald at the jump in a barrier trial? Clearly a freak accident. It was something he'd never looked like doing before and he may never do it again either.

Beaten again and disappointing in the Premiere Stakes (Gr 2, 1200m)? McDonald seemed to be cautious aboard the speedster at the start and, perhaps due to that caution, he was slightly slow to muster. That forced him to do plenty of work before then being able to cross Standout (Exceed And Excel), with that effort showing late.

In a spring where so much has gone wrong, though, all that is needed is for something to go right for Nature Strip to figure.

Nature Strip backers will likely know their fate at the start. The six-year-old can't afford to be slow to muster once again, particularly from gate five with the race likely to develop around him if he is tardy.

With $15 million on the line, expect McDonald to be aggressive from the gates, using the horse's natural speed to ensure he doesn't have to work hard to get into that front-running role.

The query then is what happens with Eduardo (Host), another horse with natural speed although one who probably isn't as quick as Nature Strip.

Rachel King will have one of the toughest roles of any rider in the race: ensuring Eduardo doesn't jeopardise his own chances by getting into a speed duel with Nature Strip, but also making sure the Joe Pride-trained chestnut doesn't gift the race to the champion sprinter by allowing him to dictate on his own terms.

If the real Nature Strip doesn't turn up, or even if he does but finds circumstances against him, there are a host of horses who could join Redzel (Snitzel) and Yes Yes Yes (Rubick) as an Everest winner.

Gytrash (Lope De Vega) flies fresh and has been intentionally prepared with that in mind. He has only raced once this spring, producing a mammoth effort to defeat Nature Strip comfortably in the Concorde Stakes.

His fellow South Australian Behemoth (All Too Hard) has always looked like a Group 1 winner in the making and he has finally put it all together this spring, winning the Spring Stakes (Gr 3, 1200m), the Memsie Stakes (Gr 1, 1400m) and the Sir Rupert Clarke Stakes (Gr 1, 1400m) impressively.

The form from the Memsie, in particular, looks solid with a subsequent Toorak Handicap (Gr 1, 1600m) winner in Mr Quickie (Shamus Award), a Bill Stutt Stakes (Gr 2, 1600m) victor in Glenfiddich (Fastnet Rock) and a Stocks Stakes (Gr 2, 1600m) heroine in Mystic Journey (Needs Further) in behind, while his effort to carry 60 kilograms in victory in the Sir Rupert Clarke cannot be understated.

He's the dark horse of the race and perhaps the one best suited to being able to upset Nature Strip.

Classique Legend (Not A Single Doubt) has been described by Les Bridge as "the best horse I've trained" - even better than the mighty Luskin Star (Kaoru Star) - and will jump as favourite after his big victory in The Shorts (Gr 2, 1100m) before his second last time out.

Libertini was in a unique position last time out as she needed to win the Premiere Stakes to put her case forward for a slot, whereas Classique Legend and Nature Strip were not under the same pressure.

Nevertheless, it was a tremendous win and she must be respected, because a repeat performance will see her right in the mix.

Godolphin pair Bivouac (Exceed And Excel) and Trekking (Street Cry) are flying under the radar to some degree, but both produced strong first-up performances and they both have form on the board. If anything, there is a slight leaning to Bivouac, but it is far more competitive than the two-horse race touted by his rider Glen Boss.

Veteran Santa Ana Lane (Lope De Vega) lines up in his third straight Everest, having finished sixth in 2018 before rattling home for second last year. Expect him to be flashing home again but it is hard to see him scoring.

Tofane (Ocean Park) has had no luck in two starts this spring and looks to have more to come. She's the one to keep safe, sporting the Yulong colours.

Haut Brion Her (Zoustar) and Dollar For Dollar (High Chaparral) were only confirmed at the last minute.

Haut Brion Her should be able to bounce back after a severe regression second-up, which followed a very tough win in the Sheraco Stakes (Gr 2, 1200m). Whether she can win is another matter entirely, but expect her to outperform her odds.

As for Dollar For Dollar, this does appear too rich but he's another who is flying. A top-five finish would be a tremendous result.

And so, after months of speculation about who would line up in the feature, after weeks of wheeling and dealing, the quick ascent to the Everest summit takes place at 4:15pm today

MORNING BRIEFING

Tough task at weights for Cup winner

Danny O'Brien is confident last year's Melbourne Cup (Gr 1, 3200m) winner Vow And Declare (Declaration Of War) can go close in the Caulfield Cup (Gr 1, 2400m) today despite a challenging weight. The gelding finished second behind Mer De Glace (Rulership) when carrying 52.5 kilograms in the Caulfield feature last year and will need to handle 57 kilograms 12 months later. "He's going very well. He's a winning chance but it's a big task with that weight. He needs to be four to five lengths better than last year," said O'Brien, who is not concerned with Vow And Declare's last appearance a fortnight ago, where he finished 12th in the Turnbull Stakes (Gr 1, 2000m). "He was fine. He was crowded late. He's ready for 2400 metres and he always runs well over a trip," he said. O'Brien is aiming for his second Caulfield Cup win after success with Master O'Reilly (O'Reilly) in 2007, while four-time winner Damien Oliver will join record holder Scobie Breasley on five wins if he is successful today.

All roads lead to Flemington for Warning

Last year's Victoria Derby (Gr 1, 2500m) winner Warning (Declaration Of War) has his sights firmly set on the Melbourne Cup next month and will be ridden with that in mind in the Caulfield Cup today, according to Sam Freedman. Warning will likely start from barrier 16 and Freedman thinks it will be tough to win from there. "I think the horse is going very well, but that [the barrier] makes the task a little bit more difficult," Freedman, who trains in partnership with his father Anthony, told Racing.com. "I'm not sure if Caulfield is his perfect track, he is more of a Flemington horse. It's a really nice run heading towards the Melbourne Cup. We will probably ride him quietly. He has got the speed over this trip that he sort of can settle closer, but with his grand final being the Melbourne Cup, the last thing we want to do is give him a real gut-buster and then have a horse that takes a little while to get over it. Obviously if he can go on and win the race, we will be trying to win it, but ultimately his main target is the Melbourne Cup."

Southern stars align for
Dalasan

Leon Macdonald will be hoping Dalasan (Dalakhani) can follow in the footsteps of his 2011 Caulfield Cup winner Southern Speed (Southern Image) today, with the four-year-old mirroring her preparation. Both horses finished fourth in the Turnbull Stakes in the final run prior to the Caulfield Cup and Dalasan will carry 52.5 kilograms today, the same as Southern Speed carried to victory. Macdonald is confident Dalasan can run well under an in-form jockey. "He's drawn a bit awkwardly in 14 but he's got Willie Pike on and he couldn't be riding any better, plus he's only got a light weight," Macdonald said. Dalasan finished second in the South Australian Derby (Gr 1, 2500m) in May and Macdonald views that run as a good form reference for the Caulfield Cup. "He was beaten by a smart horse in Russian Camelot and the third horse was the Victoria Derby winner Warning in the strongest South Australian Derby for years," Macdonald said. "This is the race he's set for and he has the weight to be a winning chance."

Bowman: Van Dyck
an indication of Australia's allure

Hugh Bowman will bid to win his first Caulfield Cup today on 2019 Epsom Derby (Gr 1, 1m 4f) winner Anthony Van Dyck (Galileo), with the jockey partnering him for the first time yesterday. Bowman believes the arrival of the Caulfield Cup topweight, who is trained by Aidan O'Brien in Ireland, is significant for Australian racing. "It's great to see a horse with the credentials that this horse brings to Australia," Bowman told Racing.com. "It's rare to see the very top-class European middle-distance stayers come over here for our signature races and the fact that Aidan O'Brien and the Ballydoyle operation have decided to bring such a high-class horse over here, I think just shows how well our racing industry is going on the world stage. I am sure if this horse can at the very least run well and show that they can come and do it over here, we might see some more come because the prize-money here is just extraordinary and I think it's just a great advertisement for just how healthy racing is here in Australia."

Dalasan

SPORTPIX

Cummings: Don't forget Avilius

James Cummings believes multiple Group 1 winner Avilius (Pivotal) can produce a big performance in the Caulfield Cup today. The seven-year-old's last victory came in the 2019 George Main Stakes (Gr 1, 1600m), but his runner-up performance in the Hill Stakes (Gr 2, 2000m) a fortnight ago has given his trainer confidence. "He's sailing along beautifully and he's highly likely to produce the best run of his campaign," Cummings said. "We suspect he's coming from an excellent form race in the Hill Stakes. The sight of Avilius storming home in the Caulfield Cup would bring great pride to the stable. He has been a top-class multiple Group 1 winner, but that has now pushed him close to the top of the weight scale in this handicap. He has earned a berth to tackle these stayers in Australia's premier mile and a half handicap."

The Chosen One to improve on last year

The Murray Baker and Andrew Forsman-trained The Chosen One (Savabeel) will be attempting to capitalise on sneaking into the Caulfield Cup (Gr 1, 2400m) for the second year in a row, aiming to go better than his ninth last year after drawing barrier 18. Set to jump from barrier two this time around, he is coming off an average seventh last week in the Herbert Power Stakes (Gr 2, 2400m) at the course and distance. "The inside draw means he doesn't have to get so far back and he doesn't have to try and come around the field, which when you have 17 other horses of that calibre is pretty tough," Forsman said. "The plan will be to be as handy as possible without over-doing it and hopefully he gets a bit of luck in the run. Last start, in particular, was just a nothing run. He was three wide with no cover in a muddling run race. You have to forgive him that. He didn't throw it away, he kept whacking away. The start before was a little bit disappointing but it was at weight-for-age. Back to a handicap, with blinkers on, I think he is a horse that appreciates Flemington as opposed to Caulfield, but the key is a good draw. If he gets a bit of luck then there is no reason he can't be competitive."

Rain to assist Australian Bloodstock pair

Any rain falling in Melbourne ahead of today's Caulfield Cup will be beneficial to the Kris Lees-trained outsiders Mustajeer (Medicean) and Raheen House (Sea The Stars), with the pair $101 and $251 chances respectively as of last night. "I think (Mustajeer) is going the right way. It's going to be hard for him, but I think he is going the right way," Lees' travelling foreman Cameren Swan told Racing.com. "He will probably go back (from barrier 15 with Billy Egan on board). He doesn't want a firm track at all and the prospect of rain is good. He is a good-enough horse to be competitive on his day. I really think he will run the best race of his preparation, he looks great and feels great. I think Raheen House wants it a little bit further in this grade. The prospect of rain is really going to enhance his chances. For him to be competitive, the track will have to be pretty wet by his race."

Alfa Oro ready for stakes tilt

Alfa Oro (Bachelor Duke) is well-fancied to land his first stakes win at the first attempt when lining up in the Caulfield Sprint (Gr 2, 1000m) on Saturday. The Matt Laurie-trained gelding won a Benchmark 84 contest at Moonee Valley first-up last month, earning him a fifth consecutive victory. "He's a horse that we've always expected to get to the elite level, but we've just managed him properly and taken him through his grades," regular rider Ben Melham told Racing.com. "You can only win and that's what he has done. He has picked up good prize-money for the owners along the way and I've got no doubt he'll reach the top end. Down in the weights on the minimum looked too enticing... the horse is really in good form so I'd expect him to be hard to beat on Saturday."

Chibnall seeks career highlight

Rainbiel (Toronado) will be aiming to complete a hat-trick of wins in the three-year-old Fillies' Plate (1400m) at Caulfield today, following an impressive two and three-quarter length win in a Benchmark 64 at Kyneton on her last start. "She's got to step up because it's obviously harder, and it's her first time up to 1400 metres. If she can handle those two little hurdles, I think she'll be very, very competitive," Anthony Chibnall told Racing.com. Rainbiel heads the market for the event and jumps from barrier eight under Dean Holland. If she wins, it will be the highlight of Chibnall's career so far. "I don't give Dean any instructions, I just say ride her as the barriers open," Chibnall said. "She's got enough barrier speed to put herself wherever Dean wants to put her. I've galloped her on the track at Kilmore and she can do things I haven't had a horse do."

Bossy excited by Bivouac

Glen Boss is raring to ride Bivouac (Exceed And Excel) in The Everest (1200m) today and believes his mount has a huge chance of success. "He has got an undeniable chance," Boss told Racing.com. "This colt is flying. He is a happy horse. Speaking to James [Cummings], he can't wait for the weekend, so I'm looking forward to it. When I rode him in the autumn, I said to James and the lads at Godolphin that he would really furnish and make a beautiful spring colt. And he's fully furnished now. He looks a real colt and is really athletic. His first-up run was awesome and you see with his profile he springs off that first-up run, his next one is huge." Despite not heading the Everest betting market, Boss is confident Bivouac can outrun his odds. "My bloke has beat them [the Everest contenders] all before. They're coming from different angles... Nature Strip (Nicconi) when he is on, he is nearly unbeatable, Classique Legend (Not A Single Doubt) is the new kid on the block in a way, then you've got a couple of emerging (sprinters). I'm pretty confident with where I am. I know where my horse sits in the pecking order and it's pretty high."

Adelaide raid on Sydney riches

South Australian trainers Gordon Richards and David Jolly are confident their respective horses can go close in the $15 million The Everest today. Richards trains Black Caviar Lightning (Gr 1, 1000m) winner Gytrash (Lope De Vega), who arrives at Randwick in perfect shape. "Everything is great with Gytrash, I couldn't be happier," Richards told Racing.com. "Some may question whether I have done enough with him because it is six weeks between runs. But he is such a clean-winded horse and he is so good fresh I have no issue with him. His jockey [Jason Collett] is in good form and if we are beaten on Saturday it will simply be he wasn't good enough." Jolly is equally as confident about last month's Sir Rupert Clarke Stakes (Gr 1, 1400m) winner Behemoth (All Too Hard), who is aiming for his fourth-consecutive success. "He's done extremely well at Brad's (Widdup)," said Jolly. "I think the travelling he has done in the past year has really seasoned him and he has not turned a hair. I'm really excited by his draw as well because he likes that sort of run smothered up, just needing some luck in the straight and a chance to dash at them late. Everything has gone like clockwork really and I would be disappointed if he doesn't run well."

It's Me passed fit, Front Page scratched

The Kosciuszko (1200m) favourite It's Me (Shamus Award) has been cleared to take her place in the $1.3 million contest after returning normal blood test results on Friday. The Brett Cavanough-trained four-year-old's participation had been in some doubt after a scope earlier this week revealed slight traces of mucus, but It's Me has responded well to treatment and an endoscopic examination on Friday confirmed the mucus had cleared. However, the Geoff Duryea-trained Front Page (Magnus), who was one of the leading fancies behind It's Me, has been scratched from the feature for country-trained horses after suffering injuries to an eye and his off hind leg in float mishap. He has been replaced in the field by the Danny Williams-trained Prairie Fire (Snitzel), who was beaten six lengths by Everest contender Classique Legend in The Shorts (Gr 2, 1100m) two starts ago.

Truth targets Kosciuszko defence

Keith Dryden is confident last year's Kosciuszko winner Handle The Truth (Star Witness) has a good chance reigning supreme at Randwick again despite having to carry 59 kilograms, a rise of two kilograms from last year. "He's gone perfectly for us and now we just need a good ride and some luck," Dryden said. "But at this stage, I'm pretty happy with where I'm at with the horse." Handle The Truth will be partnered by Nash Rawiller, who steered him to victory over subsequent Group 2 winner Victorem (I Am Invincible) in last year's race. Handle The Truth arrives at Randwick following a sixth-placed finish first-up in a Benchmark 88 handicap over course and distance a fortnight ago. "He went really well first up. He usually races well fresh and his record is also good second up," Dryden said. "If he runs up to that then I expect the horse to be right in the mix. He's gone to another level in maturity. He's always been physically strong but mentally, he's a bit more relaxed on the track now."

Irithea chases million-dollar milestone

Most seven-year-old mares are already in the breeding barn but connections of Irithea (Snitzel) are keen to achieve one more goal. As a Group 3 winner, Irithea's residual value is assured but with just over $900,000 in the bank, Bjorn Baker says her owners are keen to see her pass the $1 million milestone, which she will achieve if successful in today's Sydney Stakes (Gr 3, 1200m) at Randwick. "The syndicate as a whole decided to keep racing her and I must say, I'm happy about that because she has been a stable stalwart," Baker said. "She has won just under a million so that's one of the first aims with her this preparation, to win a million. The main aim going forward is trying to get her back into the Magic Millions fillies and mares race. She was a good second at the start of the year so that's the plan with her."

Second Listed win for Partner

Balaklava Cup (Listed, 1600m) victor Winning Partner (5 g Dawn Approach - Lady Frere by Johannesburg) doubled up in the Murray Bridge Gold Cup (Listed, 1600m) yesterday, with the Tony and Calvin McEvoy-trained chestnut making it two Listed wins this spring. Sent out as second favourite, Winning Partner - ridden by Barend Vorster - defeated the favoured Aqueduct (Dundeel) by a length and a half with a further three lengths to Regalo Di Gaetano (Supreme Class) in third.

Mer De Glace

SHADAI STALLION STATION

Mer De Glace could return to Melbourne

2019 Caulfield Cup winner Mer De Glace (Rulership) could appear in Melbourne once again in the future, with connections not ruling out a return to Australia. The Hisashi Shimizu-trained Mer De Glace, who is owned by the Japanese Carrot Club, has not appeared on a racetrack since suffering a tendon injury after a sixth-placed finish in last year's Melbourne Cup. "Unfortunately, he suffered a tendon injury after the Melbourne Cup last year," a Carrot Club representative told Racing.com. "He is getting better but not quite ready to be ridden at the moment. His recovery from injury is the first priority, we have no racing plan for him at all. It was great to win the historical race Caulfield Cup as his first Group 1 victory, we truly appreciate everyone in Melbourne for the support we received. We would love to go back to Melbourne again sometime."

Griffiths, De Kock in training partnership

Robbie Griffiths has entered into a training partnership with Mathew De Kock, the son of champion South African trainer Mike De Kock. The pair will be based at Griffiths' current Cranbourne yard, with Racing Victoria officially approving the training partnership earlier this week. "We're so excited to be joining in partnership and really think it's a perfect opportunity for both of us moving forward," Griffiths told Racing.com. "Hopefully it won't be long before both of our names are in the racebook and we have our first runner together. In these modern times with racing 24/7, partnerships have proved very successful here in Australia and we hope we can be the next pair to make an impact."

NEW ZEALAND

NZB Ready To Run breeze-ups online

More than 250 two-year-olds galloped down the home straight at Te Rapa racecourse earlier this week for New Zealand Bloodstock's annual Ready to Run Sale Breeze-Ups. With significant importance placed on Breeze-Up footage for buyers this year due to Covid-19 travel restrictions, NZB made the decision to lengthen their traditional Breeze-Up clip format and offer vision of the mounting yard prior to horses breezing. The 2020 Breeze-Up clips were extended to include additional footage near the 600-metre mark to capture horses before they fully extended into their gallop, while horses also had the last 200 metres of their work individually timed. While the official Breeze-up videos themselves are slightly longer, NZB also filmed the majority of the two-year-olds being paraded in the mounting yard at Te Rapa prior to their gallop. Bloodstock sales manager Danny Rolston acknowledged the high standard of quality and presentation that buyers have become accustomed to at the Karaka Ready to Run Sale. "The results of the sale speak for themselves and after seeing the group of horses parade and breeze up this week, it's clear that is set to continue long into the future," Rolston said. All Breeze-Up videos are now available to view online at www.nzbc.co.nz. Mounting yard footage is available at <https://vimeo.com/showcase/7597026>.

Supera scratched

Group 1 performer Supera (Savabeel) won't take her place in the Livamol Classic (Gr 1, 2040m) after being scratched yesterday morning as a result of a minor foot issue. "The track or draw had nothing to do with the decision to scratch her, it's just a minor foot issue," said Ken Kelso, who trains in partnership with his wife Bev. The Sir Peter Vela-owned mare finished runner-up in the Tarzino Trophy (Gr 1, 1400m) at Hastings in the first leg of the Hawke's Bay Triple Crown before finishing sixth in the Windsor Park Plate (Gr 1, 1600m) earlier this month. Kelso is unsure what his next steps are with the six-year-old and said he will play it by ear: "I'm not sure at this stage, it depends on the foot."

True Enough set for return

The Murray Baker and Andrew Forsman stable will have runners at both Hastings and Ellerslie this weekend, with Group 1 winner True Enough (Nom Du Jeu) resuming in the Red Badge Sprint (Gr 3, 1400m) at Hastings. "Obviously he is always very genuine. He was meant to resume earlier in the season but he had a bit of a setback," Forsman said. "He missed probably a week or so and we thought it was best to miss the Triple Crown at Hastings and reassess. He is an older horse and probably a bit vulnerable fresh-up. He is not really well weighted against some of those ones that have had a run and are a bit sharper but he is always competitive and you wouldn't write him off, that's for sure. He is a big horse and with Jonathan (Riddell) on he won't have a lot of dead weight to carry. He will put himself handy enough from a good draw and should be competitive." The Tauranga Stakes (Gr 2, 1600m) and the Zabeel Classic (Gr 1, 2000m) on Boxing Day are likely targets for the seven-year-old, who has won nine of his 22 starts and placed on a further ten occasions.

Big weight turnaround for Sheezallmine

Sheezallmine (Super Easy) will be vying to add another Group 3 victory to her resume when she lines-up in the Red Badge Spring Sprint (Gr 3, 1400m) at Hastings today. The Daniel Miller-trained mare finished fifth first-up under 62 kilograms at Hastings last start and Miller said she will appreciate the nine-kilogram weight relief this weekend. "It's going to be a big help after having to lug around 62 kilograms last start," Miller said. "I thought she went a good race, she was held up for quite a while at the top of the straight and she was quite strong through the line and after the line. I am really surprised with how that first run has brought her on. She has really got that spring back in her step now and it looks like she is ready to go."

Globetrotter Endless Drama on song

Nine-year-old Endless Drama (Lope De Vega) showed he is not ready for retirement just yet with a 20-length demolition of his rivals in an Avondale open catchweight 1000-metre trial on Thursday. The 31-start veteran is a multiple Group 2 winner and has placed at Group 1 level on three occasions: the Irish 2000 Guineas (Gr 1, 1m), Lockinge Stakes (Gr 1, 1m) and Stradbroke Handicap (Gr 1, 1400m). Tony Pike has overseen the latter part of his career and was delighted to see one of his favourite gallopers show a zest for racing. "The old boy is going fantastic," Pike said. "We sort of semi-retired him at the end of his last preparation and he has had a good four-month spell. We couldn't really find a home for him (at stud) so we brought him back into work and that is probably the best thing that could have happened to him. He has always had some feet issues and soundness issues, but he is as sound as he has ever been since he has come to New Zealand. He has been going super and off that trial on Thursday he has still got the will to do it. He is a genuine Group 1 horse and the biggest thing is keeping him sound and happy which he is at the moment. While he is in that state we will give him another crack." Pike said Endless Drama will be aimed at sprint races in the coming months, including the Railway Handicap (Gr 1, 1200m), with the Legacy Lodge Sprint (Listed, 1200m) at Te Rapa on November 7 a nice starting point.

Lope de Vega

Spratt sidelined

Jockey Sam Spratt has a suspected broken collarbone sustained at the Avondale trials on Thursday. The 35-year-old, who has ridden nine winners so far this season and has 905 career wins to her name, including 17 at Group 1 level, will be sidelined in the near future and forgoes her six rides at Ellerslie today.

Benner, Wynyard produce impressive fillies

Otaki trainers John Benner and Hollie Wynyard have plenty to look forward to this season with two promising three-year-old fillies. Hold the Press (Press Statement) and Key (Exceed And Excel) both won on debut at their home track on Thursday and their trainers think both fillies have a bright future. "They were both very good," Benner said. "They are fillies with a nice future. They have nice pedigrees and tick a lot of boxes. Hold The Press possesses a lot of tactical pace which will hold her in good stead for her career. She is very nifty from the barrier and very quick to jump into the bridle and get into a spot, which makes the jockey's job a lot easier. She was very impressive. She quickened up and it was very comfortable in the end. Key was also impressive, but she has got her issues. She can be a bit naughty, but it is something we are working on. It was good for her to get that one under her belt. We know how good she is, we have just got to get the mental side of things right."

Weigh In returns to Trackside

New Zealand's only television show dedicated to news and reviews of the thoroughbred industry returns on Monday on Trackside. Weigh In will screen live at 8pm on Monday nights after a new 30-programme series was commissioned by some of the biggest names in New Zealand racing. TAB NZ no longer makes racing magazine shows as their mandate has changed to primarily driving turnover to maximise profits to return to the industry. But the thoroughbred racing industry will now have weekly review shows through the support of those involved in the industry, a family of sponsors put together through the work of David Ellis. Weigh In will be hosted by Emily Bosson along with regular panellist Michael Guerin but will also see the return to New Zealand television screens of respected presenter Luke Radich as well as expert panellists and guests. The show will not only review the week's best races in New Zealand and Australia but discuss industry news and feature regular segments on developments inside the industry, personality profiles, including club news, major race days and the sales and breeding industries. Weigh In will also showcase the New Zealand thoroughbred racing industry to Australian viewers through Sky Racing and numerous overseas and domestic platforms.

HK: Golden Sixty, Beauty Generation square off again

Golden Sixty (Medaglia d'Oro) has improved from his first-up win according to trainer Francis Lui as the Hong Kong Derby (Listed, 2000m) hero shoots for his ninth victory in a row in tomorrow's Sha Tin Trophy (Gr 2, 1600m). "He's good, he's come on from his last start when it was his first-up run from the break and this time his condition has improved," Lui said. Last season the gelding became the second horse in history to clean sweep the Four-Year-Old Classic Series and he returned this campaign with an exciting first-up win over Beauty Generation (Road To Rock) in last month's Celebration Cup (Gr 3, 1400m). "He's good, he galloped on the grass and because of the typhoon it was delayed until Wednesday, and also this morning he had a good canter around the big track," Lui said. Tropical Storm Nangka skipped past Hong Kong but that threat delayed both his and Beauty Generation's grass gallops on Tuesday, and, after toppling the veteran champ first up with a 17-pound weight allowance, this time the gap between the pair will only be 10 pounds. "I have my fingers crossed, it's hard to say that I'm confident as I'm just trying my best - I don't want to put too much pressure on myself," Lui said. Beauty Generation's rider Zac Purton added: "There's no doubt it's going to be a much more even contest, he still has the advantage at the weights but I think it'll be interesting this time."

HK: Prawn still a Premier prospect

Joao Moreira believes Hot King Prawn (Denman) is capable of winning a hitherto elusive Group 1 as the grey returns for his fifth Hong Kong racing season in tomorrow's Premier Bowl (Gr 2, 1200m) with December's top-level riches in mind. "The main horses are not running against him in the next couple of races, so he's going to have his opportunity now and I always thought he was a horse who was capable of winning at least one Group 1," Moreira said. Hot King Prawn has been in the mix for an elite success since his four-year-old season, which saw him claim two Group 2s and one Group 3 contest, but since then he has narrowly missed on three occasions in Group 1 company, coming closest in last year's Hong Kong Sprint (Gr 1, 1200m) when second by a neck to fellow John Size trainee Beat The Clock (Hinchinbrook). Hong Kong's sprinting ranks have entered a phase of renewal, as is the normal cycle every few seasons or so, with the retirements last term of Group 1 winners Mr Stunning (Exceed And Excel), Ivictory (Mossman) and D B Pin (Darci Brahma), and top-class performers Little Giant (Swiss Ace), Full Of Beauty (Darci Brahma) and Thanks Forever (Duporth), thus removing six 110-rated or higher sprinters from the arena. "Hot King Prawn has been a very consistent horse, he has matched against some of these horses in the past and been very competitive, so I'm not expecting anything different other than him going there and being very competitive," Moreira said.

US: Red Knight takes Sycamore

At long last, Trinity Farm's six-year-old homebred Red Knight (6 g Pure Prize - Isabel Away by Skip Away) picked up his first graded stakes win on his 21st start on Thursday at Keeneland when he cut through the pack on the final turn and ran down his rivals to take the Sycamore Stakes (Gr 3, 12f). Ridden by James Graham in the mile and a half feature, Red Knight broke a tad slow in the ten-horse field and soon found himself boxed in near the back of the pack. Once he was free and clear at the furlong pole, Red Knight found his second gear and pulled even farther away from the pack. The gelding crossed the wire two lengths clear of pace-setting Postulation (Harlan's Holiday), with Ziyad (Rock Of Gibraltar) - coming off a three and a half length last to Caulfield Cup (Gr 1, 2400m) top-weight Anthony Van Dyck (Galileo) at his most recent run - a head away in third. "Mr Graham made it a great ride and a great trip," said owner Thomas Egan of Trinity Farm. "I think the announcer said that he sifted his way through horses and changed lanes, and that was very correct. They had originally put him in a box and they wanted to keep him there." Added Kenny McCarthy, assistant to winning trainer Bill Mott: "It was a wonderful ride by James—a great decision on the turn to split those horses. And then he really picked the horse up and finished strongly."

Analysis: Winning Partner followed up his recent win in the Balaklava Cup (Listed, 1600m) with another stakes success here. He settled well in about seventh place but trapped deep from his wide barrier before improving (widest of all) rounding the turn. He challenged at the 200m and then drew away for a very good win. The favourite Aqueduct went to the front and then travelled well at a reasonable tempo and looked to be going well on straightening but was overtaken at the 200m before battling on well for second, his first defeat in four Australian starts since coming from New Zealand. Regalo Di Gaetano was eighth, between runners, at the 600m, eased into clear running on turning for home and the fought on to gain third in a photo from Wings Of Pastrami, who held on for fourth after being handy all the way. BETTING FORECAST: 7-4 Ontario, 9-2 Zaffy's Pride, 11-2 Federal, 6 Poetic Flare, 7 Masen, 9 Erzindjan, 14 Inca Prince, 20 Mexico City, 100 Star Image.

VERDICT His Group 2 Royal Lodge Stakes second is the standout form here, but a Listed defeat in the interim at Tipperary has to be a concern as far as Ontario is concerned. The latter may have come a bit soon on the back of a hard battle at Newmarket all the same, and he should be a tad fresher here. Masen, Poetic Flare and Zaffy's Pride looks well capable of mounting a stern challenge, but preference is for FEDERAL. The turn of foot the latter displayed when winning his maiden here on debut, is still fresh in the memory bank and he looks a quality performer. [Seamus Howard]
