David and Harry Eustace set to go head-to-head on Golden Slipper day

From Newmarket to Rosehill, brothers to line-up against each other in Manion Cup with a chance of landing a Group 1 apiece

BY GEORGIE DENNIS | @ANZ_NEWS

When Yogi (Raise The Flag) and British raider Young Rascal (Intello) clash in tomorrow's N E Manion Cup (Gr 3, 2400m) at Rosehill, two brothers who work on opposite sides of the globe will be going head-to-head in an all-family affair on one of the biggest days on the Australian racing calendar.

Many of us are well familiar with David

Eustace, who trains in partnership with Ciaran Maher, but tomorrow his older brother Harry, the assistant trainer to William Haggas in Newmarket, will saddle the five-year-old gelding in the Group 3 as well as favourite Addeybb (Pivotal) in the Ranvet Stakes (Gr 1, 2000m) two races later.

It's a day the pair never saw coming, to both be presenting runners on the same raceday in the southern hemisphere, but they're equally excited while eager to see who fares best in the Manion Cup.

"It's definitely not something we thought would happen a year or so ago so it was exciting when he said he was coming out," David told ANZ Bloodstock News.

"It's been difficult to get up there (to Sydney) but I'm going up there tomorrow (Friday) so it will be a really good day. I'm sure mum and dad will be cheering from Racing NSW on the laptop.

"We didn't really think we'd have a runner against each other until yesterday (Wednesday) so there will be a bit of a rivalry but in a funny sort of way I'll be hoping his horse does very well."

When asked if there would be a sibling rivalry, Harry said: "One hundred per cent. We both want to win. If neither win, it will still be about who finishes ahead of who."

"I think we're in an industry where luckily hard work usually pays off and when you put that amount of effort in, that makes you competitive. You can't work hard at something and then not care about the end result and we learnt that from dad."

DAVID EUSTACE

Working on opposite sides of the globe has meant they haven't had too many opportunities to go head-to-head as adults so there has been little to be competitive about, but as children, they both agree that there were some good rivalries as amateur riders and in various sports.

"When we were younger, yes (we were competitive) but I think now we've grown out of that," David said.

"We're competitive people but I don't think we're necessarily overly competitive against each other. We just want the best for each other whether it's with horses, or anything else, but it wasn't much fun when we were younger.

"We were pretty competitive in cricket, rugby and hockey.

"I'd say Harry has probably gone past me in all of those things now but I was the early leader. I peaked too soon, I was at my top at 16 whereas Harry would be a fitter, more athletic human being than me right now."

Harry concluded: "He's like the Slipper runner and I can come back year after year and knock in a Cox Plate."

The pair grew up in the stables of their father James at Park Lodge in Newmarket and while training conditions in England and Australia are completely different, Harry believes they share similar philosophies when it comes to preparing racehorses.

"Our general approach and outlook on it is similar, but you're probably also slightly influenced by who you have worked for and who you've learnt from," Harry said.

"In the main, I'd say we're fairly similar, speaking out of turn for him, but I think sometimes you can over-complicate it and overthink it but at the end of the day they're quite simple creatures and if you treat them simply, then sometimes that can get the best results."

They both also had amateur riding careers, albeit shorts ones, and David is confident he had it over Harry on the track.

"I'd say I was probably the better jockey," he continued. "I was a little bit smaller and a little bit lighter. Harry is probably the better rider but he was tall and long and was at university so that worked against him, but neither of us had very successful riding careers so there's not a lot to boast about."

Harry added: "I mean I had a lot less opportunity because one, I'm taller and two, we used to take it in turns on a horse called Wester Lodge and I was meant to ride him next start and he ran away with Big (David) and did a leg and that was effectively the end of my amateur career. And his, quite frankly."

"Put it this way, he had more rides for no wins so neither of us set the world alight."

While Harry is not as much of a familiar face around the Australian racing scene as his younger brother, he is not a complete stranger to the industry. He worked for Lee Freedman and Paul Snowden in the past, strapping Golden Slipper Stakes (Gr 1, 1200m) winner Sepoy (Elusive Quality) at his first ever race start.

David Eustace

GAY EUSTACE

He went on to spend two years working for one of the leading trainers in America, Christophe Clement, where he was involved with Belmont Stakes (Gr 1, 12f) winner Tonalist (Tapit).

"We were really lucky, we had a lot of good horses, but we had Tonalist who won the Belmont, stopping California Chrome winning the Triple Crown, and that was an experience I'll never, ever forget," Harry said.

"Winning a Triple Crown race at Belmont with a good dirt horse; it took a while to understand American racing but once you do, it's such a big thrill. It was awesome to be a part of it."

Following his stint in the US, Harry joined the stable of William Haggas and his wife Maureen at Somerville Lodge in Newmarket and has been involved with multiple Group 1 horses and plenty more impeccably bred ones.

"I've been there three and a half, coming up to four years in June, and I was very lucky to join at a time where the yard and his numbers were really on an up and we had a great first year, numbers wise," he said.

"The following year we had Sea Of Class, One Master, Urban Fox and won four, if not five, Group 1s and it was just a great experience."

He's like the Slipper runner and I can come back year after year and knock in a Cox Plate

HARRY EUSTACE

"They leave no stone unturned and there's a huge amount to learn from them."

"Their work ethic and their drive is absolutely second to none and that's something to be admired, the amount of time they've done it, and to be around so many well-bred horses, is what everyone wants to do it for, so it's been great."

"It culminated with being very lucky to be in the right place at the right time with a trip like this to the Autumn Carnival, which, bar Charlie Appleby, isn't really on Europe's radar, so it's quite fun. It's a good time of year to do it and fingers crossed we can bring home a result or two."

His time at Somerville Lodge, though, is coming to an end as he prepares to join his father at Park Lodge Stables at the end of this year, which will eventually see him become a trainer in his own right.

Leading the way...

With Justify, American Pharoah and Pierro on its Australian roster, Coolmore is well-accustomed to the concept of the Triple Crown, but as things stand the global powerhouse could give that phrase a whole new meaning in Australia, with Coolmore stallions currently leading the way in each of the three major categories.

Pierro ascends to the top

... If Pierro was to maintain his lead all the way to the end of the season, at 10, he would become the youngest Champion Sire in Australia since barnmate Fastnet Rock in 2011/12, who did it at the same age.

Rubick streets away

Speaking of young sires, Rubick looks well poised to be challenging those top sires in the near future after an amazing second season. The Everest victory of Yes Yes Yes (incidentally owned by Coolmore and set to feature on its roster in 2020), has certainly helped... The son of Encosta De Lago has had 32 winners in all in his second season, including Yes Yes Yes and [recent Gr.2 winner] Rubisaki.

Pride of the freshmen

... it has been the progeny of Pride Of Dubai that have been getting the job done... Tanker set the scene with an early-season stakes win, while he has also had two stake placegetters in Bella Nipotina and Dubai Star.

When you consider that American Pharoah's first Australian crop hits the tracks in 2020/21 and Justify's two seasons later, plus the wealth of other emerging world class stallions it has on its Australian roster, Coolmore is well-poised to continue its domination for some years to come.

"That is exciting," Harry said. "It's what you work towards and it's why we do what we do. It's a long process, it takes a lot of jobs and a lot of years to get your licence back home so it will be exciting to get there."

As for tomorrow, he believes he is heading to Rosehill with two terrific chances in Young Rascal and Addeybb, whose main autumn targets are the Sydney Cup (Gr 1, 3200m) and the Queen Elizabeth Stakes (Gr 1, 2000m) respectively.

"They're really well, they seem to have settled in great," Harry said.

"Canterbury has been a fantastic track to train them at but we would ideally love more rain just because we know how effective Addeybb and Young Rascal have been on that ground. I think it will still be soft enough that they can show their best.

"They have been trained with their second races in mind and you'd hope to see a little bit of improvement, which they'll need to do because they're stiffer targets, but these are both great starting points for them."

On the other hand, it's also a big weekend for David as his team head to Rosehill with four runners in the $3.5 million Golden Slipper.

Harry Eustace

"Prague I think is the one that's on the up," the co-trainer said. "He's going really well and Tom (Marquand, jockey) seems to get on really well with him and has got a lot of faith in him which I think counts for an awful lot.

"He's drawn well enough to roll forward and put himself into a handy spot so I think I probably would shade him over Away Game, but she's drawn the perfect gate for her and she'll put herself right there and she's very brave.

"Sticky ground is a bit of an unknown but as a rule, we think she'd probably suit it."

In case four Slipper runners wasn't exciting enough, the Maher and Eustace stable will be represented in tonight's William Reid Stakes (Gr 1, 1200m) at Moonee Valley by their star filly Loving Gaby (I Am Invincible).

"I think Gaby can turn the tables on the colt (Bivouac)," he continued.

"Her best win has been there (at Moonee Valley in the Manikato Stakes), but I think we've concluded after the Newmarket that she does appear to be more effective around a bend and we're really looking forward to that."

Meanwhile, tomorrow, the leading stable has Bons Away (Bon Hoffa) running in the Hareeba Stakes (Listed, 1200m) at Mornington, a race in which the six-year-old gelding finished second last year.

"We've freshened him up, he's been at the beach for three weeks and galloped very strong on Monday," he said of Bons Away.

"I think he should be able to land in the first six in the run with the good gate (6). We know he's got a short sprint and he was second in the race last year so we're hopeful he can bounce back and then push on to probably Adelaide for the Goodwood."

Cellsabeel out of Slipper

Cellsabeel

SPORTPIX

One-time favourite Cellsabeel (Hinchinbrook) has been scratched from the Golden Slipper Stakes (Gr 1, 1200m) with second emergency Minhaaj (Exceed And Excel) now gaining a start. The filly had been battling to get into the race after a below-par performance in the Silver Slipper Stakes (Gr 2, 1100m) and a third in the Black Opal Stakes (Gr 3, 1200m) and made the field as the final horse in the top 16. But Ciaran Maher, who trains her in partnership with David Eustace, said yesterday the stable's veterinary advice was she would not be fit to run at Rosehill tomorrow. "This morning we advised the stewards that unfortunately we have made the decision to scratch Cellsabeel from the Golden Slipper on Saturday," Maher said in a statement. "Having completed her final gallop this morning she went to the beach post-work. It was clear, having cooled down that she wasn't 100 per cent. It is very disappointing for her owner His Highness Sheikh Khalifa, racing manager Tim Stakemire and the team at CMR. However, we look forward to giving her a spell and the spring of 2020."

Stackhouse gets Slipper call-up

Two scratchings from the Golden Slipper have paved the way for jockey Daniel Stackhouse to get a career-changing opportunity in the $3.5 million race on Minhaaj. "I was pretty excited. I had my fingers crossed all week," the Victorian-based New Zealander Stackhouse said. "You don't really see many scratchings in the Slipper or in a Group 1 race, especially being second emergency. So I was just hoping. It's really exciting. This is the biggest race I've ever ridden in. I'm just thankful to the stable and (owners) Shadwell for leaving me on for this great opportunity." Minhaaj has won her first two starts for Lindsay Park, firstly at Bendigo, before another comprehensive victory in the Thoroughbred Breeders Stakes (Gr 3, 1200m) on March 7 at Flemington.

Hungry Heart on the up

Chris Waller believes there is plenty ahead of his Golden Slipper contender Hungry Heart (Frankel) and the Group 1 race is just the start for the last-start Sweet Embrace Stakes (Gr 2, 1200m) winner. "It's a very special race to win, we've lacked firepower in recent years, but it's not something I'm worried about," Waller said. "I'm certainly proud of the way our horses continued to improve and still win Group 1 races as two-year-olds, but often in Queensland. But, most importantly, (there's) less wastage, which has been the key to my success building up. Having these older horses perform at three, four, five and even six and beyond, is something my team takes a lot of pride in. Hungry Heart has been prepared no differently to any of those previous horses, with longevity in mind, and she's simply got to this stage on her own natural ability and she looks to have plenty of that."

Marquand savouring moment

The enormity of jockey Tom Marquand riding in the Golden Slipper on Prague (Redoute's Choice) is not lost on the British rider who returned to Sydney last week for another short stint after a successful period during the UK flat off-season. The Ciaran Maher and David Eustace-trained Prague won the Canonbury Stakes (Gr 3, 1100m) in February with Marquand in the saddle and the jockey was back on board in last Saturday's Pago Pago Stakes after briefly returning to the UK. Marquand said three-year-old racing in Europe was ranked number one but he understands the value of the Slipper to Australian racing. "It's been the same pattern for a very long time. Success is judged by three-year-olds," he told Racing NSW. "The Golden Slipper is a race everyone in Australia looks at, so to me I regard it as the way Australians regard it as one of the most important races of the year."

Tofane sent to Sydney for Galaxy

Trainer Mike Moroney reckons jockey Michael Dee will be out to make amends in The Galaxy (Gr 1, 1100m) on Tofane (Ocean Park) after a luckless unplaced run in the Newmarket Handicap (Gr 1, 1200m). Tofane finished seventh in the Newmarket but Moroney believes the mare should have finished closer after striking traffic issues and being shuffled back before regrouping to finish the race off well. "She's coming off a pretty luckless run in the Newmarket. She should have run in the first four somewhere, I would think," Moroney said. "It was a bit of pilot error. We've given him another chance anyway but he was pretty apologetic. But not to worry. It's just disappointing when it happens in the big races."

Hickman counting against history with Pierata

Greg Hickman is well aware of the enormity of the task facing his stable star Pierata (Pierro) when the five-year-old runs first up in The Galaxy. The nine-time winner is set to carry 59 kilograms in tomorrow's race, half a kilo more than the Mr Tiz (Bletchingley) lumped to victory in his record-breaking win in 1991. "History says he will struggle but all I know is he's a very good horse and he's well. You've got to start somewhere," Hickman told Racing NSW. "He's carried 59 before, it's not so much his weight but it's what the others have to carry. People still question him. He seems to be a horse that doesn't get the accolades. He's always been a very good horse and so competitive. I've got him as well as I can to go to the races to be as competitive as we can be first-up. He's done plenty of work this week, he's still looking for more feed, I can't rap him up much more."

Thompson aiming for George Ryder trifecta

Randwick trainer John Thompson is hoping his 'stable' can trifecta tomorrow's George Ryder Stakes (Gr 1, 1500m) at Rosehill, led by his own charge Dreamforce (Fastnet Rock). The consistent seven-year-old, who was runner-up in last September's George Main Stakes (Gr 1, 1600m), will be joined in the Group 1 feature by favourite Te Akau Shark (Rip Van Winkle), who is trained by Jamie Richards, and the Anthony Freedman-trained Super Seth (Dundeel). The pair are boarding at Thompson's during their Sydney campaigns. "Te Akau and Super Seth are in the same barn. They're across from each other and eye-balling each other," Thompson said. "Because Jamie isn't over here much I clock his horses for him and Te Akau is spot-on. He looks a treat and he is probably the one to beat. Super Seth was a bit crook there for 24 hours but he seemed to bounce back quick and he looks terrific now. Personally, I reckon my stable will run the trifecta."

Avilius after Ranvet success

James Cummings believes he has Avilius (Pivotal) in top shape to mount a defence of his Ranvet Stakes (Gr 1, 2000m) title at Rosehill tomorrow. The gelding won last year's edition at the fourth start of his campaign on a heavy track, and like this year was coming off a fifth in the Australian Cup (Gr 1, 2000m). "He's returned to Sydney in good shape," Cummings said. "He looks likely to get his preferred soft ground and has had the desirable three runs to be fit for this assignment." Cummings is however wary of the presence of the English raider Addeybb (Pivotal) who beat subsequent Mackinnon Stakes (Gr 1, 2000m) winner Magic Wand (Galileo) at Royal Ascot last year. "I'd say that he sets up well to defend his Ranvet title, but he'll have to fend off a very classy Royal Ascot winner," he added.

Embrace Me earns shot at William Reid

Danny O'Brien is hoping four-year-old mare Embrace Me (Shamexpress) can make an impact at Group 1 level at her favourite circuit, Moonee Valley, tonight in the William Reid Stakes (Gr 1, 1200m). Embrace Me has won three races at Moonee Valley including the Typhoon Tracy Stakes (Gr 3, 1200m). While O'Brien recognises his mare is pitched in deep, he took heart from the way she attacked the line last start when runner-up in the Bob Hoysted Handicap (Listed, 1000m) behind Western Australian mare Fabergino (Maschino). "She hasn't had a lot of luck but has raced very well," O'Brien said. "She could potentially end up in Adelaide I'd expect for those mares' races over there. I couldn't be more pleased with her. She is in great shape."

Bivouac gets chance to continue rise

Bivouac (Exceed And Excel) dominated the Newmarket Handicap last start but James Cummings believes the best is yet to come from the valuable three-year-old colt. "The William Reid will provide an excellent challenge for Bivouac in another Group 1," Cummings said. "The colt has toughened up after going for it against the older horses in difficult handicaps so far this campaign and he's well suited at weight-for-age now with his superior rating."

Darmanin cuts it fine to ride Mystic Journey

Anthony Darmanin, the regular jockey of Group 1-winning mare Mystic Journey (Needs Further), will partner the Adam Trinder-trained four-year-old in the William Reid tonight before travelling back to Tasmania from Melbourne to beat a travel ban. From midnight, anyone travelling to Tasmania will be forced into 14 days of isolation. "As we can see everything is changing dramatically and quickly," Darmanin told Racing.com. "I can't afford to be locked in Victoria with so many unknowns, I have too many commitments and I'd let down too many people in Tasmania." The William Reid is at 8.30pm, enabling the jockey to get to the airport and back to Tasmania.

Carpooling Sydney jockeys make it to Melbourne

Hugh Bowman was in good spirits yesterday after a ten-hour, one-way road trip with rival jockey Tommy Berry from Sydney to Melbourne to ensure their compliance with biosecurity measures introduced by Racing Victoria in the wake of the coronavirus outbreak. Both had long-standing commitments in the William Reid Stakes at Moonee Valley tonight with Bowman aboard favourite Bivouac and Berry on Exceedance (Exceed And Excel), before they return to Sydney on a charter flight with several Victorian-based jockeys, including Craig Williams and Damien Oliver, to ride at tomorrow's Golden Slipper meeting at Rosehill. "I think, more than anything, everybody wants to do everything they need to do as individuals to ensure the ball keeps rolling with the races," Bowman said. "Whatever needs to be done as far as biosecurity measures, I think everyone is in the same boat in terms of being prepared to do that."

Allergic Future Score targets Mornington Cup

Matt Cumani needs to be careful in his planning and placement of Mornington Cup (Listed, 2400m) bound Future Score (Cape Cross) who has an allergy to grass. If left untreated, Future Score breaks out in hives and under those circumstances Cumani will not race the horse. Presently free of the skin condition, Future Score is chasing a Caulfield Cup (Gr 1, 2400m) ballot exemption via tomorrow's Mornington Cup. Future Score returned to racing in December after an extended spell after having a sarcoid removed. "Unfortunately the wound split open again and took longer to heal," Cumani said. "Whether it's related or not, sometimes when horses go into a hospital they can pick up bugs and various things and develop strange allergies and ever since he's had this bizarre allergy. We've tried all different ways of trying to manage him, but he comes up in these lumps and he looks like a leopard."

Fresh approach for Manolo Blahniq

Local trainer Tony Noonan hopes Manolo Blahniq (Jimmy Choux), who was unplaced in last year's Hareeba Stakes (Listed, 1200m) at Mornington after an extended summer campaign, can improve markedly in this year's race. This year, Noonan kicked Manolo Blahniq's campaign off in the Bob Hoysted Stakes (Listed, 1000m) at Flemington on February 29 with the gelding finishing a closing sixth. "We gave him a good break at the end of the spring so we could bring him back for the later part of the autumn and then look at the Brisbane carnival," Noonan said. "I thought his first-up run was as good as he has performed in the past. We were very pleased with the run and we're very pleased with what he has done at home since. But we're going to need a lot of luck from barrier 15, but it is a horse race and you never know."

Step up in distance for Shogun Sun

Shogun Sun (Written Tycoon) will step up in distance when he tries to break an 18-month winning drought at Eagle Farm tomorrow. Trainer Kelly Schweida entered the gelding for both the Open Handicap (1500m) and the Class Six (1200m), and although he has opted for the longer race, he isn't sure it is ideal. "One race was too short and the other too far," Schweida said. "I really wanted a 1400 metre race for him but in the end we are going with 1500 as it is the lesser of two evils. The five-year-old has not won past 1400 metres but he has been placed over 1600 metres at Eagle Farm in the past. "He is starting to run out of chances but this should suit him," Schweida added.

Dunn concerned by Xanthus' barrier

A lack of suitable opportunities means Matt Dunn will be forced into running promising Xanthus (Better Than Ready) despite the gelding drawing barrier 11 for tomorrow's Ascot Green Three-Year-Old Handicap (1000m) at Eagle Farm. Xanthus had strong form when last in work around top three-year-olds such as The Odyssey (Better Than Ready), Ballistic Boy (Smart Missile) and Gem Of Scotland (Rothsay) and while Dunn has no doubt he will develop into a top horse, he believes Xanthus faces a tough task tomorrow. "It is a very ordinary barrier from that start. There is nothing suitable for him in Brisbane next week so unless I can find something else he will have to run," Dunn said.

RV quarantines state's top 25 jockeys

A group of 25 jockeys have agreed to enhanced biosecurity measures to ensure the continuation of racing in Victoria. The 25 will abstain from trackwork, jump-outs and barrier trials and only ride on race days in a bid to minimise the chances of a jockey contracting covid-19 and to keep a pool of riders. After consultation with the Victorian Jockeys' Association, Racing Victoria says the new measures will begin after racing tomorrow. The riders are to isolate themselves and remain at home as much as possible, not travel to race meetings with anyone outside the selected group, preferably on their own, while also separating themselves from other jockeys as much as possible. The 25 jockeys are a part of a wider group that has agreed to a number of protocols to assist with the continuation of racing should a fellow rider contract coronavirus.

Measures aimed at protecting racing

The move announced by Racing Victoria yesterday was part of the governing body's responsibility to ensure the sport continued, chief executive Giles Thompson said. RV, the VJA and relevant racing clubs will assist with additional change rooms along with multiple weighing-in and weighing-out scales. The new initiatives are in addition to rules that Victorian jockeys do not travel interstate on commercial flights. "These are unprecedented times that require unprecedented actions to achieve our goals of protecting the health and wellbeing of industry staff and participants and ensuring that our programmed race meetings can proceed," Thompson said. "The segregation of our riders into groups is all about providing the industry with options should a rider be diagnosed with Covid-19. In simple terms, this is another insurance policy to help the industry keep ticking along whilst many other sports have been forced to suspend competition."

Queensland latest state to raise weights

Racing Queensland has followed other states and agreed to lift minimum riding weights for all TAB and non-TAB meetings across the state.

RQ said weights would be temporarily raised by one kilogram during the Covid-19 pandemic. The direction will be applied across the board, excluding stakes races, until further notice. RQ will enact the new policy for any meeting for which weights are declared from Monday with Toowoomba's seven-race card yesterday, as the first to be run under the new conditions. "The health and wellbeing of our participants during this pandemic is paramount, including our jockeys," RQ chief executive Brendan Parnell said. The minimum weight in NSW and Western Australia will rise by one kilogram next week, while in Victoria and South Australia it will be two kilograms, which is also the case in New Zealand.

Racing Australia issues Covid-19 response plan

Racing Australia yesterday issued details of a plan to minimize disruption to service and ensure continuity of operations based on employees working remotely. Racing Australia Service Centre used by trainers to lodge nominations, acceptances, withdrawals, scratchings and stable returns and the Australian Stud Book & Registrar of Racehorses, used by breeders and owners, will continue to operate with no changes to the phone number or where to go online. In the event the Equine Genetics Research Centre (EGRC) closes, thoroughbred parentage testing and other breed services would be suspended for up to 14 days and, if closure of the EGRC is to last longer than 14 days, parentage testing and other breed tests would be relocated to the EGRC's backup lab, conditional on it continuing to operate.

South Island sale pushed back

New Zealand Bloodstock yesterday made the decision to postpone its South Island Yearling Sale until August due to the government-imposed restrictions relating to the coronavirus. The sale, which was scheduled to be held next month, will now be conducted on Friday, August 7, where it will effectively become an unbroken two-year-old sale. It is the same format that was used until 2013. "The public gathering and travel restrictions should be well and truly over by August, and the economy, along with buyer confidence, will hopefully be on the way up," NZB said in a statement.

Two-pronged Breeders' attack for Carston

Andrew Carston has his two mares in peak condition for what he has revealed is their target race - tomorrow's Valachi Downs South Island Thoroughbred Breeders' Stakes (Gr 3, 1600m) at Riccarton. The Christchurch trainer will produce Ticket To Ride (Shocking) and Monrecour (Zacinto) in the set-weights and penalties fillies and mares feature, confident he has both in the right condition to be winning chances. "Both went really well last start and have progressed well out of the race so we're right on track," Carston said. "This is the target race for both of them and I don't think I could have either any better." Seven-year-old mare Ticket To Ride finished second to Nowhere Man (Darci Brahma) at Ashburton last start, with Monrecour just a nose further back in third.

Derby not ruled out for Tibetan

Eight-race maiden Tibetan (Shocking) remains in the mix for the Australian Derby (Gr 1, 2400m) in Sydney but trainer Andrew Campbell says the gelding would have to be highly impressive this weekend to contemplate the trip. Tibetan, who was placed in the Wellington Stakes (Gr 3, 1600m) behind Scorpz (Charm Spirit) earlier in his campaign, disappointed connections in the New Zealand Derby (Gr 1, 2400m) but Campbell has since freshened up the horse. "His work has been good and he's going just as well as he was leading into the Derby when he had good form around Scorpz and those sort of horses. How he goes on Saturday will determine where he goes afterwards," he said. Tibetan is accepted for the Bay Of Plenty Cup (2100m) at Tauranga tomorrow as well as a 2100-metre maiden at Avondale today.

Golden Sixty puts Ho in the lead role

Vincent Ho is staying grounded ahead of his latest big date with rising local star Golden Sixty (Medaglia D'Oro) in Sunday's Hong Kong Derby (Listed, 2000m) at Sha Tin. Ho has been on board the gelding for each of his ten runs, which includes wins in both the Hong Kong Classic Mile (Listed, 1600m) and Hong Kong Classic Cup (Listed, 1800m) on his last two starts. "I just need to constantly improve myself, stay humble and learn as much as I can," Ho said. "And I try not to think about winning the Derby because it's not yet happened. I try to do my best and focus and try to perform well enough to get Golden Sixty there. He's a brilliant horse. I'd love to get him there and be the top horse in Hong Kong but I just have to focus and I'd rather not think about it now. We all can enjoy it afterwards if it happens - but not think about that now."

Size's Champion can still get his Way

Standing between Golden Sixty and Derby victory is Champion's Way (Hinchinbrook) who will be attempting to give John Size a fourth win in the Sha Tin feature. The gelding has finished behind his chief rival on each of his last three starts but after drawing gate eight, the 11-time champion trainer is hopeful his charge can turn the tables. "I think the draw is ok for him and his racing style - to go forward a little - and I think there are four or five horses in there that'll show decent speed, so hopefully he'll be able to position himself midfield," Size said.

Singapore adds Covid-19 measures

The Singapore Turf Club will increase precautionary measures by introducing segregated zones for its visitors to Kranji starting from today's meeting due to fears over the coronavirus pandemic. Crowds are set to be capped at an undisclosed figure, while alternate betting counters will be in operation to ensure greater social distancing. Racegoers will also be subject to having their temperatures checked, as well as filling in a declaration form, before they are admitted to the track.

US jockeys skip Dubai World Cup

Three prominent American jockeys will miss the upcoming Dubai World Cup meeting in light of the ongoing coronavirus pandemic after Irad Ortiz Jr, Luis Saez and Tyler Gaffalione elected not to travel to the UAE for the world's richest day of racing on March 28. Saez's agent, Richie DePass, said the coronavirus was behind the rider's decision. Gaffalione's agent, Matt Muziker, said the jockey would not go because of the 14-day quarantine upon return. Trainer Bob Baffert said Mucho Gusto (Mucho Macho Man) would be ridden by William Buick in the Dubai World Cup (Gr 1, 2000m), while Mark Casse has moved to book the services of Frankie Dettori for the ride on Sir Winston (Awesome Again). The meeting will be held with only necessary personnel allowed to attend in accordance with UAE government protocols.

Ireland to continue racing

Irish racing will continue behind closed doors with even stricter protocols following a crucial meeting of the Horse Racing Ireland board on Wednesday. Concerns about the immediate future of the industry in Ireland had been raised in light of the coronavirus pandemic and its widespread impact on racing and sport in general. However, under the new and more specific protocols, racing will continue in Ireland with no overseas runners allowed to compete and any medical personnel or facilities in action at fixtures will be available for government use when needed. Jockeys' weights will increase by 2lb as a result of racecourse saunas being closed, while no owners will be permitted to attend meetings. The maximum gap between races will be 30 minutes in order to assist social distancing.

Marlinka dies at 12

Blue hen Marlinka (Marju) has died at the age of 12, succumbing to colic last Tuesday. Marlinka, who was owned by one of Britain's leading syndicators Elite Racing Club, was a French Listed winner at two for Roger Charlton, but it was as a broodmare that she really made her mark. Her first foal Judicial (Iffraaj) is a Group 3-winning sprinter that remains in training with Julie Camacho as an eight-year-old, while her second foal Marsha (Acclamation) was, at her peak, the fastest horse in Europe, winning the Prix de l'Abbaye (Gr 1, 1000m) and the Nunthorpe Stakes (Gr 1, 5f). Upon retirement, Marsha was sold for 6,000,000 guineas - the highest price ever paid for a horse at a European auction. Marlinka also lost a Showcasing (Oasis Dream) foal.

Online to the fore as Woodside reduction, Trope highlight Inglis Digital's March (Late) Sale

BY ANDREW HAWKINS

An unreserved reduction draft from Woodside Park and the Group 2-placed Trope (More Than Ready) highlight what shapes as a bumper Inglis Digital March (Late) Online catalogue.

With a greater focus on online sales and digital technology in the midst of the Covid-19 crisis, the Inglis Digital March (Late) Online Sale shapes as an opportunity for the auction house to demonstrate its capabilities in this respect. This may prove particularly important as the format of the Inglis Australian Easter Yearling Sale remains up in the air with the coronavirus situation developing rapidly.

Inglis Digital business manager Nick Melmeth said: "It's clear that technology and transparency is key for ensuring the best results for both vendors and buyers, a factor made more important in the current climate.

"This is one of Inglis Digital's strongest catalogues to date. We've been supported by many leading studs, breeders and buyers over the past three years and the platform continues to thrive.

"The Woodside Park reduction and Trope showcase the quality of stock we are consistently trading online and in-turn growing confidence in the marketplace."

Woodside Park's draft comprises 18 broodmares and one weanling and features four '3-in-1 packages', nine mares in foal and two offered with foals at foot.

Among the mares on offer is She's Curvaceous (Flying Spur), dam of VRC Oaks (Gr 1, 2500m) fourth Hipster Girl (Nicconi), in foal to Rich Enuff (Written Tycoon) and with a Tosen Stardom (Deep Impact) colt at foot; Helping Hand (Fusaichi Pegasus), a half-sister to Group 2 winner No Evidence Needed (Shamardal), in foal on a September cover to Foxwedge (Fastnet Rock) and with a Rich Enuff foal at foot; and Charleston Lady (Hurricane Run), a Listed winner in Britain and a half-sister to Japanese Group 3 winner Live Concert (Singspiel), in foal to Tosen Stardom.

Trope

Others include Anelene (Written Tycoon), a stakes-placed mare whose Extreme Choice (Not A Single Doubt) filly will be offered at next year's Inglis Melbourne Premier Yearling Sale; Brambling, by Redoute's Choice out of Bramble Rose (Shinko King), making her a close relation to Tangled (Snitzel), Sebrose (Sebring) and Maules Creek (Redoute's Choice), she is in foal to Tosen Stardom; and Berkeley Gardens, a Bernardini (A.P. Indy) half-sister to stakes winner Easy Running (Easy Rocking) who has a Tosen Stardom colt at foot and is in foal to Cable Bay (Invincible Spirit).

Woodside Park's general manager commercial James Price said with the current world landscape, remote selling has become even more prevalent.

"The vision and transparency handed to the buyer with this draft will take online selling to the next level," Price said.

"The videography of the horses we are offering is of a very high standard, no angle has been missed or hidden, we want to provide buyers with 100 per cent confidence of the product they're bidding on.

"On top of this videography, Woodside will have an open house policy this Sunday and Monday (March 22 and 23) from 2pm-4pm for anyone who wants to conduct inspections and we will also have Written Tycoon, Foxwedge, Tosen Stardom and Rich Enuff parading.

"Like every breeding operation, there is a need to turn over stock and following the 2019 breeding season, we reviewed our bloodstock portfolio and a plan for each mare and foal was developed.

"The Inglis Digital online selling platform has gone from strength to strength and has become an avenue where breeders can sell bloodstock and achieve optimum prices – so we had no hesitation in supporting it with our portfolio reduction this year.

"There is a small degree of nervousness around selling unreserved but Woodside are extremely transparent so we are very confident that with professional videography, an open house policy and insightful information about each horse, the market's confidence to bid will mean each horse realises their value."

The addition of Trope, who boasts multiple stakes placings, to the sale adds another dimension to the online-only catalogue. From a family riddled with black type, the son of More Than Ready and Personify (Galileo) is offered as a racing and stallion proposition by owner Alan Bell, who purchased Trope as a yearling from the 2017 Inglis Australian Easter Yearling Sale for $500,000.

"As a yearling, Trope stood out to me physically in a great line-up of Easter colts and he was the one horse that I absolutely had to come away with," Bell said. "His racing career has been defined by what might have been.

"Very early on, the Hawkes stable identified him as their Slipper colt and had him ready to go in October, only for him to damage his hoof wall so thoroughly he missed his two-year-old autumn entirely.

"Finally making his debut as a three-year-old, Trope won his first start in spectacular fashion at Randwick, coming from a seemingly impossible rearward position to flash home in an exceptional last 600 metres.

"Dazzling sectionals then came to typify his racing pattern and define his career."

Bell has raced plenty of top-class sprinters in his red and grey diagonal stripes, including Schillaci (Salieri), Primacy (Prego), Deep Field (Northern Meteor), Star Turn (Star Witness) and Graff (Star Witness), but he asserts that none showed the potential of Trope.

"I have raced sprinters with ultimately more storied career records, but none with greater promise or more able to routinely break 33 seconds home in top-class races," he said. "His effort to run a close second from well back in course record time over 1000 metres at Randwick created great excitement in his first attempt at black type before further flashing seconds in Group races followed, all from his usual backmarker position."

Trope is a half-brother to three Stakes performers by sons of Danehill (Danzig), including tomorrow's Golden Slipper Stakes (Gr 1, 1200m) runner Personal (Fastnet Rock). His granddam is blue hen producer Procrastinate (Jade Hunter), dam of Laisserfaire (Danehill),

She's Curvaceous (video)

A Time For Julia (Redoute's Choice), Foreplay (Danehill) and Time Thief (Redoute's Choice).

Trope's listing on Inglis Digital will be complemented by a professional parade video, a PDF brochure highlighting his pedigree attributes, plus a full set of radiographs and video scope will be available in the Inglis repository on Friday.

The Inglis Digital March (Late) Online Sale will open for bidding at 3pm AEDT today, with the hammer set to fall late in the afternoon next Wednesday.

Cultural Amnesia as a yearling

INGLIS

There are few better trainers of Snitzel's (Redoute's Choice) progeny than the man who prepared Snitzel himself, Gerald Ryan. Both trainer and sire look to have another smart prospect in Cultural Amnesia (Snitzel), who broke his maiden at start three on Wednesday.

Cultural Amnesia brought strong credentials into the 1400m maiden on the Kensington track, having finished a nose second to Thermosphere (Exosphere) on the Beaumont track at Newcastle. Thermosphere franked that form by swooping home to take the Magic Night Stakes (Gr 3, 1200m), earning her a berth in tomorrow's Golden Slipper Stakes (Gr 1, 1200m).

After bouncing well and landing on the speed under James McDonald, Cultural Amnesia never looked in much doubt. McDonald rated him well out in front, gradually upping the tempo and making it difficult for much to make ground. At the line, he had two and a quarter lengths to spare over second-placed Rock My Wand (Wandjina), who was also behind him at Newcastle.

The Slipper was never on the radar for Cultural Amnesia, but there may be other Group 1 races in his immediate future, with his next run likely to be in the Fernhill Handicap (Listed, 1600m) ahead of a potential start in the Champagne Stakes (Gr 1, 1600m) at Randwick.

"I've always had time for this colt, he's just very laid-back. He's a really nice horse and we'll now look to the Fernhill over the mile," said Ryan, with McDonald adding: "He's a lovely horse, he feels like he'll only get better as he gets over further and as he gets into his preparation. He's got a very good constitution and he feels very strong. He was always going to run the seven furlongs out strongly. I made them chase a little bit from the 550 metres or so and he was too good."

Cultural Amnesia is the first foal out of Zenon (Super Saver), a half-sister to stakes winner I Have No Fear (Rock Of Gibraltar). Offered by Sledmere Stud at last year's Inglis Australian Easter Yearling Sale, the chestnut colt was purchased by Ryan for $450,000.

His yearling half-sister, by Extreme Choice, was purchased by Francis and Christine Cook's Mystery Downs, in conjunction with John Foote Bloodstock, for $200,000 at the Magic Millions Gold Coast Yearling Sale earlier this year. She has already been named Avaricious.

Zenon has a Russian Revolution (Snitzel) colt at foot, while she is in foal to Deep Field (Northern Meteor).

A cracking mid-race pace turned the All-Star Mile into a stern test of stamina

Flit

SPORTPIX

BY KEN BOMAN | @ANZ_NEWS

A cracking mid-race pace set by the free-running filly Flit (Medaglia D'Oro) turned Saturday's $5 million All-Star Mile (1600m) at Caulfield into a stern test, perhaps bringing about the defeat of the favourite Alligator Blood (All Too Hard) who missed a place for the first time in his career.

"Flit wants it over and done with," was the appropriate remark by track commentator Matthew Hill as the filly was tearing away in front.

The Godolphin-raced filly, winner of the Thousand Guineas (Gr 1, 1600m) at Caulfield in October, who now races in blinkers, worked across from her outside barrier (15) to lead, but then proved difficult for experienced rider Damian Lane to rate as she soon established a clear advantage over the field.

Those immediately chasing her in second and third places being the Group 1 winners Streets Of Avalon (Magnus) and the favourite Alligator Blood.

Flit's 200 metre breakdown (from the 1400m to the 400m) told the story: 11.37, 11.66 (400m in 23.03), 11.60 (600m in 34.63), 11.69 (800m in 46.32) and 12.24 for a testing mid-race 1000 metre section of 58.56.

At that point, Alligator Blood and Streets Of Avalon were reeling in Flit, with the favourite hitting the front at the 300 metres before his efforts told and he faded to finish tenth, with Streets Of Avalon tiring for 12th and Flit dropping out to finish 14th and second last.

The winner Regal Power (Pierro) was suited by the tempo, a WATC Derby (Gr 2, 2400m) winner who had been nicely rated by William Pike back in fourth place that fought back to win by three-quarters of a length from his late-closing stablemate Superstorm (Sebring).

Regal Power was timed to run his last 1400 metres in 1.22.36, last 1200 metres in 1.10.56, last 1000 metres in 58.67, last 800 metres in 46.89, last 600m metres in 35.03, last 400 metres in 23.38 with his final 200 metres in 11.92.

While Superstorm, who was runner-up to Alligator Blood in the recent Australian Guineas (Gr 1, 1600m) at Flemington, returned the fastest closing sectionals of the race in coming from near the tail of the 15-runner field.

Superstorm was clocked to run his last 1400 metres in 1.21.76, last 1200 metres in 1:09.55, last 1000 metres in 57.57, last 800 metres in 45.65, last 600 metres 34.25, last 400 metres in 22.74 with his final 200 metres in 11.60 – impressive closing times.

Third was the multiple Group 1 winning mare Melody Belle (Commands), who finished a half-length further back after travelling in sixth spot on the rails before battling on well for the minor placing at her second run back.

Melody Belle clocked 1:22.82 (last 1400m), 1:10.76 (last 1200m), 58.70 (last 1000m), 46.84 (last 800m, 35.32 (last 600m), 23.61 (last 400m) and 11.95 for her final 200 metres.

Earlier in the programme, the Levi Kavanagh-trained gelding Excess Funds (Rubick) stamped his potential in winning the $500,000 Inglis Dash (1100m), for three-year-olds.

Excess Funds settled in fifth place under Hugh Bowman, behind a quick pace before going on to win by a length and a quarter from the Peter and Paul Snowden-trained colt

Thermosphere

SPORTPIX

Wayupinthesky (Snitzel) in the good time of 1:03.27 (11.50 200m rate), equivalent to 1200 metres in 1:09.02.

The winner's sectional times were really quite impressive with his last 1000 metres in 55.18, last 800 metres in 44.53, last 600 metres in 33.94, last 400 metres in 22.80 and his final 200 metres in 11.72 – the fastest closing sectionals of the race.

Other juveniles to impress on the watch on Saturday included the Ciaran Maher and David Eustace-trained colt Prague (Redoute's Choice) who tracked a quick tempo before taking out the Pago Pago Stakes (Gr 3, 1200m) at Rosehill.

Racing on a Soft 6 track in one of the early races at the meeting where continuous rain resulted in the latter races being downgraded to Heavy 10, Prague showed determination under Tom Marquard to defeat Kumasi (Snitzel) after quite a battle in the straight.

Despite the affected conditions, the race featured a quick mid-race section of 46.71 (from the 1000m to the 200m) set by the leader Postcode (Vancouver) who subsequently tired for fifth.

That resulted in smart closing sectionals, Prague clocking 59.07 (last 1000m), 47.66 (last 800m), 35.66 (last 600m) and 23.99 for his final 400 metres.

The third-placed Team Hawkes-trained colt Swerving (I Am Invincible) also deserves highlighting after coming from back in sixth place on the rails to take the minor placing in Group class when having only his second race start.

Swerving's closing sectionals were good, especially considering the wet track, the colt clocking 59.12 (last 100m), 47.68 (last 800m), 35.66 (last 600m) and 24.12 for his final 400 metres.

The Godolphin-raced filly Thermosphere (Exosphere) stepped up quickly in class after winning a two-year-old maiden (1300m) at Newcastle-Beaumont on February 27, when having her third start and recording a good win in the Magic Night Stakes (Gr 3, 1200m)

After settling just beyond midfield, she improved behind runners nearing the turn, got into clear running at the 200 metres and then came with a strong late run to win by a long neck.

Thermosphere clocked her last 1000 metres in 59.55 (last 1000m), 48.51 (last 800m), last 600 metres in 36.56 with her final 400 metres in 24.29.

Sweet first as Borges gets his Hong Kong win

BY DECLAN SCHUSTER | HKJC_RACING

Vagner Borges realised a dream when he bagged his first Hong Kong win at Happy Valley on Wednesday night with an all-the-way success aboard Very Sweet Orange (Exceed And Excel) in the Class 3 Cassia Handicap (1000m).

"My dream was always to come to Hong Kong and to have a winner here, I'm very happy," Borges said, through his interpreter, Luis Lopez.

The 26-year-old Brazilian broke cleanly aboard the Me Tsui-trained galloper to hold the front, and from there fended off the late challenge from Amazing Kiwi (Helmet) who missed by half a length. The win was Very Sweet Orange's third in succession.

Brazil's four-time champion jockey returned for his second short-term contract with nine rides last Sunday when his best result was a runner-up effort for Tsui but on Wednesday night he managed to go one better for the handler.

"I just want to say thank you to the trainer for giving me the opportunity, I've waited a long time for this and I want to thank the trainer and the Jockey Club for the win," the jockey said.

Borges has followed fellow countryman and three-time Hong Kong champion jockey Joao Moreira to a career in Hong Kong, as well as three-time British champion Silvestre De Sousa - both riders have paved the way to lift the international profile of Brazilian riders in recent years and Borges hopes he can do his bit too.

Tsui heaped praise on Borges' cool and collected approach throughout the race, as he held the rail without expending too much energy, while rival Frustrated (All Too Hard) was forced to work and settle outside of him.

"Vagner was very clever when the horse went close to him but he stayed at his own pace and did well," Tsui said.

Vagner Borges

HKJC

Borges revealed: "I studied the race a few times and when I got there, I made sure the horse went to the front and then I used the whip early to make sure he got there."

That study paid off, and with over 1600 career wins in Brazil, including 14 Group 1s and a Brazilian Triple Crown aboard Bal A Bali (Put It Back) on his resume, the next chapter of the exciting talent's career has officially begun.

"I like him - he'll keep learning about Hong Kong racing and improving and I will keep supporting him," Tsui said.

A born-again Valley specialist, Very Sweet Orange secured his fifth win at the city circuit from his last nine starts after going winless in his first 14 starts. Tsui credited that success to maturity.

"The horse is mature this season - he saves his energy now by not going too quick the first 800 (metres)," Tsui said.

Amazing Star moves Purton to within two

Amazing Star (Darci Brahma) put a mishap in the gates behind him with an impressive win in the Class 2 Begonia Handicap (1200m), securing Hong Kong's champion jockey Zac Purton a double and his sixth win from the last two race meetings.

The brace moved him to within two wins of championship leader Moreira, who remained on 87 wins after drawing a blank.

"There were some very fast horses in that race and I drew wide, so I expected them to make me work a little bit but he just has so much natural speed - he seems to get there fairly comfortably and then it's just a matter of getting him to switch off in the run and then for him to relax because he's very competitive," Purton said of Amazing Star.

The gelding broke cleanly but was forced to settle wide throughout from gate 11 in the early stages before being able to slot in outside of leader, Moment Of Power (Exceed And Excel). The five-year-old hit the front in the straight to record a three-quarter-length success.

"He's so used to being in front on his own and he had to adapt tonight and I thought he adapted quite well - it was credit to him," the Australian said.

Amazing Star

HKJC

Trainer Jimmy Ting was also pleased that his plan had come to fruition with the gelding.

"If he didn't break through the gates last time I think he would have won, but anyway, he needed to trial and in that he was lucky that the same leader was in the trial as tonight because I wanted to see if he could sit and chase a little bit which he did," Ting said.

The handler suggested that his gelding had earned a break, after securing his fourth win this term off a mark of 94, having kicked off his campaign on 58.

Purton set up his double in the opener, grabbing the Class 5 Wistaria Handicap (2200m) aboard Garlic Yeah (Savabeel) for trainer Dennis Yip.

Warrior shines for Schofield

Chad Schofield kept on rolling with his 23rd win this season and third for trainer Tony Cruz from 19 pairings, as Sunshine Warrior (Pierro) let down nicely to grab the Class 3 Magnolia Handicap (1650m).

"I rode him last time at Sha Tin, we had cover throughout but we were three-wide and he just wasn't quite focused with me out wide and he never really travelled that day," Schofield said.

The gelding faded to 11th last start but put his best foot forward tonight from gate one.

"Today I urged him along to hold his good draw and he travelled really well, I got him into the clear and he kicked, so it was a good move by Tony (Cruz) to bring him to Happy Valley."

"It's my fourth season in Hong Kong and I barely rode for him the first three and I've just really started riding for him the last three months and I've ridden three winners for him now - so long may it continue," Schofield said.

Neil Callan secured his 13th win this season when Jumbo Happiness (Fastnet Rock) swept clear in the Class 3 Dianthus Handicap (1200m) for trainer Caspar Fownes.

Vincent Ho bagged a confidence-building double on the card ahead of his pairing with Golden Sixty in Sunday's Hong Kong Derby (Listed, 2000m).

Hong Kong's leading local rider combined with main ally Francis Lui to win the Class 4 Verbena Handicap (1650m) aboard Alpha Hedge (Sir Prancealot) before securing a race-to-race double with Happy Good Guys (Zoustar) in the Class 4 Osmanthus Handicap (1200m).

Karis Teetan returned from a riding suspension to partner the Chris So-trained Exceptional Desire (Darci Brahma) to his fourth course and distance success in the other division of the Class 4 Osmanthus Handicap (1200m).
