Bob Peters, the leading owner and breeder in Perth, appears to hold a strong hand in his bid to win a third consecutive Railway Stakes (Gr 1, 1600m) at Ascot today.

Exciting five-year-old mare Inspirational Girl (Reliable Man) will lead Peters' charge for Grant and Alana Williams, aiming to follow in the footsteps of former stable companions Galaxy Star (Redoute's Choice) and Regal Power (Pierro), the 2018 and 2019 winners respectively.

Inspirational Girl has a near-perfect race record with eight wins, one second and one third from ten starts, but she will run against elite-level company for the first time today having landed the Asian Beau Stakes (Gr 3, 1400m) on her last appearance. Continued on page 2>>

She beat the reopposing Too Close The Sun (Carlton House) by a head that day, but Peters is under no illusion how difficult it will be for her to continue rising through the ranks.

"She hasn't raced in this sort of company up until now. She hadn't even raced in stakes company until her last start," Peters told ANZ Bloodstock News.

"It is a massive step up to a Group 1, so it is very hard to judge what's going to happen when she meets stronger company.

"We hope she can continue to improve. This race is a very hard race to win – it's the hardest race to win in the yearly program for this state. It's always been that way, so you never go into the Railway Stakes with a lot of confidence.

"But she's been doing everything we've asked of her and now we're just going to ask for a lot more from her."

Peters has had yet another successful spring, headlined by Arcadia Queen (Pierro) taking out the Caulfield Stakes (Gr 1, 2000m) and Mackinnon Stakes (Gr 1, 2000m), but alluded to victory in his home state being extra special, and also extra hard.

"It's always a race that anyone in this state would want to win. We've been fortunate enough to win it four times now, spread over quite a long time," he continued.

"The first time we won it was 2001, and then we won it in 2014, 2018 and 2019. In that time we have won most of the other big races more times than that, but this has always been the hardest one to win."

Also running in the famous cerise and white colours today is homebred Truly Great (Dundeel), who has a similar profile to Inspirational Girl having climbed through the ranks in lesser company.

The five-year-old gelding made his first start in stakes company a winning one when landing the RJ Peters Stakes (Gr 3, 1500m), named in honour of his owner, last weekend.

"He ran well last start and he's very similar to Inspirational Girl. He hasn't had a lot of runs, he stepped up to Group 3 company for the first time last start and won that, so he's very much in the same mould as her going forward.

"We hope that he can take the next step, but it is a very, very big step upwards."

Truly Great is backing-up a week later after running on Soft7 at Ascot, but Peter believes his effort in testing conditions will not impact his chances of success today.

"I'm not so worried about that, he's a pretty strong horse. I'm really just concerned about the massive jump in class he's facing."

The aforementioned Too Close The Sun rates as the main market rival to Peters' promising pair and he is out of Old Money (Old Spice), who was bred and owned by Peters.

Old Money won the Western Australia Derby (Gr 1, 2400m) and the Western Australia Oaks (Gr 2,

However, she seems to have struck gold with her last two foals, producing 2018 Mackinnon Stakes winner Trap For Fools (Poet's Voice) two years before Too Close The Sun, who is also the only stakes winner by Carlton House (Street Cry).

Owned by The Queen, Carlton House finished his career in Australia with two Group 1 placings having been a dual Group winner in Britain. He was sent off as favourite for the 2011 Epsom Derby (Gr 1, 1m4f), but finished a length behind Pour Moi (Montjeu) in third.

Peters views Too Close The Son as one of the big dangers to his runners.

"There are three horses in the race that are going to be the hardest to beat. You've got Too Close The Sun, who happens to be out of one of our very good mares, which makes it hard.

"Kay Cee is a very good mare that won the Group 1 Kingston Town last year.

"Godolphin's Kementari has got a very good barrier (1) and he's a Group 1 horse, so he could get a very easy run in the race.

"I don't know how to rank them, but they're the three I would be most worried about. It wouldn't surprise me if any horse in the race won it."

Peters was pleased to report that his star mare Arcadia Queen made it home safely on Wednesday evening after Covid-19 restrictions made transportation from Victoria to Western Australia problematic.

"She travelled quite well. We've started to go over and check her out now and she seems like she's come home a lot better than what she did from her campaign last year, when she was knocked down and hurt her back, but this time she seems quite free in her action which is very pleasing," Peters said.

Inspirational Girl's jockey Willie Pike decided to miss riding Arcadia Queen in the Mackinnon Stakes in preference of returning to Western Australia for today's Group 1.

Pike's mandatory 14-day isolation period came to an end last night after spending the time on his 1300-acre farm in Beaufort River.

He will be sitting on Inspirational Girl for the first time since July today, but Peters believes he will be raring to go.

"He's had two weeks away and has been isolating down on his farming property, so I'm sure he'll be keen to get back in amongst things again," Peters said.

MORNING BRIEFING

AUSTRALIA

Winx 'very unlikely' to be served this spring

Winx (Street Cry) part-owner Peter Tighe revealed yesterday that Winx was recovering well after her first foal, a filly by I Am Invincible (Invincible Spirit), was stillborn. However, he also admitted that time was running out for Winx to be served this spring, with the champion mare appearing far more likely to return to the breeding barn in 2021. Tighe, a part-owner of inaugural The Gong (1600m) winner Mister Sea Wolf (Amadeus) - who returns to defend his title in the $1 million feature today - told News Corp's Ray Thomas in a wide-ranging interview that Winx took time to overcome her ordeal but that she bounced back thanks to the top-class veterinary care she received.

Dam of top juvenile, More Joyous son headline Inglis Digital

Group 1 winner Small Minds (Canny Lad), dam of $1 million Golden Gift (1100m) winner Sneaky Five (Fastnet Rock), and Best Ever (Snitzel), the third foal out of champion mare More Joyous (More Than Ready), are among the horses on offer in the Inglis Digital November (Late) Sale, which closes on Wednesday. Small Minds, who won the Australasian Oaks (Gr 1, 2000m) in 2010, has had two stakes winners from three foals to race, with last year's Jungle Dawn Classic (Listed, 1400m) winner Beautiful Mind (So You Think) joining Sneaky Five. She is offered in foal to Grunt (O'Reilly). To view the catalogue, click here:

Irish Flame into Ballarat Cup

Mornington trainer Brett Scott received the news he had been waiting for when he found out his in-form galloper Irish Flame (Zed) had gained a start in today's Ballarat Cup (Listed, 2000m). Irish Flame was first emergency but secured a run when Power Scheme (Fiorente) was scratched yesterday morning. The former champion jumps jockey now has two ex-New Zealand gallopers in the race in Our Big Mike (Don Eduardo) and Irish Flame. Scott is pleased with the outcome as he regards Irish Flame as the best chance of his pair. "The key to him is that he needs the race to be run at a good tempo and I've got one of the horses in the race, Our Big Mike, along with Inverloch, whose racing style is to go forward so that's taken care of," Scott said. Irish Flame was trained in New Zealand by Scott's great mate John Wheeler and connections sent him over without any grandiose plans. "In his seven Australian starts he's won around $215,000 so he's more than paid his way and he's only getting better with racing," Scott said, noting that Irish Flame handled firm tracks but needed time to recover from them and was a bit better on tracks with give in them. With this in mind, the trainer will aim Irish Flame at the Easter carnival with the Sydney Cup (Gr 1, 3200m) his main goal. He said Our Big Mike's failure in the Kyneton Cup (2000m) should be forgiven as he was given no peace in the lead.

Game Keeper poised to bounce back

In other Ballarat Cup news, co-trainer Calvin McEvoy has issued an upbeat bulletin on the claims of Game Keeper (Fastnet Rock), last seen finishing sixth in the Furphy Plate (Listed, 1800m) at Flemington having won over 2000 metres at the track in May. Originally aimed towards the Caulfield Cup (Gr 1, 2400m), Game Keeper's sights were lowered having been well-held in two Group 3 contests earlier in the spring. "He just told us that at that level he couldn't quite stay with some of those really good international horses," McEvoy told Racing.com. "So he went back to South Australia, went back to our farm on the river and just freshened up and arrived back here for that run at Flemington, which I thought was a really good run. He just never really got the momentum when he needed it last start." Regarding today's assignment, McEvoy continued: "He's really good, he looks like he's about to peak to me, he looks fit, he looks well. He's trained on perfectly, 2000 metres suits and I don't think he'll get as far back either, I'd like to see him in the first half."

McKenzie's Ballarat success makes Pal's task tougher

Junipal (Reset) will line up in today's Ballarat Cup as one of two representatives for Ciaran Maher and David Eustace and for co-owner Lachlan McKenzie, the strength of opposition awaiting the five-year-old is partly down to his own success. Between 2011 and 2019, McKenzie was chief executive of the Ballarat Turf Club, playing a pivotal role in elevating the race to become the richest country cup in Australia. "I'm really proud of what's happened with Ballarat Cup day and I am proud of the fact that I had some input in building the race day to where it is and getting Magic Millions on board and the prize-money for the Cup and those sorts of things. But I have also made a rod for my own back a bit," McKenzie told Racing.com. "This is the best Ballarat Cup field I have seen and probably what we did with that day has made it much harder to win the race." McKenzie, who part-owned Junipal's half-brother, Makybe Diva Stakes (Gr 1, 1600m) winner Palentino (Teofilo), said of today's contest: "I've been racing horses for a long time and been lucky enough to have a couple of good ones, but I don't think I have ever been as excited going into a horse race as I am for this."

Rodd's shock at Ballarat's stellar line-up

The strength of today's Ballarat Cup line-up has also been echoed by Michael Rodd, who will partner the Chris Waller-trained Kings Will Dream (Casamento) in the $500,000 feature. "Brad Spicer (managing owner) and Chris (Waller) thought this is going to be the perfect race for him because everything is going to be going to the paddock and then the field came out and it's like (expletive) 'look at this race,'" Rodd told Racing.com. Winner of the Turnbull Stakes (Gr 1, 2000m) last October, Kings Will Dream has placed twice in four outings during a relatively luckless preparation this time around. He will break from barrier 14 under 61.5 kilograms today. "It's a full field, he has a lot of weight and there is class all the way through the field," Rodd continued. "He probably would have gone around favourite and been a great chance, and he still is a great chance, but the job has got a lot harder."

Two wins in a week for Bon? Say it's So

Enigmatic seven-year-old So Si Bon (So You Think), who got back to winning ways with a last-gasp success in Sandown's Eclipse Stakes (Gr 3, 1800m) last Saturday, will make a quick return to action when he contests today's Ballarat Cup. "I hope he can (win), it would be the biggest thrill ever if he can," co-trainer Ben Hayes told Racing.com. "He's really come through the race really well, we're very happy with him, I think barrier one for him is a great barrier. He's a horse that I always say we need to ride for luck and kind of trick him to the line, and I think if he gets the right runs he'll be travelling well and he'll be hopefully finishing in the finish, he doesn't often run a bad race." So Si Bon will shoulder 62 kilograms in the hands of Damian Lane and Hayes continued: "I don't think the big weight will matter too much and he'll hit the line well, he's a fit horse." Lindsay Park will also be represented by Harlem (Champs Elysees) and Furrion (Camelot). Of the former, who was last seen running fifth in the Mackinnon Stakes (Gr 1, 2000m), Hayes added: "I think Harlem is going really well. He's been racing well all spring and hopefully it's his time. I've never seen a healthier and happier horse, he's really been running well all prep and I think this will be a much easier race than last start when he ran into Arcadia Queen and Fifty Stars."

Cup target for Odeon

Co-trainer Simon Zahra is confident Odeon (Zacinto), runner-up in the Cranbourne Cup (Listed, 2025m) on his penultimate outing prior to running third in the Furphy Plate on November 3, is primed for his intended grand final in today's Ballarat Cup. "He looks pretty well-weighted, he's drawn to get a good run and three weeks in between runs is probably the key to him, so I wouldn't swap him for any runner," Zahra told Racing.com. "Half a million (prize-money) probably invites a lot of people to hang on doesn't it? It's a good incentive for late carnival. Obviously an afterthought for some, but it's a race we have targeted." The consistent seven-year-old will be without the services of regular jockey Jamie Kah today, who is suspended, and will instead be partnered by Daniel Moor as he breaks from barrier six. "Jamie has got the key to him a bit...but Daniel has been doing a lot of riding for us and he just does as he's told," Zahra continued. "Riding him conservative is always the better option because if he gets there too soon, he puts the flag up and thinks he's done his job."

Stockade to provide Eureka moment for Cobra

Mike Moroney is hoping today's VOBIS Gold Eureka Stockade (1400m) can shed some light on the optimum distance for his talented three-year-old Shelby Cobra (Toronado). A three and a half-length winner over 1400 metres at Sale second-up, Shelby Cobra made it two wins from three starts when taking out the Amanda Elliott (Listed, 1400m) on November 7. A $1.40 chance with the TAB for this afternoon's assignment at Ballarat, Moroney said of Shelby Cobra: "One thing is for sure, he has any amount of ability. He has a turn of foot only good horses have but I haven't quite worked out what his best distance is. I thought he was a bit fizzy in the run (in the Amanda Elliott) and Ben Melham rode him and said that as well, which leads me back to thinking he's a 1200-metre to a 1400-metre horse, which is what Ben thought." Moroney continued: "After his first start at Moonee Valley, Mark (Zahra) said he felt like a 1400-metre horse to a miler and I didn't agree. I came around when he won on him at Sale on a heavy track but after Flemington, I'm not so sure. Hopefully we'll know a bit more after Saturday and can work out an autumn program for him. We're still on a learning curve with him. If he can relax then we'll plan around 1400 metres and further."

Prophet poised for better luck

Cranbourne-based trainer Ray Besanko is hoping for better luck when his Rock Prophet (Moshe) lines up in the opening Benchmark 70 Handicap (1100m) at Ballarat today. The four-year-old was intended to line-up in the $150,000 Drumborg Grand Handicap (1100m) at Flemington on November 7 but missed out as second emergency. "We'd set him for the race at Flemington during Melbourne Cup week but unfortunately he had no luck at Bendigo the start prior (when eighth behind Hi Stranger on October 28) and didn't get enough weight to get into the (Grand Handicap) field," Besanko told Racing.com. "That's the way it goes and so we'll head to Ballarat on Saturday and hopefully he can put his head in front for us." Looking ahead with Rock Prophet, a dual winner from 12 starts, Besanko added: "He's been racing well and is still learning. I definitely feel he could be a Group 2 horse, maybe a Group 1 horse next year."

Schofield's high hopes for Gong contender Reloaded

Riding trackwork for Chris Waller has earned Glyn Schofield the mount on Reloaded (Snitzel) in today's $1 million The Gong at Kembla Grange. "Trackwork is always a nice thing to do because you get to ride his horses and get the opportunity to fill in in the morning and I put my hand up for the ride," Schofield said. "I've ridden Reloaded a couple of times in work and he really feels like he's on song. He feels like he's in a good place." Group 1-placed as a juvenile, Reloaded ran third in the Tramway Stakes (Gr 2, 1400m) on his return in September, but was bogged down on a heavy track in Rosehill's Golden Eagle (1500m) last start. "He is a multiple placegetter in Group races and he's down in the handicaps so he's got a lot to like about him," Schofield continued. "He has really been right up to the top types and under handicap terms on Saturday, I think he's right in it, especially if the track stays dry."

Rule The World to rejuvenate career

Co-trainer Adrian Bott is hopeful Rule The World (Hallowed Crown) can get his career back on track when he lines up in the Benchmark 78 Handicap (1400m) later on the Kembla Grange card. The four-year-old looked a bright prospect when winning his first three outings last spring, but finished down the field in his two autumn starts, including the Hawkesbury Guineas (Gr 3, 1400m). "He didn't quite come up. There were no issues that we could put our finger on," Bott said. "Obviously he wasn't performing at his best, especially from the early promise he showed at his first couple of runs. We gave him a good break and just backed off him and have given him the time he may have needed. Judging by his trials, he looks to have come back well and that seems to have been a good decision." Regarding today's contest, a 12-runner affair in which Rule The World will break from barrier ten under Tim Clark, Bott added: "He is effective first up and he's done plenty of work. He is there to be very competitive."

Former plumber set for milestone

Earlier at Kembla, former plumber Jade McDonald is gearing up for the biggest day of his training career when stable duo Roc De Khaper (Roc De Cambes) and Departing Bullet (Bullet Train) line up in the TAB Highway Handicap (1600m). McDonald, previously a trackwork rider for Goulburn trainers Emma Longmire and Greame Spackman, took out his NSW trainers' licence late last year before establishing his breaking, training and pre-training operation at Goulburn racecourse in January. Roc De Khaper produced an eye-catching second to Charmmebaby (Charm Spirit) on a heavy track over 1500 metres at Rosehill a fortnight ago and McDonald said of the five-year-old: "It was a beautiful run at Rosehill and the 1600-metre journey will suit him down to the ground. We've taken a very soft approach with him as he can get a bit jarry so we just try to keep him happy." Of Departing Bullet, he added: "It was a luckless run down the short stretch at Gundagai last start and by the time he started to warm up the race was over and done with. I was hoping he'd get a start as I think he'll be a real player as well."

Sugar to go Boom in Swiss Ace

Baylee Nothdurft is sweet on the claims of Sugar Boom (Spirit Of Boom) in today's Swiss Ace Plate (1000m) at the Sunshine Coast after the speedy four-year-old supplemented her success in restricted company at Doomben on October 17 with an all-the-way win in a 1050-metre Deagon barrier trial on November 10. Of the trial, Nothdurft said: "She went really good. She showed her customary gate speed and got the front and relaxed really nicely and had a good kick when asked. I didn't ask her to do a hell of a lot, it was more of a pipe-opener, but she couldn't have trialled any better." Sugar Boom is the TAB's $2.80 favourite for the Swiss Ace Plate and she is one of four representatives for Tony Gollan, joining stable companions Ms Catherine (Shooting To Win), Just Orm (Falvelon) and Capital Connection (Denman).

Monsieur earns Tatura Cup berth

Kane Harris is looking forward to in-form six-year-old Monsieur Macron (Swiss Ace) taking his chance in today's Tatura Cup (1450m). The winner of a Benchmark 58 at Echuca on November 3, Monsieur Macron will go in search of his third victory in four outings as one of ten runners in the $45,000 contest. "He's been racing in good heart but we're probably lucky that we've found a race that's not beyond him and is the next level up,"

Harris told Racing.com. "We're the rock-hard fit horse that's doing the best we can do, which gets him into the race a little bit, I think." Harris also believes the track will suit Monsieur Macron's on-speed running style. "I think it is going to suit him better than Swan Hill and Echuca, where he's won, because we know that we're going to be on speed and trying to steal a break," he added.

VRC formally farewells Elliott

The Victoria Racing Club (VRC) formally farewelled its chairman Amanda Elliott at a VRC board meeting yesterday. Earlier this year, the VRC announced a succession plan, outlining a leadership transition of the board from Amanda Elliott to former CEO and board member Neil Wilson to be completed this month, as well as the appointment of new VRC CEO Steve Rosich. "This year has truly been like no other in the 156-year history of the VRC, and Amanda's leadership during her time as chairman has ensured that the club was well-placed to withstand the challenges that we faced," Wilson said in a statement. "For the first time in its history, the Melbourne Cup carnival took place without our members and the general public on course. The board, under Amanda's leadership, was determined to ensure that the carnival would not only proceed, but thrive, championing innovative ways to engage with members and racing fans across the globe. A well-credentialed and stable board is critical to ensure the club is on a strong footing for the benefit of members both now as we emerge from the pandemic and well into the future."

South Australia's fortunes improve

The prospect of racing returning in South Australia next week has been given a glimmer of hope with the state's hard lockdown due to end this evening. Premier Steven Marshall yesterday announced the early end of what was originally planned as a six-day 'circuit-breaker' after it was revealed a person had lied to contact tracers. Racing is scheduled for Morphettville on Wednesday and Balaklava on Thursday, with further fixtures at Morphettville next Saturday (November 28) and Strathalbyn on Sunday (November 29). "Given the announced easing with gyms and hospitality venues, we are reasonably hopeful of recommencing race meetings on Wednesday 25 November at Morphettville," Thoroughbred Racing South Australia boss Nick Redin said in a statement yesterday. "This advice may not come through until late today or early tomorrow. Race meetings will be restricted to essential persons only."

NSW-Victoria movement easier from Monday

Racing participants from New South Wales will be able to enter Victoria without having to self-isolate or undergo a Covid-19 test from Monday after the NSW government's decision to open up the border. "Racing Victoria continues to monitor instances of community transmission in Australia and will revise its protocols on movement as appropriate to protect the industry," a Racing Victoria statement read. Racing Victoria also confirmed that South Australian horses will be allowed to continue to race in Victoria, despite the SA government closing its western border.

NEW ZEALAND

Miss Federer retired

The latest in a long line of knee issues has ended the racing career of multiple stakes winner Miss Federer (Swiss Ace). "She's been retired," Riccarton trainer Andrew Carston said. "She's already had two lots of knee surgery, and unfortunately she's chipped a knee again." Carston paid just NZ$10,000 to buy the filly at the 2018 NZB Premier Yearling Sale. Raced by a syndicate of 17 owners, Miss Federer won five races and NZ$163,035 in stakes. She captured the Welcome Stakes (Listed, 1000m) and Woburn Farm 2YO Classic (Gr 3, 1200m) during her juvenile season, then added the Canterbury Belle Stakes (Listed, 1200m) and NZB Airfreight Stakes (Listed, 1400m) to be named last season's New Zealand Bloodstock South Island Filly of the Year. "For a $10,000 filly, she's done an absolutely amazing job for us," Carston said. "She had her question marks from day one, but she came back from her first knee operation and won another two Listed races for us. The second operation didn't turn out to be quite so successful, but it is what it is. We'll look after her and tidy her up again, and then we'll more than likely sell her as a broodmare."

True Enough spells

Murray Baker and Andrew Forsman have sent Group 1 winner True Enough (Nom Du Jeu) out for a spell after two sub-par performances this spring. The gelding rose to stardom last season with victories in the Zabeel Classic (Gr 1, 2000m), Coupland's Bakeries Mile (Gr 2, 1600m) and Spring Sprint (Gr 3, 1400m), along with placings in the Captain Cook Stakes (Gr 1, 1600m), Herbie Dyke Stakes (Gr 1, 2000m) and New Zealand Stakes (Gr 1, 2000m). However, this season he has finished last in both the Spring Sprint and the Tauranga Stakes (Gr 2, 1600m). "We've sent him out for a spell," Forsman said. "For whatever reason, he just doesn't seem to have come up in this preparation. We can't really fault him physically at the moment, but it's been clear in his two races that he just hasn't come back at the level he's capable of. So we'll give him a nice break and try again a bit later on. We have no firm plans for him at this stage, we'll just see how things go with him."

Railway potential target for Jakarta

Alex Oliveira is expecting more of the same from Only In Jakarta (Snitzel) when she contests the Counties Bowl (Listed, 1100m) at Pukekohe today. The five-year-old mare kept her undefeated record intact when winning at Te Rapa last month and has continued to impress Oliveira. The first emergency for the race, Only In Jakarta gained her place in the field after the scratchings of Short Fuse (Per Incanto) and Endless Drama (Lope De Vega), and will jump from barrier nine in the 14-horse field. Oliveira has been pleased with the mare in the lead-up to her fifth start and he is quietly confident heading into her first tilt at stakes company, with the Railway Handicap (Gr 1, 1200m) a potential target. "In the last couple of weeks she has been working really well so I am looking forward to running her," he said. "It is another step up for her, there are some good horses there, but I think if she is on her game we will see the same performance that we have seen in the past. 1100 metres should be ideal for her. We are thinking about the Railway at this stage, but we will see what tomorrow brings first. We will see how she pulls up after this race and then I will probably give her 10 days in the paddock and then get her going for the Railway."

Levin on the radar for Shezzacatch

Shezzacatch (Savabeel), a shock stakes winner on debut, returns for start two in today's opener at Awapuni as she plots a path towards the Levin Classic (Gr 1, 1600m) in January. Two months on from that auspicious debut in the Si Colin Meads Trophy (Listed, 1200m), the Guy Lowry and Grant Cullen-prepared Shezzacatch is set to line up for her second start over 1300 metres. "She'd always shown us plenty of ability leading into that debut run, and it was great to see her go out and perform the way she did first-up," Lowry said. "I'm not sure how much has come out of that race, but it was definitely a really good performance on the day. We gave her a bit of a break in between, and we've been happy with her since she came back into work. This race at Awapuni on Saturday is definitely not her end goal. We're just sending her there to try to further her education a little bit. She was pretty erratic in her first race, so we're hoping to see a bit of improvement there. After this, she'll go to the Eulogy Stakes back at Awapuni next month, and then her end goal is the Levin Classic at Trentham in January. Hopefully she'll be good enough to make it there. So we're just hoping she'll learn a bit more from the experience this weekend, and this race should hopefully be another step in the right direction."

Whip use consultation begins

New Zealand Thoroughbred Racing (NZTR) is currently seeking consultation from industry participants and other interested parties regarding potential changes to the whip rules. The most recent amendments were made in October last year, which led to the current directive which restricts the use of the whip to no more than five times prior to the final 100 metres, after which it may be used at the rider's discretion. Other racing jurisdictions have already imposed more restrictive whip usage than New Zealand with France limiting whip use to just five times within a race; Ireland, eight times and the UK, seven. From October this year, jockeys riding in California were prohibited from using the whip more than six times in a race, and from using it more than twice in succession without letting the horse respond. Among the matters for consultation are the number of times a whip should be used throughout a race; whether this should be allowed to be in succession; the technique of whip use allowed; the design of the whip; penalty guidelines; and what amendments should be made regarding jumping races. The consultation document and the accompanying background and context can be found here. The consultation period will close on February 12, 2021, following which all feedback will be considered and recommendations will be made to meetings of the NZTR Integrity and Welfare Committee and the NZTR Board.

HK: Golden Sixty primed for Jockey Club Mile

Golden Sixty (Medaglia d'Oro) worked through his final gallop on Thursday morning at Sha Tin, with trainer Francis Lui confirming his star galloper is ready to shine in tomorrow's Jockey Club Mile (Gr 2, 1600m). "He's good, he's in-form and he has a good draw - I think he's the best horse at the moment," Lui said. So far this season, Golden Sixty has swept aside all-comers, just as he did last season through a campaign which culminated in Hong Kong Derby (Listed, 2000m) glory. Now, he's looking for his third win this campaign and his tenth in succession as he marches toward the Hong Kong Mile (Gr 1, 1600m) on December 13. While Golden Sixty undoubtedly has brilliance, he does have a quirk with it. "He does hang, he did it last start, but if you look at his previous wins he always hangs a little bit, but maybe this time the horse, when he passed the horse inside of him, he just hung a little bit more," Lui said but the handler is unperturbed: "It's not necessary to correct this - it's just his character, like all horses. You just have to relax him, that's his style, to stay behind a few runners; there's a little worry about him being caught behind horses on the inside - anything can happen."

HK: First stakes test for Mighty Giant

Challenging Golden Sixty's unbeaten streak is Mighty Giant (Power), who himself has built an impressive record, winning his last five races.

However, he is making a first attempt at a stakes race at his first start beyond 1400 metres. "We're going to find out, it's a big throw at the stumps and it's hard to go there with a lot of confidence thinking you're going to beat Golden Sixty because he's such a good horse," jockey Zac Purton said. "My bloke can only win and he's been doing that, he hasn't been beyond 1400 metres, so he has to step up in distance and he faces a big jump in class. But he's honest, he'll give us his best, he's got a good racing style so he'll be out there and let's hope he can do it." Ricky Yiu's tenacious chestnut likes to roll forward to sit close to the speed before grinding his rivals into submissions, a tactic that lessens the luck factor and always ensures a chance. "He's been out on his feet at the end of his 1400-metre races but they've all been very hard run races, they've been strong gallops and he's been entitled to be a little bit tired," Purton said. "Maybe at the mile he can have a bit more of a breather and that might help him but until you try a horse at a distance you can never be certain that they're going to run it, so we'll find out on the weekend."

HK: Exultant bids to return to winning form

Horse of the Year Exultant (Teofilo) is gearing up for his bid to become the second horse to win back-to-back Jockey Club Cups (Gr 2, 2000m), before a Hong Kong Vase (Gr 1, 2400m) tilt. Three-time champion stayer and fellow Horse of the Year Viva Pataca (Marju) succeeded in 2007 and 2008. Exultant, upstaged by stablemate Furore (Pierro) last start in the Sa Sa Ladies' Purse (Gr 3, 1800m), has pleased champion jockey Zac Purton this campaign and the rider is looking forward to pairing with the five-time Group 1 winner for his second run back this season. "My bloke was first-up (last time), he will have taken benefit from that first-up run and hopefully he's just taken that next step. He is an older horse so sometimes they can take a little bit longer to come to hand - I thought his run was good and I'm looking forward to riding him again," Purton said. "For a race that on paper looked like it had no speed, everyone had the same idea and they wanted to be a little bit handier than they normally would be and that injected more speed into the race for the first half-mile than was necessary. All those horses that were up there except my bloke fell in a hole and the horse out the back with the lighter weight, that did no work early on and had a suck run, was able to get over the top of us." Exultant is looking to recapture the Vase crown he won two years ago but which he let slip last year, and forms one part of a three-pronged attack on the Jockey Club Cup by trainer Tony Cruz, with Time Warp (Archipenko) also featuring.

UK: Mehmas set for hefty rise on Tally-Ho's seven-strong roster

Tally-Ho Stud resident Mehmas (Acclamation) is set to be offered at €25,000 (approx. AUD$40,500) for the 2021 breeding season. The County Westmeath farm has raised the young stallion by 233 per cent from his mark of €7,500 (approx. AUD$12,150) this year after sensational returns from his debut crop on the track. Mehmas has supplied an incredible 47 individual winners and four at stakes level, headed by Middle Park Stakes (Gr 1, 6f) winner Supremacy. Last month, he became the most successful European first season sire in history when passing Iffraaj's (Zafonic) record of 37 first-crop winners, set in 2010. Tally-Ho's leading light Kodiak (Danahill), who produced another couple of Group 1 scorers through Campanelle and Hello Youmzain, will have his current fee of €65,000 (approx. AUD$105,500) maintained. Click here for the full list of fees.

Simsir stuns British and Irish raiders in Bahrain International

BY JAMES STEVENS OF THE RACING POST

Australian-based jockey Lee Newman was close to tears when getting within touching distance of Bahrain International Trophy (2000m) glory last year and employed identical confident tactics this time around on Simsir (Zoffany), who stunned his ten international challengers in the £500,000 showpiece.

Last year, Newman and 22-1 shot Rustang (Holy Roman Emperor) were gunned down late by European raiders Royal Julius (Royal Applause) and Turgenev (Dubawi) but the 2000 British champion apprentice, now based in Australia, maintained the faith in his ambitious riding style to race prominently and kick for home at the two-furlong pole.

Just like 12 months ago, Newman and his outside chance entered the final furlong with a sizeable but diminishing lead, with Frankie Dettori and Global Giant (Shamardal) and the Ryan Moore-ridden Sovereign (Galileo) closing in at an alarming rate. This time, however, the line came just in time to complete the shock.

Newman said: "It was a good race run at a fair pace. I knew I needed to be close to Coolagh

RASHID EQUESTRIAN AND HORSERACING CLUB

Forest as he'd be near the front. My horse is good but he doesn't really have that turn of foot, he's not electric with it.

"When he hit the front he wandered and I had to work at him but he kept giving. I knew he was decent and I think he's better than that too.

"He was a dark horse, I thought before the race I'd be in with a squeak. If you did your homework he had a strong chance of a place – he needed everything to go right and it did."

Simsir was scoring on his first start for Fawzi Nass, who works his horses on the Sakhr track every day and was also responsible for fourth-place finisher Port Lions (Kodiac).

The John Gosden-trained Global Giant came closest of the ten international challengers, eventually beaten a neck, with Sovereign third and Lord Glitters (Whipper) fifth.

There was no fairytale farewell for retiring Deirdre (Harbinger), who was eighth, while Certain Lad (Clodovil), Loxley (New Approach), Bangkok (Australia), Dream Castle (Frankel), Desert Encounter (Halling) and Lady Wannabe (Camelot) were out of luck in a bunched finish.

Sheikh Isa bin Salman Al Khalifa, owner of the runner-up and a key figure in the evolution of the Bahrain International, believes the result will boost chances of Group-status when assessed in the next few months.

"I'm delighted with his run [of Global Giant]," he said. "He represented himself well and it's good to have a locally-trained winner. The right horses were by the front so we hope the race will achieve pattern status next year. We'll be back next season, absolutely."
