Nomadic Nacim 'Treks' to Winterbottom

Godolphin's travelling foreman has spent plenty of 2020 in quarantine but holds high hopes for today's Perth Group 1

Trekking

BY ANDREW HAWKINS | @ANZ_NEWS

In a year in which normal life has come to a standstill, few people have travelled as frequently as Godolphin's Nacim Dilmi, so perhaps it is fitting that the French expat will saddle up the aptly-named Trekking (Street Cry) in today's Winterbottom Stakes (Gr 1, 1200m) at Ascot.

With widespread state border closures across Australia for the first time since federation, Godolphin's travelling foreman

Dilmi has spent much of his year in quarantine, hopping between cities to look after Godolphin's interstate raiders away from Sydney and Melbourne.

"The first time we had to quarantine, we went to South Australia for the winter carnival so we were in a hotel room in Adelaide for two weeks," Dilmi told ANZ Bloodstock News yesterday. "And then from South Australia, after Trekking won the Goodwood, we went to Queensland and we had to quarantine for another two weeks. Continued on page 2>>

"I was back in Sydney after the Brisbane winter carnival and James asked me if I wanted to go to Perth, I was happy to do that.

"It was harder to get into Western Australia than the other places because I needed an actual permit just to enter the state, so that was hard to do, but Perth Racing helped a lot. Actually, we got on the plane from Sydney to Perth and the permit was still pending, so we didn't even know when we landed if we'd be approved to enter the state - we thought we might have to turn around and go straight back to Sydney.

"Thankfully, it got approved once we landed. We had to do quarantine here for two weeks - thankfully, we managed to make it work."

The 33-year-old has been Godolphin head trainer James Cummings' right-hand man since joining Leilani Lodge, then run by Cummings' legendary grandfather Bart, in 2011. It was the culmination of a journey with an inauspicious beginning in France.

"I started racing at the age of 13, when I always used to go to the races with my dad," he said. "I had no racing background in the family but dad loves racing and loves a punt. Basically, that's how I fell in love with it.

"I went to the French Racing School (Ecole des Courses Hippiques) in Chantilly, I did my apprenticeship with Criquette Head for five years. I rode a few races, but when I put on a bit of weight and started to struggle with that, with the dieting and all that, I decided to stop.

"I stayed there for a couple of years beyond that though and then I went to England for three years. I rode for Paul Cole and Tom Dascombe and that was where I met my wife Lauren."

The trek across the English Channel was just the start of his travels, though, with Dilmi casting his eyes further afield. In a different world, Dilmi could have instead been celebrating Thanksgiving this week in the United States, free of the quarantine shackles imposed in Australia but also confronting a Covid-19 situation far more severe than down under.

"After three years in England, I thought I'd like to do something different," he said. "We looked at going to America, but it was getting a bit too popular for Europeans to go there. This was 2009 and nobody really came to Australia at that time so we decided to come here for six months; we've been here 11 years.

"I started with Gai Waterhouse, did my six months, then I went and worked in Melbourne for Greg Eurrell for six months. I went to Sydney and started to work for Bart Cummings, I worked for him for a month early on but after Melbourne, I stayed there and went through the whole visa process.

"James was the foreman at the time, and then when James and Bart went into partnership, I had the opportunity to step up as stable foreman. And I've basically stayed on ever since!

"When James took over the job at Godolphin, they asked me if I'd like to join. Obviously, that was a no-brainer, there was no doubt or no question. After three years or so, I've been lucky enough to travel across the country with their horses - Queensland, South Australia, Victoria a few times. It's a great feeling when you get to travel with good horses."

Dilmi, whose clipped French accent is punctuated by an Australian twang, spoke to ANZ Bloodstock News shortly after riding Winterbottom Stakes favourite Trekking yesterday morning.

"Trekking has had a nice couple of weeks, they've been easy," he said. "He's had three starts between Sydney and Melbourne, that hard run in The Everest between the two Moonee Valley Group 1s.

"He had a nice trial on Monday with Willie Pike on at Belmont. He wasn't there to break any records and we treated it as a final gallop. It was good for Willie to get a feel for him ahead of tomorrow's race.

"He's going into the Winterbottom in super order, I couldn't be happier with him. He's feeling really well. Tomorrow will be his grand final this preparation and I'd say he'll go back to Sydney in a week or ten days or so."

Also under Dilmi's auspices while in Perth is the enigmatic Kementari (Lonhro), who finished midfield as top-weight in last weekend's Railway Stakes (Gr 1, 1600m).

The six-year-old will have one more run in Perth, but which race is yet to be decided, with the Kingston Town Classic (Gr 1, 1800m) and the A J Scahill Stakes (Gr 3, 1400m) among his options as he looks to break a drought that stretches back to the 2018 Randwick Guineas (Gr 1, 1600m).

"Kementari will have his next run next weekend," Dilmi said. "We haven't ruled out the Kingston Town yet, but at this stage, we're going to give him a gallop on Tuesday and we'll see how he pulls up from that.

"He's pulled up really well from the Railway, it was a good run. He's never been beyond a mile so James and the team will have a talk after his gallop Tuesday and see whether we step him up to 1800 metres or go back to the 1400 metres."

As for the Dilmis, their nomadic 2020 is set to continue with one final stop before the year is out.

"After we're finished here, the horses will travel back to Sydney and myself and Lauren will travel to Queensland for the summer," he said.

Last night, Trekking was a $2.20 favourite with TAB for the Winterbottom Stakes, which will jump at 5.30pm local time (8.30pm ADST).

MORNING BRIEFING

AUSTRALIA

Miss Siska chasing Festival glory

Matthew Smith believes dual Group winner Miss Siska (So You Think) will be competitive in the Festival Stakes (Gr 3, 1500m) as Rosehill today, as she returns from a two-month break. The seven-year-old mare, who took out the Peter Young Stakes (Gr 2, 1800m) and Carlyon Cup (Gr 3, 1600m) earlier this year, has been unplaced in her two races this preparation but Smith believes her fitness is now where it needs to be. "She is a big mare. She's 570 kilograms and they take a power of getting fit," Smith said. "So we just gave her those couple of runs and got her fitness where we wanted it and then gave her a freshen up to come back and have a crack at these races." While Miss Siska is at an age when many mares swap racing for breeding, her owners have an appetite to continue her racetrack career while she is enjoying it. "They love racing so they're keen to keep her going if she can perform at the right level," Smith added. "If she runs up to her best form she will be competitive for sure."

Farrell's Boot ambitions for Super Hot

Pat Farrell believes he has an 'above average' youngster on his hands in the form of Super Hot (Outreach), who lines up in the De Bortoli Wines Handicap (1100m) at Rosehill today. Super Hot looked raw on debut in the Max Lees Classic (900m) at Newcastle earlier this month but Farrell was pleased with his fifth-placed showing and expects him to appreciate the step up in trip. "It was a good run but he would have been right in the finish had he got away better," Farrell said. "While I don't like to overwork two-year-olds, he's had plenty going into this race and the extra trip will suit. We'll play it by ear but if he runs well we might head to the Wellington Boot and if he wins that there's a chance the horse might be sold to Hong Kong." Super Hot, raced by Kempsey breeder David Parker, is by Widden-based sire Outreach (Exceed And Excel), who is a brother to Golden Slipper (Gr 1, 1200m) winner Overreach.

Bowman's eyes Beyond today

Ocean Beyond (Ocean Park), purchased by Daniel Bowman for NZD$60,000 at New Zealand Bloodstock's Ready-To-Run Sale last November, looks an exciting prospect after winning on debut at Geelong earlier this month and aims to confirm that promise in the McKenzie Stakes (Listed, 1200m) at Moonee Valley today. Despite being brought from a ready-to-run sale, Bowman has been patient with the three-year-old gelding and admits he was always a long term prospect. "The breeze-up wasn't actually that impressive. It was more about the animal and the athlete," Bowman told Racing.com. "He showed us a fair bit at home, so we were pretty confident going to his debut, but it is always nice to see them do it. It's (McKenzie Stakes) a step-up but he's certainly one in the race with some scope. The others are exposed to a certain degree. If our bloke is ready for it or not, we'll find out. He'll definitely be up to this sort of level in time, but it would just be nice to win tomorrow and get his rating up and then we can set out a plan for the autumn."

No easy option for Brave

Land Of The Brave (Starspangledbanner), who was beaten in a Tatura maiden at odds of $1.60 on his last start, returns in a 1600 metre-Benchmark 70 contest at Moonee Valley today. Land Of The Brave is yet to break his maiden in four starts and Corstens will be hoping he can prove good enough in this competitive contest. "Not quite sure he is up to that grade, but I just thought it was worth a throw at the stumps," Corstens said. "There's a million 1600-metre maidens we can run in anywhere and originally this race tomorrow popped up with only five nominations, which is why I was attracted to it in the first place. He ran really well at Echuca (two starts ago) and Mick Price's horse that beat him (Valanetti) came out and ran third in the Sandown Guineas, which prompted me to take him to Tatura thinking he was a good thing. We just got too far back. We were meant to lead, we didn't. The thing that led got its own way and won. The dry track is really going to suit him...he gets his chance to show us where he is in the pecking order and what he can do."

Hughes bides time for summer success

Tom Hughes' patience has paid off with two city winners in recent weeks after not having a runner for three months. The Flemington trainer bided his time and kept his powder dry, rather than race his horses over the winter, and was rewarded when Leiter (Wanted) won first-up at Flemington on the final day of the Cup carnival and The Commoner (Reward For Effort) won at The Valley. Both horses will be in action at Moonee Valley today. Hughes, who has two wins, two thirds and a fifth from five runners this season, said: "It's been good. I've only got seven horses in work and I set Leiter for the Flemington race three months ago. That's when it was first talked about and three months of planning went into it. At the end of last preparation he had been racing well and we could have pushed on through winter and might have won a race, but I thought it was a chance to give him a good break and let him develop."

Socialising the one for Gollan

Tony Gollan believes his progressive mare Socialising (Bel Esprit) holds solid claims

in the Spirit Of Boom Classic (Listed, 1200m) at Doomben today. The five-year-old, who has won four of her last five starts, has climbed through the grades since May and makes her first start in stakes company today. "Socialising has got a bit of X-factor about her coming through her grades and if she can get that soft run just behind what will be a pretty good speed, she'll get every chance to run on," Gollan said. "Her rating says she's not well in here at set weights and penalties as a 78-rater but I think she'll finish her career at a much higher level. Does she need to be at this grade now? She probably doesn't, but if I get the opportunity to go for black-type or run in another class six then I'll take the black-type. That's what it's all about with these mares."

Jericho Cup heading the right way

Symon Wilde believes the Jericho Cup (4600m) can become one of the best days on the country racing calendar, as Warrnambool prepares to host the race for the third time tomorrow. Wilde will be represented by Count Zero (Zed) and Britannicus (Roman Emperor) in Australia's longest flat race, a contest he has targeted from a long way out. "It's not just for the punter. It's a point of difference as it's a real event," Wilde said. "People can come to the races and see the Light Horseman, listen to the Last Post. Kids are intrigued and ask questions about the war. It's not a pop-up money race. It's got history behind it. There's something for everybody. Unfortunately last year the weather was terrible and now we've got Covid, but it will continue to gain momentum. And it's a great race for trainers with stayers. We target the race a long way out. The distance is the great leveller. Most horses won't run it out but my pair will."

Dynamic duo in Jericho

Dynamic Syndications have two live chances in the Jericho Cup, courtesy of Frenzied (Americain) and Dambulla (Fastnet Rock). Purchased for $85,000 and $150,000 respectively at the 2017 Inglis Premier Yearling Sale, the owners envisaged the pair potentially lining up in different Cup contests, but are hoping they will both see out the 4600-metre trip. "It's a terrific concept this race and we're very excited to have two very live chances who are probably racing at the peak of their powers," Dynamic's Adam Watt told Racing.com. "Frenzied is bred to stick like chewing gum to a blanket. He's by a Melbourne Cup winner and he's the grandson of a Melbourne Cup winner in Lets Elope, so it's really no surprise to see that he wants to stay. He's a very tough horse, he's a multiple track-record holder and he won a Bong Bong Cup on this day last year, so he's used to carrying weight. And I know Dambulla is a son of Fastnet but his mother won out to 3000 metres in Europe, so he was always a horse that we had bought thinking that he'd want ground. I'm not sure 4600 metres was what we thought - we syndicated him as a Derby or Cups contender and he gets his chance in a Jericho Cup on Sunday."

Newcastle postponed until Tuesday

Newcastle's meeting on Sunday has been postponed until Tuesday, December 1 due to forecast temperatures of 43 degrees in New South Wales.

Vungers adds Wodonga Gold Cup

Vungers (Reset) convincingly took out the Wodonga Gold Cup (1590m) yesterday, adding to his Donald Cup (1620m) victory a fortnight ago. The seven-year-old gelding grew his reputation as a country cup king when leading from the front to defeat Coming Around (Gingerbread Man) by four and a quarter lengths, with Quiet Lucky (Rockaroundtheclock) close behind in third. "He's no superstar as I keep saying, but he's no slouch either," trainer Brendon Hearps told Racing.com. "Earlier on he looked like being really good until he did a tendon and he's just plodded along since. It's great for the owners - they have been great owners in the stable for 25 years or so and they're rapt, so it will be another big weekend."

Tabcorp, NZ TAB extend agreement

Tabcorp and NZ TAB have extended their broadcasting and wagering rights agreement for Australian and New Zealand racing. The agreements guarantee the broadcast of NZ racing into Australia through the Tabcorp-owned Sky Racing network and vice versa through TAB NZ's Trackside broadcasting service. Tabcorp's managing director for wagering & media, Adam Rytenskild, said: "We are strong supporters of New Zealand racing and we're pleased to continue to work closely with TAB NZ. Through this agreement, we will continue to showcase New Zealand racing in Australia and around the world via Sky Racing and to facilitate the broadcast of Australian racing in New Zealand. And co-mingling helps provide deeper pools for TAB tote punters in both countries."

Victorian bookies hoping for return

Victorian bookmakers are lobbying for their right to return to racetracks with crowds, after Racing Victoria announced earlier this week that 500 spectators will be allowed at race meetings from December 2. The Covid-19 pandemic has resulted in the amount of punters using online services increasing, but Victorian Bookmakers Association co-chairman Lyndon Hsu believes their on-course presence is vital to the industry. "We are desperate as an association," Hsu said. "We have 155 members so, to fly the flag, even if it is a notional one where we've just got a couple of members on, but just to say 'we are back on course'. From March 15 to now, for the first time in the history of racing, as far as we can determine, there have been no bookmakers on course. We're a stakeholder of the Victorian racing industry. We want to play our part. We want to do everything possible to get everyone back on course. The most important thing is that we get ourselves back. If we are not there when there is 500, we might struggle to be there if there's 1000."

Younger Rawiller excited for family reunion

Campbell Rawiller is looking forward to the return of his father after it was announced this week that Nash Rawiller will ride in Melbourne over the festive season, with today's meeting at Rosehill being his last NSW fixture of the year. Nash will reunite with his family and will likely stay until the Gold Coast Magic Millions carnival, with a return to Sydney anticipated in January. The reunion will be the first time Campbell has seen his dad since the pair rode against each other for the one and only time in October last year. "He's been up in Sydney since that and the borders have been closed," the leading apprentice told Racing.com on Friday. "It's been a long time since I've been able to catch up with him again, so things have been tough. But times are changing. This (Nash's riding holiday in Melbourne) will allow him to refresh in terms of seeing the family again and spending a bit of time away from Sydney. He'll be hungry to hit form pretty quickly here and it's good for me to have my father and mentor here again."

Beer back on track

Mitch Beer is hoping a fruitful summer can follow a difficult period as his Albury-based stable continues to rebuild having been hit hard by the impact of Covid-19. Beer's stock had steadily grown since he relocated from Mornington to Albury in 2018, capitalising on his newfound proximity to both Melbourne and Sydney. However, being based on the NSW side of the border had disastrous effects when the pandemic struck as he was unable to transport horses to Victoria, where he generally prefers to place his runners. As such, Beer was forced to send a significant number of his string to other trainers. "It was like we had been charged with something or been disqualified because I was sitting around trying to place the horses elsewhere with other trainers," Beer told Racing.com. "I've taken a Victorian client base and moved to Albury, so a majority of my owners want to see their horses run in Melbourne as opposed to Sydney. At one stage there we had 22 horses that were either in pre-training or with other trainers...it was a hard thing to swallow and mentally it had a big impact on me at the time because it just felt like everything I had worked hard for had walked out the gate." However, as of Monday, Beer has been able to move between Albury and his native Victoria, and the horses that temporarily left have all returned. His staff, some of whom were forced to relocate from Wodonga to the Victorian side of the border to continue work, can now return home while life at the stables is returning to normal. "When the borders opened this week and we don't have to arrange permits, it was like an abscess had burst when those walls finally came down," Beer added.

Apprentice Lloyd off the mark first-up

Apprentice jockey Zac Lloyd, from a family steeped in racing as a son of Jeff Lloyd, a nephew of Glyn Schofield and a cousin of Hong Kong-based Chad Schofield, made his first ride a winning one yesterday when guiding Satine (Super One) to victory at Dalby for his retained stable of Toby and Trent Edmonds. The filly was breaking her maiden at her fifth start and a jubilant Lloyd told Sky Racing post-race: "It's amazing. It's been such a longtime coming and I just can't thank Mr Edmonds and Trent enough for the ride. She was the perfect first ride for an apprentice. One she jumped, put herself there and relaxed around the turn, I thought it's going to need a nice horse to beat me. I'm really happy."

Laing's $750 filly bound for town

Bargain buy Divine Waters (Headwater) will make her debut at Moonee Valley today or Sandown on Wednesday, with trainer Jack Laing excited about taking the wraps off his daughter of Headwater (Exceed And Excel). Laing, whose father Robbie prepared $4,000 yearling Polanski (Rakti) to win the 2013 Victoria Derby (Gr 1, 2500m), believes his $750 purchase boasts ability that belies her modest price tag. "My friend actually purchased her," Laing told Racing.com. "He was very newly getting into the breeding side of things and I'm obviously pretty interested in it, so I was reeling off a few crosses that I liked. A day or two later he sent me a screenshot of the filly and I thought she'd go pretty cheap because Headwater hadn't had a runner then. The hammer went down at $750 and I think it was only a month or two later that Wisdom Of Water started to do a bit of damage up north and suddenly she looked like a nice buy." Divine Waters won an 800-metre trial at Cranbourne on her second public appearance and Laid added: "It wasn't a time to get excited about, but I just love her attitude." Divine Waters has accepted for today's 1000-metre contest at Moonee Valley, but Laing might consider scratching her from barrier 12 and look to a 1000-metre fillies' heat at Sandown next week.

NEW ZEALAND

Khufu to reign at Ellerslie

Khufu pictured as a yearling

NZB

Cambridge trainer Tony Pike will introduce punters to a colt at Ellerslie today that could one day become their darling. Pike will produce Khufu (American Pharoah) on debut in the Eagle Charters 1100, hoping the youngster can showcase the ability that has his trainer so excited about him. Pike bought the Nearco Stud-bred Khufu for NZ$150,000 at this year's Karaka Premier Yearling Sale out of the draft of Curraghmore and has kept up payments for the colt to be eligible for January's Karaka Million (RL, 1200m) at Ellerslie. "He's very promising. He's shown us plenty of the track," Pike said. "He won his first trial nicely at Ruakaka then got stuck in the mud a bit at Matamata at his second trial. But he's a big, strong horse and he'll get back to a better track at Ellerslie on Saturday and barring bad luck, we think he should be right in the finish." Khufu, out of the stakes-winning, twice Group 1-placed mare Strada Cavallo (Alamosa), is part of an ownership syndicate involving several influential owners and stud farms. "He was a lovely loose walking yearling with plenty of size and strength about him. He's not just a two-year-old either. We think he'll develop into an even better horse as he gets older," Pike said.

Promising three-year-old getting a Grip

Ballymore Stables have a big rap on three-year-old colt Grip (Exosphere) and they are hoping he can show his class at Ellerslie today when he lines-up in the Trevor Eagle Memorial (Listed, 1500m). The colt recorded his maiden victory at Pukekohe last start and Pam Gerard, who trains in partnership with Michael Moroney, believes he will be very competitive in his first stakes assignment. "We are pretty happy with him and he has shown us he has got some potential," she said. "He pretty much did it last start on natural ability. He is still quite green, he has a lot to learn, but he did it easy enough. He probably got lost out in front when he got there a bit too soon. It was a good effort." Grip has drawn barrier 13 for Saturday and Gerard said that is an ideal gate for him. "It's not the worst place for him," she said. "He likes to get back and run home. Even if he is three-wide with cover midfield, that's not a bad place for him." Purchased out of Bradbury Park's 2019 New Zealand Bloodstock Book 1 Yearling Sale draft for NZ$100,000, Grip is on a path towards the New Zealand Derby (Gr 1, 2400m).

New Plymouth to host Rosie Myers benefit raceday

The New Zealand racing industry will continue to support the recovery of injured jockey Rosie Myers with a benefit raceday at New Plymouth next Thursday. The popular rider has been in hospital since suffering a head injury in a fall at the Foxton trials on October 6. "Rosie is a very popular member of the racing community and all of the industry is keen to support her as she recovers," Taranaki Racing chief executive Carey Hobbs said. "Taranaki Racing have been inundated with support for the day and are currently organising a sweepstake for racing clubs, the idea of Waikato Racing Club chief executive Butch Castles. Each club will donate $1,000 and get a number. The number with most points will win a hospitality package for 20 with Taranaki Racing. The Egmont Racing Club at Hawera were the first to agree, as Rosie is a Hawera-born lass. They were quickly followed by Waikato, Counties, Auckland, Hawke's Bay, RACE, Ruakaka Racing, Otaki-Maori and Canterbury, who also donated a second prize - a hospitality package for 10 at the Winter Cup Meeting. And more clubs are expected to join very shortly. The New Zealand Trainers' Association and New Zealand Jockeys' Association are also supporting the Fundraising Raceday by each donating from every win on the day. The TAB are looking at setting up a Givealittle page for the week, and other promotions to support the cause."

NZTR to develop sustainable industry blueprint

The board of New Zealand Thoroughbred Racing (NZTR) has announced a number of key decisions and initiatives that were recently agreed at its November 25 board meeting. "I'm excited by the options we have in front of us to create a vibrant future and implement actions to energise, excite and set up a sustainable future, in line with our own way of thinking and considerations from the Messara Report," NZTR chairman Cameron George said. "Our priority was to ensure we continued with Bernard Saundry as chief executive until July 31, 2022. This enables the board to build on existing relationships for the greater benefit of the industry in the short to mid-term, while a number of other actions are being managed into place for the longer term. To have stability in the CEO role for a further 12 months beyond this racing season is sensible, and crucial for our industry in reaching its long-term potential." In addition to Saundry's extension, the Board resolved to undertake an organisational review of NZTR. This will include, but is not limited to, structure, capability, resource, culture, and location.

HK: Shadow Hero steps out at Sha Tin

Dual Australian Group 1 winner Shadow Hero (Pierro) will make his Hong Kong debut for David Hayes tomorrow, with the four-year-old starting out on the path to next year's Hong Kong Derby (Listed, 2000m). Formerly trained by Mark Newnham, for whom he won the Spring Champion Stakes (Gr 1, 2000m) and Randwick Guineas (Gr 1, 1600m), Shadow Hero will face two former compatriots over 1400 metres when he lines up against Tourmillon Diamond (Olympic Glory), an Australian Derby (Gr 1, 2400m) placegetter when racing as Eric The Eel, and former Godolphin representative Chenier (Medaglia D'Oro), who now races as Enrich Delight. Hayes has thus far trained six winners in his first season back in Hong Kong, while he landed the Hong Kong Derby with Elegant Fashion (Danewin) in 2003.

"If he'd stayed in Australia, he'd definitely have been a top class weight-for-age horse so I'm really excited to see race and progress towards some pretty big goals," Hayes said of Shadow Hero. "All his build up to his return has been very pleasing. He'll go second-up into international day and next year I reckon we'll see him in one of the big ones."

HK: Fast Most Furious eyes Hong Kong Mile start

Fast Most Furious (Lope De Vega) will put his Hong Kong Mile (Gr 1, 1600m) credentials on show tomorrow at Sha Tin when he contests the Chevalier Cup with a start in next month's HK$25 million (approx. AUD$4.37 million) mile, subject to his screen test this weekend. "He's very difficult to place now - he's still in the big race and the chance of him lining up depends on what happens this weekend," trainer David Hall said. "It's hard with top-weight and the wide draw - it might be all a little bit suspect about whether he makes it to December, but we'll see how he goes." Hall's chestnut is one of 13 selected to compete in the Hong Kong Mile at the HK$95 million (approx. AUD$16.61 million) showcase against a number of world heavyweights from Japan and Ireland as well as fellow Hong Kong-trained horses Beauty Generation (Road To Rock), Golden Sixty (Medaglia d'Oro), Waikuku (Harbour Watch) and Southern Legend (Not A Single Doubt). "I think it's just a bonus that he'd make the field but there is nowhere else for him to go, so your hands are tied and you probably have to run but racing's a funny game - funny things happen and there's prize-money all the way down to sixth place," Hall said.

INTERNATIONAL

42 for Le Havre

Leading French stallion Le Havre (Noverre) brought up his 42nd individual stakes winner on Thursday when Orglandes (4 f ex Influence by Dansili) took out the Red Carpet Handicap (Gr 3, 11f) at Del Mar. Prepared by America's top turf trainer Chad Brown, French import Orglandes made her first start in California a winning one, defeating Going To Vegas (Goldencents) by a half-length with a further length back to Quick (Olympic Glory) in third. The Red Carpet, formerly the Beverly Hills Handicap and a Grade 1 at Hollywood Park from 1988 to 2002, has been won by New Zealand mares Happyannuit (Yachtie) and Black Mamba (Black Minnaloushe) in the past. However, Orglandes is the first foreign-bred mare to take the feature since Japanese Group 1 winner Nuovo Record swept past her American rivals in 2016. Le Havre stands for €40,000 (approx. AUD$64,600) at Montfort et Preaux, now under the Sumbe banner, in 2021.

UK: Warrior and Zoustar continue fine run at Tattersalls

As highlighted in today's International Sales News, Saxon Warrior (Deep Impact) and Zoustar (Northern Meteor) made an instant impact with their first foals in the Tattersalls sales ring on Thursday, and the duo built on that success with a number of eye-catching lots on Friday. Coolmore shuttler Saxon Warrior was responsible for the second highest-priced lot at the time of going to press, a 280,000gns (approx.

Zoustar

AUD$531,000) filly who was knocked down to Stauffenberg Bloodstock Services having been offered by Norris Bloodstock. The February-born youngster is out an unraced own-sister to US Grade 1 winner Prince Arch (Arch). Meanwhile, Widden Stud resident Zoustar had a further seven lots sold on Friday, headlined by a 150,000gns (approx. AUD$285,000) colt from dual Group 1 winner La Collina (Strategic Prince). She went the way of Paca Paca Farm having been offered by Kenilworth House Stud. Read tomorrow's ANZ Bloodstock for the full report on Friday's session at Park Paddocks.

UK: Oisin Murphy receives three-month ban after French cocaine positive upheld

Oisin Murphy has been banned for three months by France Galop stewards following a positive urine test for metabolites of cocaine. The dual champion jockey in Britain, who has decided not to appeal against the decision, would ordinarily have been looking at a six-month suspension, but the stewards were persuaded by a combination of evidence from a hair test and Murphy's own testimony that he was contaminated after having sex with a person he later discovered to be a user. The case recalls that of the French tennis player, Richard Gasquet, who successfully appealed to the Court of Arbitration for Sport that he had been contaminated by a sexual partner. Murphy was unwilling to identify the person concerned and thus the disciplinary committee were left with the possibility raised by the hair test that he may have taken the drug once, though he could not be considered a habitual user. France Galop will expect the ban to be reciprocated in other racing jurisdictions including Britain and Ireland and it is virtually unheard of for such a request from a Tier 1 nation to be denied. Murphy tested positive after riding at The Lir Jet (Prince Of Lir) at Chantilly on July 19. In response to the ban, Murphy said: "Whilst I am obviously disappointed that I will still have to serve a three-month suspension, I am pleased the commissioners accepted the evidence presented and am hugely relieved to have been cleared of taking cocaine. I respect the rules of France Galop, respect their decision and will not be appealing."

Warrior and Zoustar to the fore as Stars shines on day two at Tattersalls

BY TOM PEACOCK | RACING POST

First season shuttlers Saxon Warrior (Deep Impact) and Zoustar (Northern Meteor) proved popular with buyers during the second session of the Tattersalls December Foal Sale on Thursday, with both stallions returning impressive results.

Coolmore resident Saxon Warrior had four colts sold for an average 100,750gns (approx. AUD$192,000), which included a 160,000gns (approx. AUD$304,000) Highclere Stud-consigned youngster who went the way of Camas Park Stud. The same buyer returned with a bid of 100,000gns (approx. AUD$190,000) for a colt from Alltherightmoves (Namid) later in the session.

Meanwhile, Widden Stud resident Zoustar had nine youngsters sold for 409,000gns (approx. AUD$776,500), including two six-figure lots. A colt from Plantation Stud went the way of Yeomanstown Stud for 110,000gns (approx. AUD$209,000) shortly after Tweenhills Farm & Stud, Zoustar's northern hemisphere base, offered a son of the well-related Bewitchment (Pivotal) for 100,000gns (approx. AUD$190,000).

The exceptional Sea The Stars (Cape Cross), sire of Stradivarius, Taghrooda and Sea Of Class, was responsible for the 170,000gns (approx. AUD$323,000) session topper as the day two median of 25,000gns (approx. AUD$47,500) and average of 33,888gns (approx. AUD$64,500) had dropped a little year-on-year.

Turnover was also down, 7,014,800gns (approx. AUD$13,320,000) compared to 8,532,700gns grossed 12 months ago, although the clearance rate was up five per cent to 84.

Saxon begins the advance

There were glowing commendations from senior parties on each side of the transaction which saw a member of the dual Group 1 winner Saxon Warrior's first crop reach 160,000gns, top lot for the vast majority of the day.

A busy session at Tattersalls saw 11 foals make six figures

LAURA GREEN

Hindsight often bathes an auction success in a more favourable light but auctioneer Alastair Pim had assessed that Lot 603 was a hard horse to find fault with during his warm-up routine and good judges clearly agreed.

He provided enough of a persuasive case for Timmy Hyde of Camas Park Stud, bidding from an increasingly chilly position outside the entrance to the auditorium as the afternoon sun faded away, to claim the son of Listed scorer Aktoria (Canford Cliffs) as a pinhooking prospect for next year.

"He was a hell of a racehorse. One of the best racehorses for many, many years," said Hyde of Saxon Warrior, an intriguing 2,000 Guineas (Gr 1, 1m)-winning mix of Deep Impact (Sunday Silence) and Galileo (Sadler's Wells) blood who will stand for €20,000 (approx. AUD$32,500) at Coolmore next year.

Having also won the Racing Post Trophy (Gr 1, 1m) at two, Saxon Warrior is standing at Coolmore Australia for a fee of $17,600 in 2020. His first southern hemisphere foals will be born this spring having covered 97 mares at a fee of $24,750 in 2019.

Foals are on offer here in various stages of physical development and this individual seemed well on track to become a perfectly-formed racehorse, with a mature temperament to boot.

"I think there'd been a very good vibe about the horse, as indeed I think it has been of all the Saxon Warriors," said Highclere's Lady Carolyn Warren. "I think he's getting great stock and this horse is testament to that, but there are others as well."

Highclere has only resumed selling foals recently and Warren credited Leonidas and Marina Marinopoulos, who bred the colt in France. Aktoria carried their starred silks made famous by the likes of globe-trotting Presvis (Sakhee).

"He came over to us from Marmion, the Marinopoulos's stud farm - he was born lovely and has been very straightforward to prep. A really gorgeous horse. They are tremendous breeders who have been in the game for a very long time," Warren added.

Zoustar spearheads Tweenhills newcomers

Two more new stallion names to this ring were representing Tweenhills, through the late Roaring Lion (Kitten's Joy) and dual Group 1 winner Zoustar, who has made a striking impression with his first southern hemisphere runners. The reigning Australian champion first and second season sire has produced 16 stakes winners, including three-time Group 1 heroine Sunlight.

These are the first crop of northern hemisphere-bred foals to be offered at auction by Zoustar, who was introduced to northern hemisphere breeders at £25,000 (approx. AUD$45,200) when standing at Tweenhills in 2019. He will once again be offered at that fee in 2021 having stood for £30,000 (approx. AUD$54,200) this year.

The colt from the Tweenhills draft out of Pivotal (Polar Falcon) mare Bewitchment had kept the stud's David Redvers particularly busy before being bought over the phone for 100,000gns by David Howden.

"I don't think we've ever had a foal vetted so many times," Redvers said. Howden, an insurance tycoon who has taken over the Cornbury Park estate in Oxfordshire, also added the highest-priced of the three Roaring Lions offered for 82,000gns (approx. AUD$155,500).

"He saw all the foals on the farm and particularly loved those two," said Redvers. "I didn't know at what level he was interested but he got into racing two years ago and these ones will run in his colours."

Sea The Stars steals the headlines

Sea The Stars has already provided a professional highlight for Gerard Lowry of Oneliner Stables, who caught a few by surprise when slipping in to buy another colt by the stallion great for 170,000gns late in the day.

The Newsells Park-consigned Lot 718, out of Dubawi (Dubai Millennium) mare La Mortola from the family of Jakkalberry (Storming Home) and Crackerjack King (Shamardal), was announced as being knocked down to an online bidder, as it indeed was, but Lowry was nonetheless in situ in Park Paddocks.

At Book 1 last year, the Oneliner family

Lot 718, a Sea The Stars colt, topped the day at 170,000gns operation had what Gerard Lowry described as a "life-changing" pinhook with a Sea The Stars colt bought for 330,000gns as a foal and exchanged for 725,000gns as a yearling.

"The technology is there to be used, it was nice to try it out," said Lowry.

"The horse was our pick of the day. Obviously when you've been lucky with a sire in the past, it's hard not to go back to them and hopefully we can bring this one back next year now."

Although consigned by Newsells Park, the January 30-born colt was the property of Graham Smith-Bernal, an entrepreneur in ground-breaking legal technology.

Newsells Park's Julian Dollar said: "Graham Smith-Bernal bought the mare from Kiltinan three years ago with Jill Lamb [for 350,000gns] and the Frankel yearling sold well to Godolphin last year.

"He's quite new to the game and is someone good to have around. He boards a few mares with us and I hope he has some luck."

Oneliner later swooped for a 140,000gns (approx. AUD$265,700) Camelot (Montjeu) colt from Belmont Stud, third top lot and one of 11 to crack six figures in what was a flurry of evening activity.

Big day for new name Havana

There had been a good word about for one of the first progeny of Havana Grey (Havana Gold), whose home at Whitsbury Manor sold a half-brother to Cornwallis Stakes (Gr 3, 5f) winner Good Vibes (Due Diligence) to Paca Paca's Harry Sweeney for 130,000gns (approx. AUD$247,500).

"I can't believe someone from Japan wants to buy from a stallion I'm standing for £6,000," said an emotional Ed Harper of Whitsbury Manor.

"There is a slight tinge of sadness that I'm not going to see him race here as I've just stared at him ever since he was born but I can't complain."

Eyes on the Tiger

Jessica Marcialis created one of the stories of the season when galloping to Marcel Boussac (Gr 1, 1600m) glory aboard Tiger Tanaka (Clodovil), the first foal of Zoffany (Dansili) mare Miss Phillyjinks, who was let go for just €6,500.

One Group 1 update later and the bonuses are starting to be reciprocated for Kellsgrange Stud, who collected 72,000gns (approx. AUD$136,500) from their next progeny, a colt by Dragon Pulse (Kyllachy), who will make his way across the Channel after being knocked down to Ed Sackville of SackvilleDonald.

He said: "He's been bought by an end user and is more likely to go to France because the family has done well there. It has been a great story with Tiger Tanaka, she's a Group 1 winner and you don't get better than that."

"A great result for a mare that was bought for €3,500," said Kellsgrange manager Dermot Dwan. "The mare's in foal to the right stallion in Mehmas."
