Aquis to stand Needs Further in Victoria

Whishaws make call to send Tasmania's leading stallion to the mainland

BY TIM ROWE | @ANZ_NEWS

Tasmania's leading stallion Needs Further (Encosta De Lago), the sire of Group 1-winning mare Mystic Journey and five other stakes horses from limited numbers, will relocate to Victoria this year in a joint arrangement between Aquis Farm and Armidale Stud.

The deal, initially on a year-to-year basis, was signed late yesterday after a number of overtures from mainland studs were made for the Armidale Stud sire, who started his career at a modest fee of just $3,300 (inc GST) in 2013.

Needs Further's deeds as a stallion have been headlined by the Adam Trinder-trained Mystic Journey, but he is also the sire of the Group 3-successful Deroche and Listed winners Mystical Pursuit, Pateena Arena and Adelaide sprinter Bold Star who raced without luck in The Goodwood (Gr 1, 1200m) at Morphettville on Saturday.

Another hit for New Zealand as exports to Australia suspended again

Just over two weeks after trans-Tasman equine flights resumed following a Covid-enforced shutdown, exports from New Zealand to Australia have been suspended indefinitely yet again, this time due to a possible case of equine piroplasmiasis. New Zealand's Ministry of Primary Industries (MPI) yesterday informed exporters that shipments to Australia had been suspended with immediate effect. A flight on Tuesday night was prevented from leaving the country, while another shipment, scheduled for tomorrow night, is also expected to be held over as the department negotiates alternative arrangements with their Australian counterparts, the Department of Agriculture.

He will stand for an unchanged service fee of $13,750 (inc GST) and joins Aquis Farm's foundation Victorian stallion, the second season sire Lean Mean Machine (Zoustar), at the Seymour property this year.

Aquis Farm chief executive Tony Williams has a long-standing relationship with Armidale Stud's Whishaw family and that played a pivotal role in getting the deal for Needs Further's move interstate across the line.

"To be fair, from a Victorian perspective, he was a horse who would "They've become friends and that relationship has certainly helped with Aquis securing the stallion and this business is all about relationships.

Armidale Stud manager David Whishaw said Needs Further deserved his opportunity on the mainland.

"We have had increasing interest from several mainland stud farms to stand Needs Further over the last two seasons," Whishaw said.

"He's arguably had the best start to a stud career that any Tasmanian-based stallion has had in the modern era and he really has earned the right to access the bigger and better quality books of mares which Aquis and the Victorian market will no doubt offer."

Williams said: "He's done something that I think a good stallion does and that is, he's versatile and he upgrades his mares."

"He is by Encosta from a Golden Slipper placegetter Crowned Glory and she is by Danehill who is probably the greatest stallion we've had stand in Australasia, so he's got all that wonderful blood there and he's a horse who can throw a bit of toughness into his stock."

Williams, who joined Aquis Farm at the start of this year after a stint with Goffs in the UK, acknowledged the bittersweet nature of Armidale Stud committing to sending its premier stallion to Victoria.

"Make no mistake, the Whishaws and Armidale Stud in Tasmania are the leaders (in breeding) in the state," he said.

"Needs Further is the leading stallion in that state and, yes, it would have been a gut-wrenching decision for David, Robyn and the family to have to make to let him come to Victoria."

"But in this season, with the uncertainty of the Covid virus, the best decision is to allow the horse to have the opportunity in Victoria."

Needs Further is the leading stallion in that state and, yes, it would have been a gut-wrenching decision for David, Robyn and the family to have to make to let him come to Victoria

- Tony Williams

Last month, Woodside Park Stud and the shareholders of Written Tycoon (Iglesia) entered into a deal with Arrowfield Stud that saw the stallion relocate from Victoria to the Hunter Valley for at least this year.

The alliance was formed in a bid to also assist Woodside Park Stud in attracting new stallions to Victoria with the significant resources of Arrowfield, and Williams believes the Aquis-

Armidale partnership could also be of a similar benefit to Tasmanian breeders in the future.

"I would like to think that this is a stepping-stone into a long-term relationship for us to work together. It really is," he said.

"I have got a long-term relationship with the family and we will be doing our absolute best with Needs Further for them. I will call it a project and it is a team effort and they have some good partners in Needs Further, so they will all be working just as hard (to ensure he continues his success)."

A half-brother to Golden Rose Stakes (Gr 1, 1400m) winner Hallowed Crown (Street Sense), the sire of this season's Australian Oaks (Gr 1, 2400m) winner Colette, and from the immediate family of Zabeel (Sir Tristram) and his half-brother Baryshnikov (Kenmare), the ATC Carbine Club Stakes (Gr 3, 1600m)-winning Needs Further went to stud in 2013, covering 70 mares.

His fee remained unchanged at the modest $3,300 until 2017 before it was increased to $5,500 and, two years later, it more than doubled to $13,750 on the back of his progeny's performances in Tasmania and on the mainland.

As well as experiencing a fee hike, Needs Further last year also covered his largest book of mares to date at 103, up from 49 and 48 respectively in his previous two seasons.

Alpine Eagle (High Chaparral), whose first crop two-year-olds will race in 2020-21, remains as Armidale Stud's resident stallion and Williams is confident that local breeders will support the Group 2 winner in Needs Further's absence.

"Alpine Eagle's stock have sold well and I think (Tasmanian breeders) will utilise him to the fullest in Tasmania and it allows Needs Further a wider opportunity in Victoria," he said.

"Whilst it's bittersweet for Armidale, it probably gives Alpine Eagle a greater opportunity not to be competing against Needs Further in Tasmania."

Another hit for New Zealand as exports to Australia suspended again

By Andrew Hawkins

Just over two weeks after trans-Tasman equine flights resumed following a Covid-enforced shutdown, exports from New Zealand to Australia have been suspended indefinitely yet again, this time due to a possible case of equine piroplasmosis.

New Zealand's Ministry of Primary Industries (MPI) yesterday informed exporters that shipments to Australia had been suspended with immediate effect. A flight on Tuesday night was prevented from leaving the country, while another shipment, scheduled for tomorrow night, is also expected to be held over as the department negotiates alternative arrangements with their Australian counterparts, the Department of Agriculture.

Tomorrow's flight, though, was still scheduled to depart as of last night; a number of owners with horses set for that shipment had not been informed about any potential delay.

Equine piroplasmosis has never been identified in New Zealand before, but MPI director for animal health and welfare Chris Rodwell confirmed that a mare tested positive to equine piroplasmosis in a pre-export blood test. The mare had arrived in New Zealand early last year from a European Union country that is known to harbour the tick-borne disease.

Further testing is expected to confirm that the horse is infected with the parasite Theileria equi, one of two known parasites to transmit equine piroplasmosis.

Rodwell last night told ANZ Bloodstock News: "Further blood tests

MPI is aware this situation may cause some concern to those in the equine sector and work is underway to resolve things as quickly as possible to ensure ongoing horse exports are not interrupted

have been taken from the mare and we expect confirmation of whether the horse is negative or positive for the disease by the end of this week.

"Theileria equi is a blood disease that causes anaemia and is spread from animal to animal by ticks. The horse in question was imported to New Zealand from the EU early last year for breeding. No signs of disease in the animal have been reported in its time here."

While the disease cannot be passed from horse to horse without the ticks known to transmit the parasite - with those tick species not found in New Zealand - most veterinary agreements with other countries require that equine piroplasmosis has not been present in the exporting country for a certain period of time.

For Australia, the requirement is three years - meaning that, under the current certification process, trans-Tasman exports would be banned until 2023.

While other arrangements are likely to be determined as a matter of urgency, it is a blow to the beleaguered New Zealand industry at a time when it is already under tremendous pressure. Even a temporary ban has the potential to upset potential spring preparations and breeding plans for New Zealand-based mares in Australia.

MPI last night was moving to reassure horse owners that they were working as fast as possible with an aim to find a quick solution.

"MPI is aware this situation may cause some concern to those in the equine sector and work is underway to resolve things as quickly as possible to ensure ongoing horse exports are not interrupted," Rodwell said.

"Some countries, including Australia, that import horses from New Zealand require certification that New Zealand is free of Theileria equi. This current suspect test result has meant that MPI cannot currently provide that assurance of country-freedom status. The Ministry's market access specialists are working with Australian authorities to explore alternative assurance options to allow exports to continue."

Biosecurity New Zealand has already started an investigation to confirm that it is an isolated case of equine piroplasmosis, but questions remain as to how a case could not only have occurred in New Zealand but how it could have gone undetected for so long.

"The horse met MPI's importing requirements in that it had received a negative test for Theileria equi within 30 days of shipment," Rodwell said. "Before shipment, horses are quarantined and treated to remove any ticks that may be present. They are also further inspected and quarantined on arrival."

According to the World Organisation for Animal Health (OIE), either of the two parasites that carry equine piroplasmosis - Babesia caballi and Theileria equi - can be found on most continents, including in much of the European Union.

The Theileria equi parasite has also been reported in Australia in the past; the most recent was an outbreak in the Southern Highlands region of NSW in 1976, but it did not take hold and Australia is now considered to be free of equine piroplasmosis.

One to Watch - Vancouver

Tara Madgwick - Wednesday May 20

Leading Western Australian owner breeder Bob Peters is a big fan of Golden Slipper winning sire Vancouver, who gave him an exciting debut two year-old winner on Wednesday. Trained by Grant and Alana Williams, Dunbar was a hot favourite for the 1200 metre juvenile maiden at Pinjarra and after stalking the leader did his best work late to score a determined neck victory with a good margin back to the third horse.

"He has always shown plenty of ability at home and has only ever had one gallop (where he won his trial by five lengths)" said Bob Peters. "He will improve out of sight with the run and hopefully there are bigger races in store for him in the future."

Vancouver stands at a fee of $30,250 at Coolmore this spring, which might be outstanding value given the quality he has in his first large crop of rising three year-olds.

The official zoosanitary certificate, which must be certified prior to export to Australia, states that New Zealand must have been free of 16 diseases for a three-year period prior to export; equine piroplasmiasis is on that list, along with the likes of African horse sickness, equine influenza and glanders.

MPI's Dr Emma Passmore stated in an email to exporters: "The export certificate for horses traveling to Australia, either for transit or permanent import, requires MPI to certify that no clinical, epidemiological or other evidence of equine piroplasmiasis has occurred in New Zealand within the three-year period immediately prior to export. This can no longer be certified and exports to, or via, Australia are suspended with immediate effect."

While Australia is the biggest market to be affected and also has notoriously strict quarantine laws, exports to other countries will also be potentially compromised. Macau requires the exporting country to have been free of equine piroplasmiasis for two years, while Singapore asks for extra tests and treatments to be completed if the country has not been free from equine piroplasmiasis for 12 months.

"I am sure that both government departments in New Zealand and Australia will work very hard to find a quick solution to resume services once confirmatory testing is completed"
- Cameron Croucher

The United States also requires that the country has been free of equine piroplasmiasis for 12 months, while Japan has no timeframe but also requires a piroplasmiasis-free environment.

However, Hong Kong's requirements are less stringent, simply requiring a horse not to have completed its pre-export quarantine on a premises where equine piroplasmiasis has occurred in the 60 days prior to export.

Exporters last night were digesting the ban and the potential implications that may follow if it is prolonged beyond the next couple of weeks. However, most suggested that the immediate suspension of exports to Australia was an unfortunate but required step.

"This is very disappointing news but the suspension is totally necessary at this time," said Equine International Airfreight managing director Cameron Croucher. "Just as flights were starting to operate across the Tasman after the Covid-19 shutdowns, outcomes of this nature will be very disappointing to owners and trainers who now face a further delay in relocating their bloodstock."

"I am sure that both government departments in New Zealand and Australia will work very hard to find a quick solution to resume services once confirmatory testing is completed. Also, a proper investigation is needed into how this has been allowed to occur, which could have a massive impact on the New Zealand thoroughbred industry if the suspension is prolonged, especially leading into the southern hemisphere breeding season."

In the last week, a number of New Zealand horses have been confirmed as relocating to Australia, while Cambridge Stud last week announced that a number of their fillies would join the Te Akau assault on the Melbourne spring. In addition, almost 200 mares crossed the Tasman from New Zealand for breeding purposes in 2019, with a similar number expected this year.

Four for Vancouver

Vancouver

Golden Slipper Stakes (Gr 1, 1200m) winner Vancouver (Medaglia d'Oro) sired his fourth individual winner when Dunbar (2 g by Koonya ex Nadeem) took out a 1200-metre maiden on debut at Pinjarra yesterday. Sent off as $1.28 favourite in the Bob Peters colours for trainers Grant and Alana Williams, Dunbar fought hard for the win, scoring by a neck from long-time leader Nobellity (Alfred Nobel) with two lengths back to The Spruiker (I'm All The Talk) in third. Bred by Bernie and Jan Mortimer's Townsings Lane Farm, Dunbar was initially offered at the Inglis Melbourne Premier Yearling Sale, fetching $70,000 to the bid of John Ramsey. He was then offered by Ramsey late last year at the Inglis Ready 2 Race Sale, selling for $180,000 to Hunter Valley Bloodstock on behalf of Peters. Vancouver will stand at Coolmore Stud this season for $30,250 (inc GST).

Peters confident in Dunbar's progression

After Dunbar's impressive debut victory yesterday, Bob Peters is pleased with the progression of the two-year-old gelding and believes there is much more in store for him. "He has always shown plenty of ability at home and has only ever had one gallop (where he won his trial by five lengths), so he was a bit soft today," Peters said. "We would've preferred to run him over 1000 metres, but the only option was to go straight to 1200 metres. He will improve out of sight with the run and hopefully there are bigger races in store for him in the future."

Five for Headwater

Vinery Stud resident Headwater (Exceed And Excel) landed his fifth winner yesterday as Be Water My Friend (2 g ex Whisper Of Hearts by Duporth) took out the QTIS 2YO Handicap (1000m) on debut at the Sunshine Coast. The Tony Sears-trained gelding defeated Better Lad (Better Than Ready) by a comfortable margin of a length and three-quarters with Winter Rain (Rubick) a further two and a quarter lengths away in third. Passed in for $60,000 at the Inglis Classic Yearling Sale, Be Water My Friend is the first foal out of the unraced mare Whisper Of Hearts (Duporth), who in turn is a half-sister to Phar Lap Stakes (Gr 2, 1500m) winner Traitor (Mossman). Headwater, who sired his first stakes winner in Wisdom Of Water on the weekend, stands at Vinery for a fee of $13,750 (inc. GST) in 2020.

Stockwell announces unchanged fees

Artie Schiller (El Prado) and Al Maher (Danehill) will remain at their 2019 fees of $11,000 (inc GST) and $8,800 (inc GST) respectively in 2020, Stockwell Thoroughbreds announced yesterday. "We are very fortunate to be standing two highly successful and proven stallions in a market that does not often offer such consistency of results year in and out," said Stockwell's Brodie Becker. "Artie Schiller and Al Maher have established results, both in the yearling market and on the racetrack, through a genuine and hard-earned legacy. Neither was afforded the massive books of high grade commercial mares to launch their careers others have been gifted, but both have proven to be genuine upgraders and with records of which to be extremely proud."

Grenville team set for 2020

Tasmania's Grenville Stud has announced their stallions fees for 2020. Zululand (Fastnet Rock) will stand for $5,500 (all fees inc GST), Stratosphere (Snitzel) will cover at $4,400 and Mawingo (Tertullian) is available at $3,300. Stratosphere stood his first year at the Tasmanian farm in 2019, receiving good support from breeders as he covered 69 mares. In two years at stud, the well-bred Zululand has covered 52 mares and has 28 foals on the ground.

Timely win for Tommy Gold ahead of Rosemont sale

An impressive win by Tommy Gold (Sacred Falls) in a 1100-metre maiden at Randwick-Kensington yesterday proved timely for Rosemont Stud, who will offer his half-sister Gold Rush (So You Think) in foal to Savabeel (Zabeel) in their Magic Millions Online Sale next week. Catalogued as Lot 40, Gold Rush won the Matamata Breeders' Stakes (Gr 2, 1200m) in 2016 while her half-sister Gold Fever (Savabeel) also won the Matamata Breeders' Stakes and was placed in the Diamond Stakes (Gr 1, 1200m).

Victory Stakes takes on more importance

With the reshaping of the Brisbane winter carnival, this year's edition of the Victory Stakes (Gr 2, 1200m) will take on more importance as it becomes the main lead up race to the Stradbroke Handicap (Gr 1, 1400m), and offers ballot-free entry to the Queensland feature. Traditionally run as one of three weight-for-age races in Queensland, this year the Victory Stakes has been switched to a set weights and penalties race. The two market favourites for the Stradbroke are set to go head-to-head in Saturday's Victory Stakes, with Kementari a $5 chance for the Group 2 feature and Tony Gollan's Vega One at $5.50.

Tambo's Mate set for step up at Eagle Farm

BRC Sprint (Gr 3, 1200m) winner Tambo's Mate (Mossman) can confirm his rating as one of the most improved horses in Australia when he tackles the Victory Stakes at Eagle Farm on Saturday. Twelve months ago, the Stuart Kendrick-trained gelding was a Class 1 horse with one win to his name. However, he has since won two stakes races, more than $420,000 in prize-money and a spot in the Stradbroke Handicap. Tambo's Mate was given 51 kilograms for the Stradbroke when weights were released on Monday but he will carry 57 kilograms in the Victory Stakes. "We will meet just about every runner in Saturday's race better at the weights in the Stradbroke," Kendrick said. "If he runs well on Saturday it will give us real confidence for the Stradbroke. My bloke is unbeaten at 1200 metres at Eagle Farm and hopefully the track will play truly for its return on Saturday."

Atkins start on the line at Randwick

The Darley Handicap (1300m) at Randwick on Saturday has brought together a field of 12 juveniles, with all holding nominations for the J J Atkins Stakes (Gr 1, 1400m) at Eagle Farm on June 6. Chris Waller has four of those 12 entries - Kukeracha (Night Of Thunder), Overlord (Sebring), Yangtze Rapids (Frankel) and Achiever (Pride Of Dubai) - although Kukeracha is also among eight runners in the Champagne Stakes (Gr 2, 1200m) at Eagle

Farm on Saturday. "They're all promising two-year-olds," Waller said. "They won't all go to Queensland but one or two of them might go up there as things are a little different this year. But we'll get through Saturday first and then we can make a call after they race."

Malibu Style aiming to join millionaires' row

Neville Parnham's consistent sprinter Malibu Style (Magnus) could take his earnings to over $1 million on Saturday with a top-four finish in the Straight Six (Listed, 1200m) at Flemington. "He's been very good to us and hopefully he'll crack that million dollars on the weekend as he deserves to," Parnham told Racing.com. "These sort of genuine, honest horses are hard to come by and he's done it over a number of seasons now. He's eight years of age but he's doing everything he needs to do to go on. His form has been OK this time in, but I think he's about there. He's taken a few runs to come right and his last two runs have been much better and I think he's not far off a win." Purchased for $40,000 at the 2013 Inglis Premier Yearling Sale, the now eight-year-old has had 65 starts for 11 wins and 21 placings.

Romancer ready to return for Begg

The Grahame Begg-trained Romancer (Redwood) will kick off a winter campaign in the Straight Six at Flemington on Saturday, targeting the gelding's preferred wetter tracks over the coming months. Connections of Romancer enjoyed a good winter campaign last year, finishing second in the Winter Championship Final (Listed, 1600m) at Flemington, before racing competitively during the early part of the spring. "He had a long sustained preparation last time so we gave him a good break to get over it," Begg said. "There's not much point having him in when the tracks are too hard and this is his time of year. He's raring to go."

Mr Bellagio heads Edmonds' Gold Coast tilt

Mr Bellagio (O'Lonhro) steps up into open company as he heads another assault by the Toby and Trent Edmonds training partnership on a Gold Coast metropolitan meeting. Racing Queensland introduced metropolitan standard meetings at the Gold Coast on Fridays as part of the decision to split the state into regional racing in April. The regional restrictions have since been eased and tomorrow's meeting is the second last before usual Saturday provincial standard racing resumes at the track next month. Mr Bellagio goes for the McWilliams Quality (1400m). "Mr Bellagio has won his past two starts in nice fashion and up to open company he drops 4.5 kilograms on his last start Doomben win," Trent Edmonds said.

Hellyer hopes winning runs in family

Jockey Micheal Hellyer is hoping Amiche's (Nicconi) impressive win at the Sunshine Coast yesterday is an omen for far bigger things next month. Having her first run for seven months, Amiche won by 11 lengths in a maiden over 1000 metres yesterday. Amiche is a half-sister to top mare Baccarat Baby (Casino Prince), who is headed for the Stradbroke Handicap (Gr 1, 1400m) on June 6. Both are trained by David Vandyke and owned by the Harris Family Racing syndicate. Stable foreman Patricia Gesler said Vandyke has a high opinion of Amiche. Hellyer is booked to ride Baccarat Baby who has 51 kilograms in the Stradbroke. "I have been on a diet and doing plenty of workouts to get down to the weight," he said. "Baccarat Baby is 33rd on the list of qualifiers so I am hoping she will make the Stradbroke field."

Earth Song records strong Randwick win

The Chris Waller-trained Earth Song (Nicconi) won the Vale Caryl Williamson Handicap (1400m) by a head at Randwick yesterday, a race named in honour of the Australian Associated Press turf editor who died last week. Williamson, originally from New Zealand, was the first female racing editor at a major Australian media organisation, spending 24 years at the helm. As a mark of respect for Williamson, the ten jockeys in the race wore black armbands. "It was great to be able to win this race," Waller told Sky Racing Central. "Caryl was so close to all of us and was there writing stories every day basically on Sydney racing. She is going to be sorely lost and it was a great shock to all of us. Thanks to Caryl for what you've done and our thoughts go out to friends and family."

Sunlight's racing future remains in limbo

Tony McEvoy has left the decision on the future of multiple Group 1 winner Sunlight (Zoustar) in the hands of her owners, with the mare currently spelling. McEvoy, who trains Sunlight in partnership with son Calvin, said there was no problem with her after she finished 11th in The Goodwood (Gr 1, 1200m) last Saturday, a second straight below-par performance. "She pulled up lovely and sound and there is nothing wrong with her," McEvoy said. "She ate up after the race, we've cleaned up her feet, they were lovely and good, so she's in the paddock now having a rest. The ownership group are deciding what they want to do going forward and I haven't spoken to them about any of the options. Sunlight has raced on 24 occasions, registering 11 wins, three at Group 1 level, amassing almost $6.6 million in prize-money.

Queen, Power to aim at Cox Plate

Owner Bob Peters yesterday confirmed that his star pair Arcadia Queen (Pierro) and Regal Power (Pierro) would be targeted at the Cox Plate (Gr 1, 2040m) in the spring. Peters told RSN927 that the Cox Plate would be the plan for both Arcadia Queen, winner of the 2018 Kingston Town Classic (Gr 1, 1800m), and Regal Power, who won both the Railway Stakes (Gr 1, 1600m) and the All-Star Mile (1600m) this season. "The Cox Plate at Moonee Valley will be their main aim, yes," he said. Their sire Pierro (Lonhro) ran third to Ocean Park (Thorn Park) in the 2012 Cox Plate.

Hawkes argues for Caulfield Cup, Cox Plate switch

As Melbourne racing decides on the make-up of this year's spring carnival, Wayne Hawkes is calling for the industry to switch dates for the Caulfield Cup (Gr 1, 2400m) and Cox Plate (Gr 1, 2040m). "This is the year they need to do it," Hawkes told Racing.com. "At least just try. Everyone loves tradition but you can't eat tradition. With the coronavirus, this is the year to flip it. This might work unbelievably well. The only downside is we still run a Cox Plate, a Caulfield Cup and a Melbourne Cup this year and we go back to the old formula in 2021." Some critics have pointed out that the traditional schedule of the Caulfield Cup to the Cox Plate, then onto the Melbourne Cup (Gr 1, 3200m) is counterintuitive and does allow for natural progression into the spring's main event.

Corban joins Yulong

Marcus Corban will join the Yulong team in a Special Projects role from next month to help with the operation's continued growth and development. Corban, the former general manager of Cambridge Stud for more than 30 years, worked alongside Sir Patrick Hogan as a key member of the farm's operation. In his role, he assisted the New Zealand farm to become one of the country's most successful thoroughbred studs.

Allen looking to bounce back after luckless run

Ben Allen is determined to make the most of the second half of the year after a series of injuries and suspensions. Allen suffered a fractured wrist when he fell from Mystical Melody (Starspangledbanner) in a maiden race at Pakenham last Thursday. "I'm not really having any luck at all of late over the past year," he said on Racing.com's After The Last on Tuesday night. "I've had a lot of stop-starting. Even other little injuries have come in along the way. I've never been able to get my momentum up pretty much six months after my apprenticeship finished. I've kind of just been stop-starting and I've just never really been able to continue riding in good form without something popping up like a big suspension or an injury. As far as 2020 can go, it can get into the sea. I've had no luck this year but I'm hoping once I get back, I can enjoy some smooth sailing."

Unlaced joins Hickmott

Promising Kiwi filly Unlaced (Niagara) has joined the South Australian stable of Michael Hickmott, her former trainers confirmed yesterday. Guy Lowry, who trains in partnership with Grant Cullen at Hastings, said that he would be surprised if the Lowland Stakes (Gr 2, 2100m) fourth is the last horse to leave their stable bound for Australia. "I think she will suit racing over there. She did a hell of a good job for us, she got all the way to the Oaks in one prep, that's pretty cool," Lowry said. "We have got a lot of nice younger horses. Anything that is good will probably go to Australia to be fair. That's where the prize-money is, as to which time things resurrect themselves over here. If we can sell them, we will."

NEW ZEALAND

Guy focused on educating yearlings

Matamata trainer Danica Guy's immediate focus is on educating some of the younger members of her team, but it will soon turn to spring racing where Guy hopes Group 3 winner Germanicus (Rip Van Winkle) can improve even further. Guy said the mood at the Matamata track is generally positive post-lockdown. "Everyone is just getting on with it and obviously we have got things to catch up on," she said. "I've probably got more in work now than I have ever had at this time of the year, but it is just finishing off the education of the ones that we didn't quite get through the system when the lockdown happened. We had quite a few that I was trying to get through to the trials and get up to scratch with their education and they kind of got put on hold, so I'm working them through the system now before I need to bring too many of the racehorses back in."

Germanicus potentially aims for Australia

Danica Guy believes the patiently handled Germanicus can step up again this season after an extended break, and she is eagerly awaiting the details around the finalised racing calendar before plotting a path with the rising five-year-old. "He has just come back into the stables this week," Guy said. "He is going back on the walker at the moment. I am just going to give him a nice long build-up. He has had quite a long time in the paddock which has probably been really good for him. He can come up slowly now for the spring as we're still waiting to see what we're going to be racing for and what racing is going to look like, so that is a little bit frustrating. If he is going to go to Australia, we need to be looking at it sooner rather than later."

Classic never goes out of style.

Hale hopes Hong Kong demand for New Zealand stock continues

Bloodstock agent Stuart Hale, one of the leading New Zealand agents purchasing for the Hong Kong market, expects demand for racing stock to improve over the coming months, but admitted to being worried about New Zealand's ability to supply that demand. "I think demand is going to be very good, especially with the climate of New Zealand racing at present," he said. "My problem is going to be a lack of New Zealand product, with less racing. Not all permits are for unraced horses. I am worried about that, so that's why I am going to be searching Australia and Europe as well." He added: "New Zealand horses have always been very popular, mainly because we have had a lot of Hong Kong Horse of the Years, along with the durability of the New Zealand horse as opposed to the European horse."

Entries open for inaugural weanling-only sale

The first dedicated weanling-only sale is now open for entries with New Zealand Bloodstock's National Weanling Sale to be held on the Gavelhouse Plus digital platform from June 11 to 21. The 2020 edition will be the first of its kind, with quality weanlings offered online due to the recent Covid-19 lockdown and restrictions. While the sale may be new, weanling graduates are no strangers to success having recorded an impressive score of nine Group 1 wins and 81 stakes wins over the last six seasons, headlined by recent New Zealand Oaks (Gr 1, 2400m) winner Jennifer Eccles (Rip Van Winkle), a NZ$5,000 weanling purchase in 2017. Weanlings will be eligible to enter the Karaka Million Series featuring two NZ$1 million races available for graduates as two and three-year-olds, plus the $100,000 CollinsonForex Karaka Cup (2200m) for the duration of their career. To nominate your weanlings, head to NZB's online portal at portal.nzb.co.nz.

Five lots withdrawn from Hong Kong International Sale

Five lots have been withdrawn from Saturday's Hong Kong International Sale; Lot 1 (Silvano ex Happy Ever After by National Assembly), Lot 2 (Acclamation ex Affirmative by Pivotal), Lot 5 (Captain Al ex Valor Red by Western Winter), Lot 10 (Dynasty ex Happy Archer by Dubawi) and Lot 16 (Footstepsinthesand ex Beautiful Dancer by Danehill Dancer). This means that all three of the South African yearlings that were entered for the sale have been withdrawn. Lot 1, Lot 5 and Lot 16 are planned to be offered at the Hong Kong International Sale in July, while Lot 2 and Lot 10 will be sold by tender at a later date.

Lane's Japan contract extended

Damian Lane confirmed on Twitter yesterday that he has been granted a short term license to continue riding in Japan until July 21. "Made official today, I will continue to ride in Japan on a short term license through until July 21. Look forward to my remaining time here with some very good rides in key races coming up," he posted on Twitter. Lane rides blueblood Des Ailes (Deep Impact) in Sunday's Yushun Himba (Gr 1, 2400m), the Japanese Oaks, while other rides in the coming weeks include Salios (Heart's Cry) in the Tokyo Yushun (Gr 1, 2400m), the Japanese Derby, and Danon Premium (Deep Impact) in the Yasuda Kinen (Gr 1, 1600m). It is also believed that he is in the running to take the mount on three-time Group 1 winner Lucky Lilac (Orfevre) in the Takarazuka Kinen (Gr 1, 2200m), a race he won last year aboard Lys Gracieux (Heart's Cry).

INTERNATIONAL

Appleby confirms Cup on Cross Counter's radar

Cross Counter (Teofilo) is in the mix to attempt a feat only achieved by the great Peter Pan (Pantheon) in 1932 and 1934 by attempting to win the Melbourne Cup (Gr 1, 3200m) twice but in non-consecutive years. The 2018 Melbourne Cup winner was last seen when finishing fifth to Call The Wind (Frankel) in the Saudi Turf Handicap (2800m) at Riyadh in February. Trainer Charlie Appleby said: "He's arrived back in Britain in good order. If it is logistically possible, the Cup will be his end-of-year target once again." It remains to be seen whether internationals will be able to contest the Melbourne Cup this year due to coronavirus protocols.

Pinatubo firing ahead of 2,000 Guineas return

Appleby, who yesterday spoke to ANZ Bloodstock News about his retired star Blue Point (Shamardal), has another potential superstar by Shamardal in the form of Pinatubo, with the three-year-old to run in the rescheduled 2,000 Guineas (Gr 1, 1m) on June 6. He said: At this time of the year, the question everybody is asking is 'has he trained on?' We're not going to have conclusive proof until the Guineas, but my gut feeling is that he has. No buttons will be pressed until the big day but from what we're seeing at home, he's gone the right way. I think the mile is going to be his trip. I believe that because of his mental attitude. He's a relaxed character, and if he was later asked to step up in trip, I think he has the right mindset for it."

Belmont Stakes rescheduled, dropped in distance

Although there will be a Triple Crown in 2020, the Belmont Stakes (Gr 1, 9f) will shift from the last leg to the first leg of the shuffled series. The New York Racing Association has announced the US$1 million (AUD$1.52 million) Belmont Stakes will take place on June 20 behind closed doors. Prize-money has been reduced from last year's purse of US$1.5 million (AUD$2.28 million) and the race will also be run at a shorter distance of nine furlongs, around one turn, instead of the usual 12 furlongs. Originally scheduled for June 6, the Belmont Stakes will kick off the spring classic that will now span 15 weeks from spring through the autumn. Due to the Covid-19 pandemic, the Kentucky Derby (Gr 1, 10f) at Churchill Downs was shifted from May 2 to September 5 and the Preakness Stakes (Gr 1, 9f) at Pimlico pushed back from May 16 to October 3.

Fasig-Tipton and Ocala swap dates for yearling sales

Fasig-Tipton and Ocala Breeders' Sales Company have come to an agreement to switch dates for the companies' respective Midlantic Fall Yearlings and October Yearlings Sales. Fasig-Tipton's Midlantic Fall Yearlings Sale will now be held on Monday and Tuesday, October 5-6, in Timonium, Maryland to coincide with the rescheduled Preakness Stakes in nearby Baltimore which will now be held on October 3. The sale had previously been scheduled for October 12-13. OBS will now conduct its Selected Yearlings Sale on October 13, and its Open Yearlings Sale on October 14-15 at its Ocala, Florida facility. OBS's two yearlings sales were originally slated for October 6-8.

Paris racecourses shut down once more

French racing has been dealt a cruel blow with the government withdrawing its approval to race in parts of the country still heavily affected by the coronavirus, including Paris and the east of the country. The new measures will allow racing to continue in Normandy - most notably Deauville - as well as France's south and west, but Longchamp, Saint-Cloud and Auteuil will be closed until a further review is undertaken. France Galop president Edouard de Rothschild reacted defiantly, tweeting that the decision was "inexplicable and irrational". The next stage of the government's lockdown review is not due until June 2, the day after Longchamp would have staged France's 2,000 Guineas and 1,000 Guineas, the Poulains (Gr 1, 1600m) and the Pouliches (Gr 1, 1600m). The two French Classics could be rerouted to Deauville, which hosted them for two years during Longchamp's redevelopment.

Irish calendar 'remarkably unchanged' in Covid-19 aftermath

Horse Racing Ireland boss Brian Kavanagh has described 2020 as "anything other than a normal year" in revealing a remarkably unchanged Group-race programme on Tuesday. Apart from the three Group 1 races that are normally run on Irish Guineas weekend, all other top-level races will be run in their usual slots in Ireland this season. Not a single Group race has been lost from the programme. In what was the most noteworthy change to the Pattern, the Tattersalls Gold Cup (Gr 1, 1m 2.5f), traditionally a curtain-raiser for the best middle-distance horses in Europe, moves to July and will be open to three-year-olds. Kavanagh said: "2020 will be anything but a normal year, but in the circumstances, we have tried to preserve the opportunities which the Irish race programme offers to the better horse."

Starship Jubilee named Canada's 2019 Horse of the Year

Blue Heaven Farm's Starship Jubilee (Indy Wind) was awarded Canadian Horse of the Year and Champion Female Turf Horse at the Jockey Club of Canada's 45th annual Sovereign Awards ceremony earlier this week. Due to the pandemic, the ceremony was held via virtual presentation on Tuesday night, with the top three finalists in each category decided by online ballot. Starship Jubilee recorded three victories in 2019, topped by a win in the E P Taylor Stakes (Gr 1, 10f) at Woodbine for trainer Kevin Attard, where she defeated visitors from Germany, France, the UK, the US and Ireland. Starship Jubilee was claimed by Attard in 2017 for US$16,000 (AUD$24,300) from Gulfstream Park. Her career earnings are now up to almost $1.5 million (AUD$2.28 million).

Contributer heads Mapperley Stud roster

Contributer

MAPPERLEY STUD

Mapperley Stud announced yesterday an across-the-board reduction in service fees with one eye to the future, as they attempt to assist breeders ahead of the upcoming season.

"We feel reducing our service fees in this climate is the right thing to do," Mapperley Stud principal Simms Davison told NZ Racing Desk. "We firmly believe it is a time for the breeding industry to be resilient and work together to carry our industry forward."

"Although we are working through a challenging time at present, it is important to remember the decisions we make this year will determine the product we have available to sell and race in 2023, where we expect the industry to be in a considerably stronger position."

Former Godolphin galloper Contributor (High Chaparral) spearheads Mapperley Stud's stallion roster again in 2020, where he will stand for a fee of NZ$10,000 (plus GST). His fee last year was NZ$12,500 (plus GST)

The dual Group 1 winner, who also boasts a Royal Ascot victory to his name, made his mark on the track, but he has also begun solidly as a stallion as well.

His first crop of juveniles have impressed on the track, with the John O'Shea-trained Lion's Roar leading the charge with his debut win at Wagga last month. The James Cummings-prepared Jeronimos is also showing plenty promise and shapes as a Classic horse in spring.

"I really think he is a sleeper of a stallion, I am thrilled to train Contributor's first winner," O'Shea said after Lion's Roar won impressively on debut. "We think Lion's Roar has got some lovely potential in the spring, he will be targeted at the Spring Champion Stakes."

Contributer's former stablemate Complacent (Authorized) returns after being supported strongly in his early years at stud and stands at NZ$4,000 (plus GST) this season, down from NZ$5,000 (plus GST). Davison said he has found a niche in the market at his price level.

"If you look through the list of stallions standing in New Zealand, I don't think you will find a better-performed stallion standing in his price range," he said. "He won the Spring Champion Stakes in dynamic fashion and went on to win a total of four Group races in Australia, defeating the likes of Hartnell, Criterion, Kermadec, and Preferment."

Complacent's progeny proved popular in the sales ring with strong demand from Australian buyers and his offspring selling up to NZ$170,000.

"There has been plenty of positive feedback on the stock of Complacent from trainers and breakers," Davison said. "We are lucky enough to be in a position where we have two exciting young sires geared up for a successful and rewarding spring."

Mapperley Stud's roster will also include New Zealand's champion three-year-old in 2013/14, Puccini (Encosta De Lago), who will stand for a fee of NZ$3,000 (plus GST). He is also reduced from NZ$5,000 (plus GST).

"We have been encouraged by the level of support New Zealand breeders have given Puccini early on," co-owner Joe Smithies said. "He has maintained his book size across his first three years at stud, which is a testament to the faith people have in him and this family."

"He was a tremendously talented galloper and his female line has a proven record of producing tough stakes quality horses."

New JobKeeper 'alternative' turnover tests

The JobKeeper regime has moved at breakneck speed.

Businesses can now enrol in JobKeeper via myGov, their Australian Tax Office (ATO) business portal or via their Tax Agent.

As of Tuesday, to get JobKeeper from March 30, 2020, a business must have ensured that all eligible employees were paid $1,500 per fortnight from this time, and furthermore, these employers must formally apply for JobKeeper with the ATO by the required May 30, 2020. So, if you are a compliant employer, you still have just under two weeks to apply for JobKeeper to be paid the full entitlement from March 30.

In the past week or so, updated turnover tests have been developed to ensure that an alternative decline in turnover test for an entity is provided where there is not an appropriate relevant comparison period in 2019 for the purpose of an entity satisfying the decline in turnover test under the original rules.

Other JobKeeper changes

Before I note these new alternative turnover tests, also note some recent changes to the JobKeeper also of relevance:

- 16 or 17 year-olds can be eligible (nominated as employees or "business participants"), however they need to be
 - financially "independent" AND not in full time study; and
 - included in the nomination notice.
- Once an employer has notified the ATO of election to participate in JobKeeper, there is a requirement to give "relevant"/"eligible" employees notice
 - Within seven days and
 - State that the employee must provide an employee nomination notice and provide steps for the employee to do so (i.e. the whole of the eligible workforce must be captured)

There are six new business trading conditions where alternative tests can apply. Those relating most to breeders/owners and primary producers, and thus the subject of this article, are:

1. An entity that is new to business; and
2. Businesses have been impacted by drought or a natural disaster.

Refer to our website www.carrazzo.com.au for further detailed discussion on alternative tests relating to:

- Businesses that have been acquired, disposed of, or restructured within the last year
- Businesses that have experienced substantial growth within the last year

- Businesses that have irregular turnovers
- The business owner of a sole trader or partnership business has been sick, injured or taken other leave

Background

All businesses (including sole traders) can now register their interest to receive the JobKeeper payments for their employees (or themselves if sole traders) if they meet the various turnover tests, the most applicable test to the industry is that their turnover has been reduced by more than 30 per cent relative to a comparable period a year ago (of at least a month).

This basic test to ascertain if there has been a 30 per cent decline in turnover is based on the entity's turnover in a relevant comparison period in 2019. However, it is recognised that such a test would not be appropriate where there is an event or circumstance, be it internal or external to an entity, that is outside the usual business setting for entities of that class which results in the relevant comparison period in 2019 not being appropriate for the purpose of an entity in the class of entities satisfying the decline in turnover test the relevant comparison period. For example, the entity did not exist during the relevant comparison period.

The Government has recognized this and released alternative tests that businesses can apply to prove that they have been impacted by Covid-19 and thus are eligible for the JobKeeper assistance. The alternative tests can be applied where the basic 30 reduction in turnover test does not adequately demonstrate the impact of Covid-19.

It is our recommendation that the tests be applied on a case by case basis, depending on your own unique set of circumstances, in consultation with your Tax Advisor. Only one test has to be passed for a business to be eligible for JobKeeper.

Insurance proceeds not part of “projected GST turnover”

Below, you will find constant reference to “projected GST turnover”.

With this concept, it is important to note that proceeds from livestock insurance are not included in working out current or projected GST turnover, thus are to be ignored for the purpose of a projected GST turnover under these alternative tests. Hopefully this overlooked exception enables many of you to meet the required 30 per cent reduction.

As noted above, the most relevant alternative tests for breeders and primary producers are:

1. Entity is new to business

The updated turnover laws apply to give alternative tests to entities that commenced business after the relevant comparison period in 2019 but not on or after March 1, 2020. Such new businesses cannot compare with a relevant comparison period in 2019 as they do not have one. Note it is that the entity commenced the business after the relevant comparison period.

- a) The first alternative test compares the entity’s projected GST turnover for the relevant 2020 period with the average turnover since the entity commenced business. The calculation will depend on the relevant comparison period the entity uses and how long they have been in business.
- b) The second alternative test compares the entity’s projected GST turnover for the relevant 2020 period with the average turnover of the three months immediately before the applicable turnover test period. This test will use the most recent three months, which give a more accurate reflection of the entity’s GST turnover where the business has grown throughout the course of the year and the turnover in the earlier months is not reflective of the current business.

Example 1 – New to Business & second alternative test

The Enterprise Company (TEC) assesses its eligibility for JobKeeper payments on April 3, 2020 based on a projected GST turnover for April, 2020 of $4 million. The relevant comparison period is not available because TEC was incorporated and commenced business on October 3, 2019. The following monthly current GST turnovers have been recorded by TEC:

| Month | GST Turnover recorded by TEC |
|---------------|------------------------------|
| October 2019 | $2 million |
| November 2019 | $4 million |
| December 2019 | $10 million |
| January 2020 | $2 million |
| February 2020 | $2 million |
| March 2020 | $4 million |
| April 2020 | $4 million |

The average monthly current GST turnover figure for these months is $4 million. The projected GST turnover for the month of April 2020 does not fall short of the average monthly current GST turnover. The first alternative decline in turnover test is not satisfied.

Example 2 – New to Business & first alternative test

The Creative Enterprise Company (CEC) assesses its eligibility for JobKeeper payments on April 6, 2020 based on a projected GST turnover for April, 2020 of $1 million. The relevant comparison period is not available because CEC was incorporated and commenced business on 6 November 2019. The second alternative test compares the entity’s projected GST turnover for the relevant 2020 period with the average turnover of the three months immediately before the applicable turnover test period. The following monthly current GST turnovers have been recorded by CEC during the three-month period:

Month GST Turnover recorded by CEC

January 2020 $3 million

February 2020 $3 million

March 2020 $3 million

2. Businesses have been impacted by drought or a natural disaster

The updated turnover laws apply to give an alternative test to entities that were affected by a drought or another natural disaster in the relevant comparison period in 2019. Where an entity was affected by such droughts or other natural disasters, those circumstances are outside the ordinary business setting. Therefore, the relevant comparison period in 2019 is not appropriate.

This alternative test will apply to compare the entity's projected GST turnover for the applicable turnover test period with the current GST turnover for the same period in the year immediately preceding the year when the drought or natural disaster was declared rather than 2019. The earlier period will be a more appropriate period to use than the relevant comparison period in 2019 due to the drought or natural disaster being an event or circumstance being outside the usual business setting.

Fituese flying for Lynward Park

WWW.TBWA.NET.AU

WA-bred filly Fituese will be set for a Group 1 Sydney spring campaign instead of running headlong into the Stradbroke Hcp at Eagle Farm.

Fituese had firmed from $26 into $15 for next month's Group 1 sprint at the Brisbane winter carnival, however, connections quashed talk of a trip north following her authoritative victory in the LR Denise's Joy Stakes (1100m) at Rosehill last Saturday.

"She's a filly going places," trainer John Thompson said. "But we will give her one more run here and then send her out for a spell."

Prime Thoroughbreds founder Joe O'Neill is on the same page as Thompson and the 3yo filly will sign off in the LR Bob Charley Stakes (1100m) at Randwick on June 6. "She's in the Stradbroke but we can wait and to go to a Group 1 next season," O'Neill added. "There's plenty of time and we will look after her because she's very good."

Fituese (Deep Field) was a $55,000 buy for Prime Thoroughbreds at the 2018 Perth Magic Millions and Saturday's victory improved her record to 5 wins in 7 starts for $238,565 in prizemoney.

WA breeder Troy van Heemst wouldn't be fussed whether Fituese won a Group 1 in Brisbane or Sydney. He bought into the family when purchasing her dam Cattalo (Tiger Hill) for $30,000 carrying a positive to Deep Field at the 2016 Inglis Easter Broodmare Sale.

Fituese

TBWA

Lynward Park sire Mahuta (Flying Spur) will benefit if Fituese keeps raising the bar. Cattalo has a yearling filly and a weanling filly from his first two books in WA.

"I on-sold Cattalo to Rod & Tania Cosgrove and her second Mahuta filly was a November foal so they gave her a break last year," van Heemst said. "They are wonderful clients and hopefully the mare will have an early cover here this season."

The Cosgroves are the heart and soul of the Mingenew Turf Club in the WA Wheatbelt and they have raced the likes of Sweet Ora (Oratorio) who won 7 races in Perth earning over $455,000.

Lynward Park's Mahuta yearlings include the colt from I'm Feeling Lucky (G3 La Trice Classic) and Gervase Park also has a colt out of Anacarde (LR Hill-Smith Stakes).

"Mahuta was talented, tough and durable and his race record speaks for itself," van Heemst said. "He made his own luck and made meteoric improvement as a three year-old in Melbourne."

He was partnered by Brad Rawiller as they built a picket fence winning the LR Gothic Stakes (1400m), G3 Carbine Club Stakes (1600m), G2 Sandown Guineas (1600m), RL Magic Millions Guineas (1400m) and G2 Autumn Stakes (1400m).

Rawiller reckoned he could have even become a Cox Plate horse but a pelvic injury curtailed his career to 6 wins in 16 starts for over $1.75 million in prizemoney.

Lynward Park was established in 1985 by Troy's father Ted and quickly developed into one of WA's major breeding operations standing Northerly's sire Serheed (USA) and fellow Group 1 stallions Cheraw (Ire), Dauberval (USA) and Bletchley Park (Ire).

Snitzel's Group 1 performed 2yo colt Bondi joined the roster last year and he is an exciting addition to the local stallion ranks

Bondi was trained by Peter & Paul Snowden and was pitched straight into action with placings in the G3 Breeders' Plate, Wyong Magic Millions Classic and G3 Black Opal Stakes before breaking through in the Westpac Plate (1300m) at Newcastle.

"He probably should have won the Black Opal but had no luck in running after being caught wide," Peter Snowden recalled. "He was a very good colt and has a magnificent pedigree."

Bondi rounded off his juvenile campaign when runner-up in the G1 Champagne Stakes (1600m) at Randwick. The Snitzel colt ranged up to Encryption at the furlong and was being hailed the winner until Damien Oliver saved ground for a late victory on Seabrook.

But for a half-length margin, Bondi would have been standing in the Hunter Valley and van Heemst is banking on that being a point of difference in WA.

Analysis: After indicating potential without winning in three runs earlier in the season, the John O'Shea-trained colt Tommy Gold broke through with a very good win, resuming here. He went back from his wide barrier (10) and settled near the tail of the field (racing deep) before improving (wide out) from the 600m. He dashed to the front nearing the 200m and then went on to score easily. He looks to be a promising colt with a good future. [KB].

Analysis: The Matt Cumani-trained colt Fortune Ahead staged a promising effort in winning here when having his second race start. He began well and soon improved along the rails from his inside barrier (1) to settle in second place. He moved up to the leader coming to the turn, went to the front at the 200m and then drew away to score decisively, handling the heavy 8 track well. [KB]
